Saxbe warns of evils in 'businessmen's Watergate'

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe today warned the nation's businessmen that free enterprise may be wrecked if they do not face up to "personal Watergates" and stop cutting corners with the law.

Saxbe said the public "will not be tolerant" of ripoffs, rigged bids, hidden assets, bribes, price fixing or deals with organized crime.

While Watergate scandals have eroded public trust in government, Saxbe said, private business also has a "seamy side that could lead to a devastating loss of public confidence."

The 11 major corporations that pleaded guilty during the past year to making illegal campaign contributions show that an individual in private industry as well as public business has "his own personal Watergate," Saxbe said. He said more and more seem to fail to measure up.

"If enough parts of the ledger sheet are added up we can begin to see indications that the drive to cut corners is so fierce that our entire free enterprise system could be wrecked," Saxbe said.

Saxbe, who warned about effects of lax morality in government Thursday in a commencement address at the Ohio State University Law School at Columbus, turned to business ethics in a speech prepared for the Toledo Area Governmental Research Association.

A Justice Department spokesman said Saxbe plans to discuss the need for higher standards of moral responsibility in four of five speeches he is making in a four-day tour of his home state.

In his warning to the "business community," Saxbe said "we cannot expect to have an honest, moral society if we shave our own ethics and cut corners with the law."

Saxbe said one of the problems "is the feeling among too many in the business community that any means are acceptable to achieving profits and that the crime is not in the doing but in the getting caught."

He said, "there are more ways to be caught than simply having the FBI or the SEC (Securities and Exchange Commission) pay a call. Businessmen can get caught by the public as well."

People will not continue to buy products of firms they mistrust, Saxbe said, there are limits to the "reservoir of trust" in business.

"And if they have no choice but to buy, there still may be a resentment that will simply bide its time for a chance to be felt."

Kissinger in press ambush on wiretaps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met with newsmen Thursday to report on his Mideast peace making triumph, but instead faced a barrage of questions from reporters trying to find out whether he authorized White House wiretaps on his employes.

After answering one question on European affairs and one concerning Soviet influence in the Mideast the Secretary was hit by the first of a series of questions on the illegal surveillance conducted by the White House "plumbers".

A reporter told him that House Judiciary Committee members Thursday heard evidence that Kissinger, H.R. Haldeman and White House chief of staff Alexander Haig had specifically requested that former Attorney General John Mitchell conduct the 17 so-called national security wiretaps.

Kissinger said he had not heard the report, then added defensively, "I have attempted to serve the government in an honorable way for the past five and one half years."

After more questions, Kissinger was asked whether he recommended the wiretaps. "I did not make a direct recommendation," he said. "But as (former Attorney General) Elliot Richardson pointed out, that in the context of the general program that existed, the supplying of names led to the wiretapping of some individuals who had had access to the documents in question."

When asked what kind of recommendations he had made, Kissinger snapped: "I think this is a press conference and not a cross examination."

Kissinger, who denied making any recommendations for the bugging in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said his testimony was supported by Richardson, Haig and FBI files found in Ehrlichman's safe.

"I do not propose to engage in any further discussion of this episode," he said.

But another questioner asked Kissinger if he could reconcile the contradictory statements, say whether any prosecutor or agency of the U.S. government had contacted him in reference to a perjury investigation, or if he had retained counsel against a possible perjury indictment.

"I have not retained counsel and I am not conducting my office as if it were a conspiracy ... I will answer no further questions on this subject," Kissinger said.

A reporter said that former White House aide Charles Colson last month swore in a court deposition that Kissinger had known as long ago as July 14, 1971 that his aide, David Young, had been assigned to the "plumbers" unit, which was created by President Nixon to investigate Daniel Ellsberg.

The questioner said Colson testified that on the following day over Kissinger's objections Nixon assigned Young to the unit and told Kissinger and former Presidential aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehlrichman about it during a helicopter ride.

Kissinger had previously testified that he had never known of the existence of the "plumbers" by that or any other name, and had no idea that Young was engaged in a security operation.

Sobs after hearing court decision

Kleindienst spared jail term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst was spared going to jail today for a guilty plea to a misdemeanor count in connection with Watergate. He rushed sobbing from the courtroom.

A judge suspended both a 30-day jail sentence and a $100 fine he imposed on Kleindienst.

Federal Judge George L. Hart showed a sympathetic attitude toward Kleindienst for failing to give full answers to certain questions at his 1972 Senate confirmation hearing for attorney general, saying the 50-year-old lawyer's action showed "a heart too loyal and considerate of others."

Kleindienst's testimony concerned handling of a government antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The judge gave Kleindienst a one-month jail sentence, then suspended it.

He could have received as much as a year in jail and a fine of $1,000. Since the offense was a misdemeanor rather than a felony, Kleindienst probably will escape disbarment. Some lawyers who were connected with the administration and Nixon re-election campaign became automatically vulnerable to disbarment because of felony conviction in the case.

Kleindienst met with reporters outside after his emotional rush from the courtroom after hearing the sentence and said:

"The tragedy of the last two years amply demonstrates that all of our institutions of freedom have worked and have worked successfully and admirably. There isn't another country in the world where persons situated in the highest seats of power would have had the application of justice as occurred here."

Kleindienst had testified at his Senate Judiciary Committee confirmation hearings that no administration leaders had put any pressure on him in 1971, when he was deputy attorney general, to halt government antitrust action against ITT.

President Nixon and Kleindienst subsequently disclosed they discussed the matter by telephone and that Nixon demanded that a court ruling in the case, adverse to the government's efforts to force ITT to divest some of its holdings, not be appealed.

Kleindienst was the second Cabinet officer this century to be convicted or plead guilty to a crime in connection with his official duties. The other instance came as an outgrowth of the Teapot Dome scandal in the 1920s.

KILLER TORNADO LEAVES WIDE DEVASTATION

A car looks like a discarded toy in wake of killer tornado that struck Forrest City, Ark., Thursday before dark. Police said that at least four persons and possibly six were dead and hundreds injured.

4 dead, 100 hurt as tornado hits shop center

FORREST CITY, Ark. (UPI) — Torrential rains and flash flooding hampered search efforts today for more victims of a tornado that smashed into a shopping center and skipped through a residential section Thursday afternoon.

At least four and possibly six persons were dead. More than 100 were injured.

The St. Francis County sheriff's office initially reported eight bodies were found in the rubble of a Gibson discount store in the shopping center. But deputy sheriff Joe McCollum said this morning there were six dead. "It just got confused," McCollum said. "They must have counted some twice."

State police said they could only confirm four dead "although there well may be six."

But there was no mistaking the devastation wrought on Forrest City, a Mississippi River delta town of 12,763 about 35 miles west of Memphis. Early estimates placed the damages at $10 million.

All of the bodies were found in Gibson's which along with an adjoining Kroger's grocery store took the full force of the tornado.

"It's worse than anything I've ever seen," said State police Lt. Ken McFarran of the damage at the shopping center. "The debris is shoulder deep."

McFarran said the going was very slow in the shopping center area where searchers were still looking for bodies. Rains and flash flooding also hampered their efforts.

McFarran said there had been "extensive" looting earlier but now the city was sealed off and he expected no further problems.

The death toll was expected to climb.

One of the 30 Red Cross personnel on the scene believed an additional 10 to 15 bodies would be found by the time all the wreckage had been cleared.

Fire Chief John Rice said it appeared most of the victims were young. The first two identified were teen-age girls, but the third victim identified was an 80-year-old man.

Sears burglary suspect held in school burglary

POMONA — A Pomona man arrested recently as a burglary suspect inside the Sears store here and subsequently released on $2,500 bail was booked late Thursday night in connection with a school burglary here.

Police said they found David Bernard Wright, 21, hiding in bushes outside the burglarized Alcott Elementary School at 1600 S. Towne Ave. Officers said the place had been entered through a door 20 feet from the bush in which they said they found Wright.

Wright, 2432 Manville St., was arrested shortly after 2 a.m. May 22 inside Sears at 1600 E. Holt Ave., police reported. They said they found him hiding beneath a bench in the corridor of the employes' entrance.

Beside the exit, police found watches, rings and about $2,200 in cash which had been placed there for quick removal. Wright's car was found parked outside, police said.

Investigators said that Wright apparently had hidden inside the store at closing time. They were sent there in response to a burglar alarm.

Thursday night, investigating another burglar alarm, police went to the school and began a search of its interior. During the search one officer, keeping watch outside, heard noises in the bushes and found Wright there.

Police said Wright denied being inside the school and quoted him as saying he saw two men run from the building as police approached. He said that when he saw the officers approaching, he hid in the bushes, they said.

Wright, charged with burglary and grand theft in the Sears burglary, faces arraignment in Pomona Superior Court June 19. He was bound over at a recent preliminary hearing before Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson, who set bail.

Wildcat walkout hits Wayne sweeper plant

POMONA — A wildcat walkout of between 25 and 75 employes struck the FMC Wayne sweeper plant here today.

Gil M. Wayne, divisional president at the local plant, said the company is seeking an injunction to enjoin the strikers from detaining employes who want to report for work.

He said management and union officials of the International Association of Machinists are attempting to end the walkout which he termed illegal.

A Wayne spokesman said he did not know the reason for the walkout. But the dissident workers alleged three points as the source of their dissatisfaction: unfair labor practices, a rejection of a cost of living increase and a loss in profit sharing.

There were no details.

The company issued a statement this morning, which said local union and international officials have been instructing the workers since Thursday night to return to work. But their efforts were of no avail.

"An illegal work stoppage has occured at the FMC sweeper plant," the statement reported. "Approximately 25 people on the second shift, out of a total work force of 700, last night failed to return from their lunch break at 8:30 p.m. Local union and international officers since last evening have been instructing all employes to return. The company, in the meantime, is obtaining an injunction to assist all employes who want to work."

An on-the-spot check by the Progress-Bulletin this morning counted approximately 75 persons standing around outside the plant's gates.

They referred all questions to Julian Arrelano, who reportedly is a leader in the walkout. Arellano was not available for comment this morning.

Some workers claimed that though there may be only 100 workers at the gates, only about 50 employes showed up for work this morning. He said the rest were staying home.

Wounded in fatal shooting of Pomonan

Charges against two area women dropped

No formal criminal charges have been filed against two area women who were wounded by police in Monrovia during a shooting in which Pomonan Wayne Martin Glidden, 23, was killed.

The women, Vicky Lorraine Jones, 24, 1441 Sheridan Ave., Pomona, Glidden's sister, and Victoria Ruth Alexander, 25, 810 W. Gladstone Ave., San Dimas, were arrested after the May 31 shooting.

Authorities said the district attorney's office refused to issue complaints against the women when police made application for them. Both have been released, they said.

Police maintained that Glidden was killed and the women wounded when Glidden pulled a revolver on Fullerton undercover officers during a narcotics investigation which had taken them into Monrovia. A coroner's office spokesman said he is studying the possibility of an inquest into Glidden's death. The gun Glidden was accused of drawing turned out to be a starter's pistol, officers said later.

Abrams' left lung removed in surgery

A spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center said "all visible evidence of the malignancy was removed" and Abrams, 59, was resting in a recovery suite where he will remain for several days.

"Gen. Abrams tolerated the surgery well," the spokesman said, adding that surgeons discovered some of the malignancy had spread to local lymph nodes and that they were also removed.

Riverside second

Upland rates as smoggiest city

Upland has been cited as the smoggiest city in the state last year.

Based on the sampling of 13 test areas, the state's Air Resources Board reported Upland registered 599 hours when the oxidant level was at or above .20 parts per million particles of air, the minimum point at wich a smog alert is called.

Riverside was the second smoggiest city, registering 267 hours of heavy smog.

San Bernardino followed with 245 hours and was also considered the state's worst city for lead contamination between July and September, with 1.69 micrograms of lead per cubic meter of air.

Los Angeles averaged 1.498 micrograms and Azusa had 1.407 micrograms during the same period.

Gerald Brown, senior instrument technician at the San Bernardino Air Pollution Control District, said he agrees technically with the Air Resources Board report but he feels it is "inopportune" at this time.

"It will create a lot of confusion and we will be answering telephones here about this for about a week."

Brown said Upland may have had the most first stage alerts but it is not the smoggiest or worst place in the state. He cited a situation in San Diego County at Oceanside which, he said, has recorded the highest smog reading ever.

Brown said he could foresee no change in the smog situation in Upland this year but he is hopeful that more and more people will be alerted to what they can do personally to help reduce the ozone levels in the air.

He said this can be accomplished by reduced use of the automobile.

During first stage episodes residents are requested to remain indoors and that unnecessary driving be curtailed.

A first stage episode is also a health advisory to children and the elderly and those with respiratory problems. This advisory caused quite a local furor several weeks ago when Redlands High School and Eisenhower High School in Rialto canceled a league baseball game because of the heavy smog.

"Our phones rang off the hook trying to explain the situation to people for about a week," Brown said.

"We don't like the heavy smog either, and are doing everything we can to try to work ourselves out of a job."

He said geographically, Upland is situated on higher ground up against the foothills and pollution concentrates there with not sufficient air mass movement to clear the air.

The Air Resources Board has a reading station about a mile and a half from the San Bernardino APCD station. He said as close as the two stations are, the figures vary as much as four and five degrees on some days.

He said the state's system is operated not to check on the county's figures but to satisfy the state's own requirements. The state also uses large vans which are equipped to monitor air pollution.

House approves funds for Cucamonga Creek project

The House of Representatives Thursday approved a public works appropriation bill which includes $1.2 million for the Cucamonga Creek flood control project in the West End.

Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., who pushed the bill through various committees to the House, expressed optimism that the appropriations bill will pass the Senate intact.

"We are nearing the end of the fiscal year," he explained, "and we can be sure the Senate will act promptly to avoid delays in the funding of public works."

The vote on the bill was 374-21.

"The flooding in the Cucamonga area in recent years has been serious," said Veysey. "It overflows its banks every few years. Developmeint in the area has soared, and astronomical losses would occur from a repetition of the 1969 flood."

Preliminary planning for the flood control project has been completed by the Corps of Engineers and San Bernardino County. The project initially was authorized by Congress in 1968, but no funds were provided to begin construction.

"The timing of this appropriation is critical to the planned expansion of Ontario International Airport," Veysey said. "Beginning the construction early next year will permit the coordination of runway construction with the construction of the flood control channel. Any disruption of airport services should be minimal."

Plans call for the construction to begin in the Prado Dam area and move upstream.

The project will be completed in approximately seven years at an estimated cost of $70 million, Veysey said.

The tentative date for construction to begin is Jan. 1, 1975.

Woman dies in retirement home swimming pool

POMONA — An elderly woman drowned in a retirement home swimming pool Thursday morning, police reported.

The victim, Miss Louise Wood, 77, Mt. San Antonio Gardens at 900 E. Harrison Ave., was found floating facedown in the pool there. Margaret P. Hickey, who also lives there, told officers she and the victim had been swimming and she left to dress. When the returned to the pool area, Mrs. Hickey said, she saw the victim floating in the water.

Firemen attempted resuscitation but the victim was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The body was taken to Pollock Mortuary.

VAC acquires official status, eyes job funds

MONTCLAIR — In its first meeting as a new governmental entity, the Valley Association of Cities instructed its executive officer to "express interest" in an application for federal job funding.

Councilwoman Claire McDonald of Claremont suggested that Joe Korpsak, executive officer for VAC, draft a letter to the necessary agency expressing interest in an application for Comprehensive Employment Training Act, Title I funds. The letter would serve as a preliminary to detailing the use of federal funds for VAC and the submission of an application.

Korpsak reported on funds available for purposes other than the problems of abandoned houses, such as bikeway trails. However, the directors agreed with chairman Charles Bader's position that VAC should attempt to meet its primary objective of reducing vacant homes from 1,200 to 200 within 18 months before branching out into other regional problems.

In other action, Patrick Sampson, city attorney for Pomona and legal adviser to VAC, reported that the nine charter cities of VAC had all approved the joint powers agreement establishing the organization as a "new legal entity."

The most important aspect of VAC's new status, he continued, is that it can now accept money and use it as an autonomous group; and it is now subject to the provisions of the Brown Act governing meetings and conduct.

He recommended that the cities of Claremont, Pomona, Montclair, Ontario, Chino, San Dimas, Upland, La Verne and Walnut reappoint their representatives to VAC as a precautionary measure against future inquiries of the delegates' authority as agents for local municipalities. At his suggestion, Bader also instructed staff to formulate a meeting schedule for six months on a rotating basis among the cities.

West Covina has been invited to become a VAC member. Mayor Jim Lloyd attended the Thursday meeting.

At its next meeting on June 20 at 3 p.m. in the Pomona boards and commissions room at city hall, the VAC directors will decide upon acting appointiments and salary for the positions of executive officer, senior housing assistant, teno-secretary and clerical assistant.

Montclair chamber names pastor Citizen of the Year

MONTCLAIR — The Rev. Donald L. Bray, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church since 1959, was named Citizen of the Year at the annual installation banquet of the Montclair Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Ken Wright was installed chamber president.

Mr. Bray, who retires as an executive board member of the chamber this year, was recognized for his outstanding contributions to the community. He and his family came to Montclair in 1959 from Rosemead where he served the First Baptist Church.

Since coming here, he has led the congregation in building three Christian education buildings, an administration facility and a sanctuary.

He is currently chairman of the Montclair Ministerial Association and chairman of the support of spiritual aims committee of the Montclair Kiwanis.

Lou Catalano, owner of Lou's Liquor and manager of a dance band that plays valley affairs, received the chamber President's Award. Catalano is an active member of the Montclair High School Booster Club and a volunteer on special projects for the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens. He formerly served as a member of the board of directors of OPARC.

Mike Loehr, community development director for the city, was presented the city-chamber special award while Harry Gardner, developer of the Central Plaza, received the Mayor's Award.

Wright, manager of the Monte Vista Water District, was installed as the new 1974-75 chamber president. Wright, who has held the water district position for approximately five years, served as first vice president of the chamber during 74.

Executive officers for the upcoming year also include Loren Stone, first vice president; Charles Gehrken, second vice president; Barbara De Voss, treasurer; and Ralph Bentley, John Conley, Carl Freeman, Harry Gardner, Dick Harney, Harvey Klivanss, Jess Koopman, Jim Laird, Andy Muscarello, Roy Tomkins, Virginia Van Andel, Paul Willems and Ben Wilson, directors.

Retiring board members recognized for service to the chamber were Mr. Bray, Joe Pugh, Bill Grant and Leonard Ryan.

Jack George served as master of ceremonies.

'9 valley retail clerk unions okay pay offer

POMONA — Local retail clerks have joined those in Orange County, Long Beach and Bakersfield in voting overwhelmingly to accept a tentative pay increase package with major supermarket chains in Southern California.

Nine Retail Clerks Union locals, representing 54,000 members, had threatened to walk out if their demand for a 50-cent hourly increase was not granted.

Retail Clerks local 1428 members voted 1,805 to 258 Thursday to accept the package offered by the Food Employers Council, Local President Maurice Cofer reported.

Some locals were scheduled to vote today.

Man crushed to death when car jack slips

LA PUENTE — A 35-year-old man was crushed to death Thursday afternoon when his car fell off a jack while he was working beneath it.

The victim, Raul Apodaca, 357 Conlon Ave., was working under the car's front end when the bumper jack supporting it fell with the car. The vehicle crushed Apodaca's head and chest.

County firemen gave the victim emergency first aid but he was pronounced dead on arrival at Queen of the Valley Hospital, West Covina.

Pacific State patient hurt in bicycle accident

POMONA — A Pacific State Hospital patient was injured Thursday afternoon when he rode a bicycle head-on into a car in Valley Boulevard near Temple Avenue.

The patient, Michael J. Fogelquist, 17, who lives in a ward at PSH, suffered shoulder and leg injuries and was treated at PSH.

The motorist, Ethel Bellas, 33, Los Angeles, said she saw the bike rider approaching as she was eastbound. She said that when it appeared he was going to cross into her lane, she stopped completely and honked the car horn, but the young man ran into the front of her car.

Police reported that Fogelquist had permission from hospital authorities to ride the bike outside hospital grounds.

Missing probation officer found dead

LA CANADA (UPI) — A state probation officer, reported missing two days before, was found Thursday in the wreckage of his car at the base of a 150-foot cliff.

James Carson, 28, Valencia, who was found at the bottom of a cliff near Red Box ranger station, died from injuries suffered in the accident.

Long Beach clerk slain by gunman

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A 72year-old woman was shot to death, apparently when she frightened a man who tried to rob the small market where she worked, police said Thursday.

Mrs. Dorothy Janicek died at Pacific Hospital of an abdominal wound about an hour after she was shot Wednesday. Police theorized Mrs. Janicek frightened the would-be robber into firing his weapon when she screamed. The gunman fled without taking any money.

Retarded Fontana girl strays, drowns

FONTANA (UPI) — A mentally retarded girl, who wandered from a convalescent hospital, was found drowned Thursday in a swimming pool at a nearby apartment complex.

The 11-year-old girl was pronounced dead at Kaiser Hospital after medical attendants failed to revive her. Police said she was last seen at lunch at the convalescent hospital and that a search began about 20 minutes after she disappeared.

S.M. man denies killing stepchild

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Anthony Rhodes was free on $2,500 bail after he pleaded innocent Thursday to charges of manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon in the fatal shooting of his 11-year-old stepdaughter.

Rhodes was ordered to stand trial Aug. 6 for the death of Alona Williams. He told authorities the weapon accidentally discharged when he tried to take it from her. However, police said another stepdaughter, Donna Williams, 10, told police the weapon fired while Rhodes was playing with it.

10 Mexicans freed in smuggling case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal court judge Thursday ordered the release of 10 Mexicans who had been held since May 18 as material witnesses in an alien smuggling case.

Earlier this week, the 10 were the subject of the first videotaping of depositions in local federal court history. The videotaping was ordered to help speed up the return of the men to their own country.

The depositions will be entered as evidence against three persons if their case goes to trial.

Four convicted in L.A. alien ring

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four men were convicted Thursday of conspiracy and smuggling illegal aliens into the country because 26 Mexicans were found locked in a garage of a south-central residence last March.

Convicted were Antonio Sandoval Zamora, Antonio Roberto Rodriguez, Augustine VillaGomez and Alfredo Alvarez Garcia.

A fifth defendant, Jose Aguiree Gonzales, was acquitted.

Jaime Alvis Lozano, who was arrested when the Mexicans were discovered, pleaded guilty in April and testified for the government.

Custody resolved

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Former Miss America Donna Axum has agreed to let her estranged husband keep their son at least temporarily to resolve a tangled child custody fight in a divorce action, according to friends of the couple.

As a result, attorneys for the couple announced Thursday they will ask to dismiss or postpone a court hearing to determine custody of the 3-year-old boy.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Mutscher, Miss America of 1964, filed for divorce Monday from former Texas House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher, 41.

Mutscher and two associates were convicted on bribery conspiracy on March 14, 1972.

Mrs. Mutscher said her marriage had become "insupportable because of discord or conflict of personalities,"

Jobless rate edges up; teens hard hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The unemployment rate among Americans edged upward to 5.2 per cent in May, the Labor Department said today. This was a rise of 0.2 per cent from April.

More people held jobs—86 million last month compared to 85.8 million in April—but this rise was more than offset by an increase of 370,000 in the total labor force which reached 90.7 million.

Many of the new workers seeking jobs were teenagers and unemployment in this category rose from 13.8 per cent in April to 15.8 per cent in May. Black teenagers were partiularly hard hit, with 33.5 per cent unemployed.

The Labor Department reported some recovery in the average work week for production workers, a gain of 0.2 hours in May, rising to 36.8 hours. Average hourly earnings of production workers rose 1.5 per cent in May, about 7 cents, to $4.14.

Weekly earnings averaged $151.52 in May, an increase of $3.78 from April and up $9.07 from May, 1973. The increase reflected the impact of large cost-of-living wage increases made effective in some industries, including steel, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

May wages also were given an additional boost because the federal minimum wage law expanded coverage and because there was some additional factory overtime.

The unemployment rate has remained fairly steady so far this year, hovering at or near the 5 per cent mark since January. There had been some forecasts last fall that it would rise to possibly as high as 8 per cent this spring.

Today's report said the number of persons unsuccessfully seeking work last month totaled 4.7 million in May, up 170,000 from the previous month.

The increase in the total labor force was the first since January.

There was a decline in the jobless rate for married men and also for blue collar workers, a group that had been hit sharply by the energy shortages following the Arab oil embargo in October.

However, there were increases in unemployment among clerical, sales, and service workers.

At hands of Syrians

Israeli POW torture told

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Two Israeli pilots captured by the Syrians in the October war said today they were beaten and tortured during their confinement.

Three Bedouin tribesmen captured on the first day of the war and returned to Israel Thursday said a Druze, Mohammed Abu Saled, died in a Syrian prison of hunger, cold and torture.

The stories came to light within 24 hours after the last 56 Israeli prisoners of war returned from Damascus in exchange for 383 Syrians, Moroccans and Iraqis.

Capt. Ami Rokeah, a 28-year-old bachelor, told a news conference arranged by the army that ground fire shot down his Mirage jet on the sixth day of the war. He said he parachuted safely but pursuing Syrian troops shot him in the chest.

"It was more than beatings," he said, appearing pale before a battery of microphones. "They tortured me for information and, I believe, sometimes for pleasure."

He said he had been in a hospital for three months and two days and during that time had remained blindfolded. He said his guards beat him when he tried to remove the blindfold. He said he received medical attention, "but not always enough."

Continually pressed for details on the extent of the torture to back up his allegations, Rokeah declined to give any and said he did not want his parents to suffer grief by learning what he experienced.

But he said he definitely knew of cases in which other pilots' ears had suffered maltreatment so the men would never again fly in combat. He suffered lung damage when shot and said he will never be able to fly combat planes again.

Benyamin Kiriati said in a radio interview the Syrians performed surgery on his wounds but two days later transferred him from the hospital to a prison where he said he suffered high fever and infection most of the time.

"They beat me on the back with a stick and also on the fingers," Kiriati said. "A third method was to shine very powerful lights into my eyes. The Syrians also used these lights to burn my skin."

3 are victims of killing spree, but tot survives

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An 18-month-old girl survived a killing spree Thusday that claimed the lives of two teen-agers and a man.

The teen-agers were identified as Regina Lynch, 19, and Eric Dixon, 18. Police found them stabbed and beaten to death in separate bedrooms in a south-central area home.

Larry Calhoun, 30, whose legs were bound with wire, was found wounded in a vacant lot across the street from the house where the teen-agers were found. He died at Centinela Valley Community Hospital.

A witness said she saw Calhoun, hobbled by the wire, trying to flee when a man wearing a gray suit ran up and shot him. She said the suspect began chasing her, but she eluded him and called police.

The infant girl, who was unharmed, was found on the bed beside the dead girl.

FBI tracks down kidnap suspect, $60,000 ransom

GLADWYNE, Pa. (UPI) — FBI agents tracked down a kidnap suspect Thursday and recovered $60,000 in ransom paid for the release of Annette Friedland, wife of a millionaire supermarket executive.

Mrs. Friedland, 44, mother of four children, was abducted from her $200,000 Main Line home shortly before 1 p.m. Thursday by three armed men who had tied up a gardener.

She was released in south Philadelphia about three hours later after her husband, Jack, delivered the ransom. Friedland is president of Food Fair Supermarkets, Inc., the country's seventh largest food store chain.

Frank Wyatt, 18, Philadelphia, was arrested about 10 blocks from the "drop" site and FBI agents said they found the ransom in a canvas bag tucked in the sleeve of a coat he was carrying. The agents said Wyatt was "the only one who appeared at the location where the ransom money was left."

Authorities said they still were searching for two other black suspects. They said the kidnaping was for economic gain and was not related to any religious or political cause.

Mrs. Friedland, a prominent socialite, was abducted from a small garden off the kitchen of her multilevel brick and glass home after the three men tied up a gardener who later freed himself and contacted Mr. Friedland.

The Friedlands' youngest son, Roger, 5, also was at home at the time but was unharmed, police said. The couple has four children, including a married daughter who resides in Florida.

Police said Friedland received a telephone call from the kidnapers at about 2 p.m., instructing him to put the ransom in his car and to park the auto at the south Philadelphia location.

When Mrs. Friedland was released, police said, she ran to a home nearby and telephoned her husband, telling him she was safe and urging him to contact the FBI, unaware that they already were involved.

She was returned to her seven-acre, suburban Philadelphia estate Thursday night following intensive questioning by FBI agents. Police said she "adamantly" declined to talk to reporters.

Nixon wanted aid fund for Haldeman, Ehrlichman, but didn't follow through

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon expressed a willingness to assist his two former close aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, with their Watergate legal defense fees, but never followed through on the offer, a White House spokesman said today.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, told reporters that "there is not now nor was there ever any defense fund set up by the President, or any of his friends," to help Haldeman and Ehrlichman with their legal financial burden.

Warren said that Nixon discussed helping with the legal costs confronted by Haldeman and Ehrlichman's "as a possibilty but nothing came of it."

"It was legitimate, human and natural," Warren said of the offer by the President to his two top advisers.

Both are under indictment in connection with the Watergate coverup and Ehrlichman also is under separate indictment in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

In response to questions, Warren said, "about a year ago when Haldeman and Ehrlichman left the White House, the President did express his deep personal concern that their sole significant source of income was being closed off at a time when they were facing what could become enormous legal fees."

Warren made the comments in response to questions about a report by the Washington Post that Senate investigators had been given testimony that Nixon told Haldeman a secret fund would be available for Haldeman to defend himself after he left the White House.

The Post said Lawrence M. Higby, an ex-Haldeman assistant, gave the information to the Senate Watergate committee last month, saying that Nixon told Haldeman that as much as $400,000 for a defense fund was being kept by Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Warren said that when Haldeman and Ehrlichman left the staff April 30, 1973, "in a natural and human way (Nixon) expressed a desire to assist them in whatever way possible."

Warren earlier had refused to confirm or deny the Poseport, saying it was a continuation of a pattern of "contrived and selected leaks" that he said "is becoming outrageous."

The Post said it was unable to determine if such a fund ever existed or now exists.

Unnamed sources were quoted by the Post as saying Nixon made the offer to Haldeman about the time Haldeman was leaving as Nixon's chief of staff, April 30, 1973.

Higby allegedly said money from the fund also would be available to John D. Ehrlichman, who resigned on the same date. Haldeman and Ehrlichman were Nixon's top two advisers and both are now under indictment in the Wateragate coverup case.

Man held in girls' kidnaping leads police to two bodies

BRIDGETON, N.J. (UPI) — The decomposed bodies of two Bridgeton teen-aged girls were discovered Thursday in a shallow stream after a Seabrook, N.J., man arrested for carrying two women in the trunk of his car led police through a mile of dense woods.

State Police identified the teen-agers as Shirly Murphy, 16, and Barbara Woods, 15. Miss Murphy had been reported missing since last March 11. Miss Woods disappeared April 30.

Police said the Seabrook man, Charles Haley, 20, was charged with two counts of murder and held without bail in Atlantic County Jail.

They said the two bodies were lying half submerged in the stream in a densely wooded area of Pittsgrove Township.

The bodies were fully clothed, and police said it had not been determined if the two girls had been molested sexually. It was not immediately known how long the bodies had been in the water.

An autopsy was scheduled at Salem Hospital today.

State Police Sgt. Arthur F. Nesbitt said Haley probably would undergo psychiatric testing.

The suspect was arrested Thursday when police stopped his 1961 Chevrolet on the White Horse Pike in Egg Harbor for allegedly "running cars off the road."

Police heard muffled screams coming out of the trunk of the car and found two young women bound with shoelaces and wrapped in sheets.

They were identified as Candice Newton, 23, of Greenwich, N.J., and Elizabeth Stotler, 25, of Bridgeton.

Police said the two women had been both abducted in Bridgeton. One was making a telephone call and the other apparently was whisked while standing on a street corner, police said.

Nesbitt said police had not determined what Haley, employed by the Owens Glass Factory in Bridgeton, intended to do with the two women. They were released from Somers Point Memorial Hospital after observation.

Grand jury indicts Patricia Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst, who in four months of captivity underwent a change from frightened kidnap victim to gun-toting companion of her terrorist abductors, now is wanted on a federal indictment for armed bank robbery.

A federal grand jury, taking the 20-year-old newspaper heiress at her word, charged her Thursday with the bank robbery she said she willingly committed with members of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter issued warrants for her arrest on charges of armed bank robbery and use of a firearm to commit a felony, and set bail at $500,000.

Packer held in killing of 3 teen-agers

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI) — A 23-year-old produce packer was charged Thursday with the bludgeon slayings of three teen-agers at a swimming hole near Big Sur.

Stephen Hammack was charged with killing two boys and a girl killed by heavy blows on their heads. The bodies of Wyatt Hanson, 17, and Patrick Hill, 18, were found in a creek in the Los Padres National Forest.

The body of Terri Kathleen McCort, 17, was pushed from a bridge into the Salinas River, 30 miles away, police said.

The three victims remained at the swimming spot Sunday afternoon after other young persons left. The bodies were found the next morning.

Hammack was charged with the murders in Salinas Municipal Court, but Judge William Moreno did not set bail.

Hammack initially was charged with drug violations when a small amount of marijuana was found in his possession during questioning, investigators said.

Initial poll gives Brown 47-39 per cent lead over Flournoy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll reported today that Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. leads Republican Houston Flournoy 47 per cent to 39 per cent in their first matchup following their smashing primary victories Tuesday.

Pollster Mervin D. Field found that among Democrats, Brown holds a 67-17 lead, while Flournoy is the choice of Republicans by a 74-16 margin to be governor of the nation's most populous state.

Caucasian whites split almost evenly between the two candidates and Field said that it is among blacks and Mexican-Americans that Brown holds an overwhelming edge, drawing better than 80 per cent support from these groups.

Field noted that the election marks just the second time in 44 years that an incumbent California governor is not a candidate for re-election.

Thus the traditional major issue in a gubernatorial contest, approval or disapproval of an incumbent's record, is absent in this 1974 race. He suggested that the campaign thus would be unusually important in forming the voters' final choice.

Councilman says he doesn't own Industry land

INDUSTRY — Councilman Darius Johnson has denied that he is landlord of the Industry Disposal Co. which holds the city's exclusive franchise for trash collection.

Johnson's denial was in response to statements issued by Phil Anderson, president of the Rowland school board, following hearings last month on the city's redevelopment project.

Anderson called for a grand jury investigation into the procedure by which one firm holds the exclusive trash franchise. He said he would seek to invalidate council votes that allowed the franchise three years ago.

Anderson further charged that Johnson has a conflict of interest in that he owns the property where offices of the trash firm are located. The councilman has voted on motions to allow the franchise, Anderson claimed.

Johnson said, however, that "I don't own and have never owned any property in the City of Industry."

Records obtained through the county assessor's office show the Industry Disposal Co. property at 420 Del Valle, where the firm's offices are located, is owned by Manuel and Vincente Perez, who also operated the business.

The Progress-Bulletin regrets publishing Anderson's statements without verifying ownership of the trash firm's property with the assessor's office. The record shows Johnson has no interest in that property.

'Home is the sailor, home from the sea'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — With a little help from his friends, including the future king of England, Seaman Walter Talbot, late of the Royal Navy, was headed home for England today, looking for a pint of real British beer and his old shipmate, Bill.

It was a long voyage.

Talbot boarded a plane for London Thursday, 54 years to the day after he deserted from the Royal Navy. Now 73, with his record cleared, he took his spanking new honorable discharge and went off to see what more than a half century had done to his homeland.

He expected to be greeted at the airport by his sister, Melvina, 56, whom he has not seen since she was a year old.

"I want to see the house in Lowestoft where I was born," said Talbot. "I've been studying British history and looking for this chance to visit home — before it's too late for me —for the past 10 years."

Talbot jumped ship in Montreal on June 6, 1920, "because I faced another 11 years in the service," he said. "I wouldn't have done it in wartime."

He sold his uniform, fled to New York and has lived ever since as an American under the name of Edward Clayton.

He served two hitches in the U.S. Navy, including service in World War II, getting honorable discharges. His first wife, whom he met in 1927, died in 1945 without ever learning his real identity.

He said he told his second wife during "a family spat" and "she thought I'd killed someone in England to make me desert."

In March, the HMS Jupiter, carrying Prince Charles as communications officer, docked in San Diego. Talbot, who said he had been thinking for years about clearing his record, astonished the deck crew one day.

He marched aboard, saluted the ensign in proper naval fashion, identified himself as a deserter and surrendered.

The ship's captain assured him the Royal Navy wasn't interested in carrying him home in irons, and told him to go back to his San Diego home and wait. There were reports the Prince helped speed up the paperwork that resulted in the British consulate in Los Angeles relaying to him an honorable discharge and a British passport last month.

Talbot said he was looking forward to his first visit to "a real English pub to sink a pint of real English beer," and plans to look for Bugler William E. Marsh, of Malton, Essex, a shipmate who deserted with him but later returned to British jurisdiction.

"I want to find out what happened to Bill," he said.

He plans to return to the United States, he said. The 73-year-old ex-sailor has a 28-year-old wife here and two children, 5 and 3.

Nixon 'borders on obstruction'--judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge suggested today President Nixon's refusal to surrender subpoenaed trial evidence in the Ellsberg case "borders on obstruction" of justice.

Judge Gerhard A. Gesell held a hearing on a possible contempt citation against the President and said afterward he would rule promptly on the matter.

Gesell told White House lawyers he does not think the President "understands the consequences of what he is doing."

'Loaf of bread, wine machine and thou'

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a wine so new and so cheap that the wine dealer wouldn't even tell me its name and year for fear it would offend the makers.

But he offered me a taste —it was a white burgundy. It was bitter and harsh, and it caused my mouth to pucker. It bore no resemblance to the smooth silkiness of a vintage wine.

Then the dealer, William Sokolin, displayed a magical gadget that would trigger the jealousy of medieval European alchemists. He said it would instantaneously turn garden varieties of burgundy or bordeaux into vintage wines.

The wizards of the Middle Ages worked tirelessly to square the circle, discover perpetual motion, change copper into gold or water into wine. This new invention is the brainchild of a German scientist.

George Weber calls his philosopher's stone a Weberizer, and a test version is on display at the D. Sokolin Liquor Store on Madison Avenue.

It was there, in a small back room, that Sokolin demonstrated the machine. He claimed it would age a white wine one or two years in a few seconds. A fine cognac could be aged five years in the same time, he said.

First, he poured about two ounces of the wine into a flat, plastic slide. He inserted the slide into the machine and turned on a switch. A white fluorescent bulb glowed a bright blue-violet. The slide was exposed for four seconds on each side.

Then he removed the slide, poured the wine into a wine glass and offered me a sip.

Eureka!

It was smooth, the rasping quality was mostly gone. My mouth did not pucker. It wasn't exactly the golden smoothness of a great Chateau d'Yquem, but it was an improvement.

Sokolin said the Weberizer is still in a highly experimental stage. And red wines haven't showed the same promise after exposure to its magic as have the white or fortified wines.

Winemakers, a laggard breed in an era of scientific blitzes, cling lovingly to old methods and old traditions. Different times and different needs, however, may in due course revolutionize the industry.

Perhaps the day will even come when no home will be complete without a Weberizer, and a 21st Century Omar Khayyam will be heard to murmur: "A loaf of bread, a wine machine and thou!"

Skeletons of two children, woman found

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The skeletons of a woman and two young children were found in separate graves near here Thursday.

Sheriff's deputies said a woman telephoned them from the Devore area 12 miles north of here, saying her dog had dug up a human skull in her backyard.

Two police helicopters and nearly 150 deputies combing the area foand the bones of an infant wrapped in a parka buried in a shallow grave about 200 yards from the the area found the bones of woman was found in an open field.

Bones found in the caller's backyard were identified as those of a small child about 3 years old.

Authorities had not determined the cause of death nor how long the bodies had been buried.

Three stars combine at Vegas show

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald and Count Basie teamed their talents for the first time Thursday night at Caesar's Palace.

Appearing before a packed house on the first day of their two-week stand, the trio mostly sang jazz songs made famous by Miss Fitzgerald.

Backed by Count Basie, Miss Fitzgerald opened the show with "There'll Never Be Another You," "Mr. Paganini" and "Shiny Stockings."

Sinatra followed with such favorite sas "My Way," 'My Kind of Town" and 'Pennies From Heaven," the song he first recorded with Count Basie several years ago.

Miss Fitzgerald and Sinatra closed the two-hour show with "That's Why the Lady Is a Tramp."

Sonny Bono, Doris Day and Leo Durocher were among the celebrities who attended the show.

Slowdown threatened by firemen

ARCADIA (UPI) — Fire chiefs from six communities met Thursday to discuss a threatened work slowdown by more than 300 city firemen in the San Gabriel Valley.

Arcadia fire chief Gene Mahoney hosted the meeting of chiefs from Covina, Monrovia, Montebello, Monterey Park and West Covina.

The San Gabriel Valley Firemen's Association, which is seeking salaries equal to those received by County firemen, has said a work slowdown could take place next week.

City firemen in the six communities make between $200 and $300 per month less than their county counterparts, a spokesman said.

County fire chief Richard Houts said his units will cover the area in the event of a strike.

Grenada asks seat at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Grenada, a 133-square mile Caribbean island with a population of 94,500 persons, has applied for U.N. membership, the United Nations announced Thursday.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim released a letter from Prime Minister Eric Gairey asking that the security council take up the application at its next meeting.

Grenada, which gained independence from Britain Feb. 7, is larger in area than the smallest U.N. member, the Republic of Maldives, which has 115 square miles.

Probation chief asked to take another post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The chief of the county's Probation Department was asked by the Board of Supervisors Thursday to take another post, a Los Angeles paper reported today.

Kenneth E. Kirkpatrick, chief probation officer, was asked to take another position during an 80-minute "full and frank discussion" with the five supervisors behind closed doors.

However, a decision has not been made on whether to transfer Kirkpatrick to another department or to allow him to remain in his present department while it is revamped.

The decision to transfer Kirkpatrick was apparently in response to the paper's story on the lack of safety and unsanitary problems at Juvenile Hall.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said he "will not comment" on whether Kirkpatrick was asked to resign, said the closed session was requested by Kirkpatrick so he could talk about the story.

Kirkpatrick, 58, has been in county service for 34 years and presently receives a $37,000 annual salary.

Budget vagaries cited for Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is asking Congress for either $85.8 or $91 billion this year, depending on how you look at it, but the military budget bill currently before the Senate totals only $21.8 billion.

How can that be?

The answer lies in the vagaries of both the administration's and Congress' budgeting processes.

In order for the Pentagon to spend money, two kinds of laws need to be enacted. One is an "authorizing" law that tells the Pentagon what it is permitted to do and how much it is permitted to spend.

The other is an "appropriations" law that actually puts the money into the Pentagon's checking account.

The bill now before the Senate is an authorizing act, and the reason it is so "small" in relation to what the Pentagon will actually spend is that only authorizations for new projects are required.

Most of these are hardware —planes, ships, tanks, missiles and ammunition.

Most of what the Pentagon actually pays out is spent on salaries for the 2.1 million Americans under arms, the 1 million civilians who support them, and the operation and maintenance of bases and installations in the U.S. and abroad.

The importance of the current bill to the whole budgeting process, however, is that it sets the level of military and civilian manpower and the projected pace of military operations in peacetime.

After the authorizing bill is passed, the appropriations process takes over —and then Congress is charged with making available not only money to cover the hardware listed in this bill but the salaries and sundry expenses of maintaining the military establishment.

Two further complications arise from the fact that much of the money appropriated in a given year is not spent until much later, and some of the money spent for defense is not given to the Pentagon at all. It goes to other agencies, like the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), which provides goods and services to the military — nuclear warheads, propulsion reactors and the like.

Thus each year the administration presents two budget figures, one for "outlays" (the money from this and past years that will actually be spent) and one for "total obligational authority" or 'TOA' (what the administration wants Congress to put in its checking account for this and future years).

Wage antidiscrimination battle

Nomination of Mrs. Fong gives California women great victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — By winning the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, March K. Fong of Oakland scored the greatest political victory for women in California's primary election Tuesday.

If Mrs. Fong can defeat Republican Brian Van Camp in November, she will become the first female secretary of state.

Mrs. Fong was trailed by four men and another woman, Cathy O'Neill, a Los Angeles educator. Mrs. O'Neill and Assemblyman Walter Karabian were Mrs. Fong's closest competitors.

All three were leading contenders, and the two women were expected to split the like-minded votes, leaving Karabian with the nomination. The division that developed, however, was more along traditional north-south lines, with Mrs. Fong receiving the northern votes while Karabian and Mrs. O'Neill split the votes in Southern California.

Mrs. Fong, who has served in the Assembly since 1966, won recognition for her campaign against pay toilets, which she claims discriminate against women.

The former teacher, university lecturer and county school board member promised to work for "major political reforms" as secretary of state.

Two other women to win nominations were Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola and U.S. Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite Burke D-Los Angeles. Mrs. Burke was the first member of congress to give birth while in office.

And in the primary bid for judgeships, two women won over six men for Superior Court Office 20.

Municipal Court Judges Joan Dempsey Klein and Bonnie Lee Martin will face each other in the November general election. Judge Klein received 33 per cent of the vote and Judge Martin received 19 per cent.

In major statewide offices, however, women did not fare so well in the primary. Environmentalist Elizabeth Smith Weingand of Santa Barbara lost her bid for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Mrs. Weingand is the wife of a former state senator.

Republican Marian W. LaFollette, a Los Angeles community college trustee, lost in the primary for controller. She came in third.

And Eileen Anderson, the red-haired Irishwoman who wears nothing but green and sings her platform, failed to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Mrs. Anderson, a Beverly Hills resident, is a perennial candidate for office.

Nothing foreign about students

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

My various tax-dodges having called me to England not long ago, I made a rather astounding discovery, to wit, that there are now hundreds of thousands of foreign students in England.

What astonished me was that I thought ALL students in England were foreign.

In the past 10 years this sceptered isle has been flooded with students coming from all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world to study in the hallowed halls of learning. Hallow?

From Asia, Africa, India and the Brox, from Vuelta Abajo and Sierra Leone and St. Kitts, from the Queen Maud Mountains to the Queen Charlotte Islands the questers after knowledge stream to Great Britain, the old and young, rich and poor, male female and decline to state.

One evening I wandered into my favorite pub, the Goat and Golashes, for a bit of tangy Yorkshire cheese, a pint of stout, and possibly a game of darts with some hearty drayman or coster-monger from the North Country. I thought I'd stumbled into a meeting of the United Nations.

At the end of the bar a swarthy tobacco grower from Chapultepec, in moustache and sombrero, was trying to explain to the pub tender how to make a tequila martini, the discussion attended by a fur-clad young lady from Reykjavik and an elderly soothsayer newly landed from Uban Bator Khoto.

Around one of the tables sat three ebony-faced Cameroons in bedsheets and bare feet listening to a graduate student from Brooklyn explain why four-of-a-kind beats a straight, and why they, consequently, owed him 20 pounds sterling, 11 goats and two wives.

Watching the card game and keeping a wary eye on the Africans who were fingering their spears restively, were a giant logger from Saskatchewan, a turbaned prelate from Mawar, and several wealthy gold miners' sons from New South Wales.

I hear more Urdu, Swahili and Vishnu spoken that night than the Queen's English. A Texas boy ("Dad gave me one of the wells for graduation") had more trouble communicating with the red-cheeked Shropshire barmaid than with a lithesome Berber woman in veil and sandals.

Before my extradition went through, I learned that foreign students actually outnumber native Englanders in many of the law and medical schools. Blimey, sahib!

There are in England today more than 50,000 foreign undergraduate students, 16,000 from Africa. On a clear night you can hear the tom-toms booming from Picadilly to Leicester Square.

From various corners of the Commonwealth come annually 50,000 girls to train as nurses, to learn to give up the tribal mask for the oxygen mask, the kris for the scalpel, the burnt chicken feathers for the anesthetic.

Touring England today is the equivalent of a trip around the world. With a little bit o' luck you might even run into a few Englishmen.

Buddhists cut off fingers in protest

LONG KIEN, Vietnam (UPI) — Twenty Hoa Hao Buddhists cut off the little finger of their left hand Thursday in protest against the government's refusal to meet their demands.

More than 10,000 of the Buddhist sect rallied in this small delta town 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

Six months earlier they had requested the government grant "seven aspirations," including the right to form a self-defense force and have Hoa Hao military chaplains.

The government recently refused to grant all seven "aspirations."

About 2,000 Hoa Hao offered to cut off their fingers in protest, but the Hoa Hao leader stopped the mutilation after the first 20 fingers had been severed.

The Buddhists who chopped off their fingers approached a table in two groups of 10, picked up a hatchet with their right hands and and cut off their fingers together on a signal from their leader.

The severed fingers will be sent to President Ngueyen Van Thieu with a request that he meet Hoa Hao leaders to iron out difficulties.

78 weddings at Air Force Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Weddings were on an assembly line regularity following graduation ceremonies Wednesday at the Air Force Academy.

An academy spokesman said 78 weddings were held wth 34 of the brides coming from the Colorado Springs area.

Acupuncture bills approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three bills legalizing acupuncture by placing it under the regulation of the state Board of Medical Examiners cleared the Senate Health and Welfare Committee Wednesday.

One of the measures (SB2118) by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, would require establishment of standards for the issuance of an acupuncture certificate. It was sent to the Finance Committee.

Two others (SB2117-AB1691) by Moscone and Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, would enact the Duffy-Song Acupuncture Act and permit acupuncture by an unlicensed person on the basis of written referral from a licensed physician. Both measures went to the floor.

It's waltz time for presidential hopefuls

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
UPI Senior Editor

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — There is a kind of ritual dance for American politicians who aspire to the Presidency. It begins as as an elegantly paced statesman's waltz and gradually builds up to the rock 'n' roll beat of the candidate's twist.

It appeared at this week's National Governors Conference that the campaign cadence still is being set by muffled drums and sweet violins. But the music obviously has started.

Both Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California avoided giving any overt sign that they are presidential candidates at the governors' annual outing and talkfest. But both also made sure that they were noticed —in prime time — by the politicians and media whose attention they need if they run.

Kennedy's problem is somewhat more delicate than Reagan's. He was drawing crowds any politician would envy during the period when he would say nothing about his plans for 1976, and now that he has admitted an interest in the office held by his late brother, he must take care to prevent his political holding action from escalating into a full scale campaign as he goes about the country on "keep-in-touch" visits.

Kennedy came to town for one day, combining an appearance for the re-election campaign of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. (and carefully avoiding mention of a potential nomination rival, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.) with his governors conference assignment.

At the conference he explained and defended his health insurance legislation as part of a panel with spokesmen from the administration and organized medicine. But Kennedy carefully avoided letting the occasion become a debate that might be billed as a test of his wit or lung power. And he especially avoided crossing swords with Reagan, declining with a flip of the hand to reply to the conservative governor's suggestion that no one really wanted national health insurance.

Reagan's program obviously included a willingness to confront Kennedy, but he also came to Seattle with some clear goals in addition to seeking political targets of opportunity.

He held two formal news conferences within 12 hours — complete with prepared statements warning of the pitfalls of government medicine and federal land use planning proposals. Reagan took active part in the sessions dealing with those subjects, but cleared out when the governors went on to other fish he did not wish to fry on this trip.

Reagan's apparent purpose, especially on the land use issue, was to begin staking out some strong positions that will identify him in the public mind during the period between his voluntary departure from public office next winter and the Republican National Convention in the summer of 1976.

The land use proposition is admirably suited to this purpose. It gives him the opportunity to speak up for the states rights ideal that attracts many Republicans and conservative Democrats and to attack the federal establishment without seeming to aim his barbs at any individuals, least of all a vice president whose entire public career has been in federal service.

Kennedy will remain in the limelight if only because he will be in the Senate for the next two years. Reagan's strategy to keep his image alive will be to go about the country during that period espousing Republican candidates and his own vision of GOP ideology. Land use planning may seem to be an odd issue on which to begin a presidential campaign, but Reagan apparently regards it as the right music for this stage of the waltz.

2 House panelists return milk trade contributions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two members of the House Judiciary Committee said that they have returned 1972 campaign contributions from the dairy industry in order to avoid possible conflict of interest with the panel's impeachment inquiry.

The two, Rep. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill., and Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., were among 16 of the 38 committee members who reportedly received contributions from dairy interests.

Railback said he returned $500 and Rangel said he gave back $100.

"In as much as I am a member of the committee and its been decided we are going to investigate the bribery investigations involving dairy interests I have decided to return the 1972 contribution," Railsback said.

"I didn't see any conflict," Rangel said. "I didn't know this organization was connected with the dairy industry."

Shaping Pomona's future

Community planning session set

POMONA — Residents will discuss the city's future image Tuesday in a community workshop designd to aid in updating Pomona's general plan.

The workshop, starting at 7 p.m., will be conducted in the old post office building at 400 S. Thomas St.

A series of these workshops is being conducted by Lawrence Halprin & Associates, an environmental design firm. All city residents are invited to participate.

The workshop format stresses positive solutions to common problems. At previous sessions, some 150 persons have met. These included minority members, senior citizens, students, merchants and housewives.

Officials said they seek to bring all segments of the community together to formulate a representative plan.

In previous workshops, participants have taken bus and walking tours in various parts of the city. They have viewed reading programs, student murals at Fremont Junior High School, community garden, Greek amphitheater and abandoned houses.

Participants also served as hosts in tours of their neighborhoods. They pointed out both the assets and the problems.

Residents will later participate in a series of plan development workshops on June 18, 19 and 20, with each session lasting from 7 to 10 p.m.

Those wanting more information or a free copy of any of the awareness tours may call the workshop "hotline" telephone, 620-2195.

Incomplete credit records cause consumer problems

In applying for a loan to buy a house, I have learned that a person's credit can be stated as either good or bad or none through a fantastic computer system.

I am fighting to get my credit record straightened out but I feel that all people, young and old, should be forewarned — unlike myself.

My husband and I have been married four years. We have a 2-year-old child.

I have worked at my job for 2½ years and have advanced to double my starting salary. My husband worked for one company for five years which, since he is young, is quite a good record.

In December he started working for a larger company with a substantial increase in salary and room for advancement.

We decided it was time to buy a house of our own and had saved up enough money for a good sized down payment. However, we needed an additional $1,000 for closing costs and a few minor repairs on the house we found.

We applied for a loan and were refused. The reason given us was that the lenders were told by the TRW Credit Bureau in Anaheim that we had established no credit whatsoever.

I called TRW to ask why. The customer representative I spoke with told me nothing really. She asked what companies we had credit with. I told her we had bought and paid off a car through a bank in Covina. She said that account should be on our record but it was not. We are presently paying on a car through a bank in Ontario. She said this bank was probably not a member of the TRW service so that information would not be on our record unless it was a delinquent account.

We have had and still have an account with a department store in Pomona for 3½ years. This, I was told, should also be on our record but is not.

We have a gasoline credit card which is used once a month just to keep the credit going. The woman at TRW said the only credit ratings that come from oil companies are the derogatory ones.

The thing that really bothers me is that you can pay on something for three years, making payments on time and having a perfect record, and then if you get behind for a couple of months, the only thing that will show on your credit rating is the two bad months.

Is this fair? — O. T., Pomona.

TRW told us that you contacted the credit data company and asked general credit questions.

The people at TRW could not disclose personal credit information without written approval. An approval form was mailed to you but you did not return it. Instead, a few days later, you wrote to us.

Linda Matheny, consumer relations supervisor, explained that TRW operates like a record library to which information can be added. She said the individual companies you deal with, rather than TRW, establish credit.

It appears that your problem was solvable by contacts with the companies you had accounts with. You obtained your loan.

Your letter isn't the first indication we have had that credit communications leave something to be desired. One of our readers obtained a charge card but didn't use it for some time. When she did use it to obtain a new transmission for her car, the dealer was told she didn't have a credit rating because she hadn't used the card before. She straightened the problem out with a phone call to her bank.

SILVER SENSE

In response to inquiries regarding investments in silver, we offer information provided by the state Department of Consumer Affairs.

There is no prohibition against the possession of silver in its various forms, including silver bars and coinage.

The department makes no recommendation for or against silver as an investment.

Prospective investors, however, are warned that there is an element of risk in any investment and there is no guarantee a profit will result.

Consumers are urged to follow these tips:

—Contact city and county licensing agencies to be sure the firm has met local business requirements.

—Check the firm's reputation and record for delivering merchandise as promised.

—Carefully review the terms of any agreement involved.

—Determine whether the silver is valued on a basis of becoming a collector's item or its actual silver value.

—Determine if the offer is for "pure silver" and by what measurement.

—Check to see if the investment can be promptly sold.

—Consider the expense of storing silver and insurance to cover loss.

If you are still confused, seek advice from a reputable bank or brokerage firm.

WORK AT HOME

Because jobs aren't easy to get, some of our readers have been tempted by "work at home" schemes.

The state Department of Consumer Affairs warns consumers to be extra careful in dealing with companies offering work-at-home employment.

Although some opportunities available to consumers who wish to earn money at home are legitimate, others victimize applicants through fraudulent practices.

Be especially wary when you see:

—Advertisements promising large profits for little work.

—Advertisements requiring you to pay money to obtain further information.

—That no salary is paid by the company.

—A failure to give the names of others who have been employed so you can learn of their experiences.

—Requirements to pay money to buy products which you, yourself, must resell for a profit.

Valley cities accepting job applications from teen-agers

Applications for jobs are being accepted from teen-agers from the cities of Pomona, La Verne, San Dimas and Claremont for the Coalition of Youth Employment (CYEP) Program during the summer.

The program is open to youths 14 to 18, who are required to have a Social Security number, undergo a tuberculosis skin test and meet certain financial guidelines.

The program is being sponsored by the East San Gabriel Valley Area Association of Coordinating Councils and is administered by the CYEP, a committee that includes representatives of the participating cities.

Funds for the program are secured through the Los Angeles County Department of Manpower under the Comprehensive Employment Act.

The summer job program tentatively has been scheduled to start July 1.

Applications may be obtained at the following locations:

— Pomona Unified School District offices, 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona, and at all junior and senior high schools.

— Bonita Unified School District offices, 115 W. Allen Ave., San Dimas, and at San Dimas and Bonita High Schools and Ramona Junior High.

— Claremont Human Resources Office, 207 Harvard Ave., Claremont.

— Neighborhood Adult Participation Project (NAPP), 389 E. Center St., Pomona.

— South Hills Neighborhood Service Center, 1170 W. Fremont St., Pomona.

— Offices of the League of United Latin-American Citizens (LULAC), and the Beta Center, 1095 W. Grand Ave., Pomona.

Tuberculosis skin tests are given Mondays at the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center.

Further information on the summer youth program may be obtained from Josephine L. Carroll at 623-6131, Extension 25, or Bernie Cohen at 623-5251.

Claremonter wins alumni scholarship

CLAREMONT — Maria V. Rocha, 333 Springfield St., has won a $350 1974 UC Berkeley Alumni Association scholarship.

She is a senior at Claremont High School. In addition, she was presented a plaque honoring her selection at an awards assembly at school.

She was selected on the basis of academic achievement, extracurricular activities and interest in attending UC Berkeley.

American Cancer Society

Bike rally scheduled

The American Cancer Society will hold a fund-raising Bike-a-thon Saturday in the Pomona-West End area, cosponsored by McDonald's Restaurants.

The rally will cover a 23.5-mile course, with four of the restaurants in Pomona, Upland, Chino and Ontario serving as starting and checkpoints. The rally begins at 9 a.m.

To be eligible to participate, riders must have at least five sponsors at no less than five cents per mile.

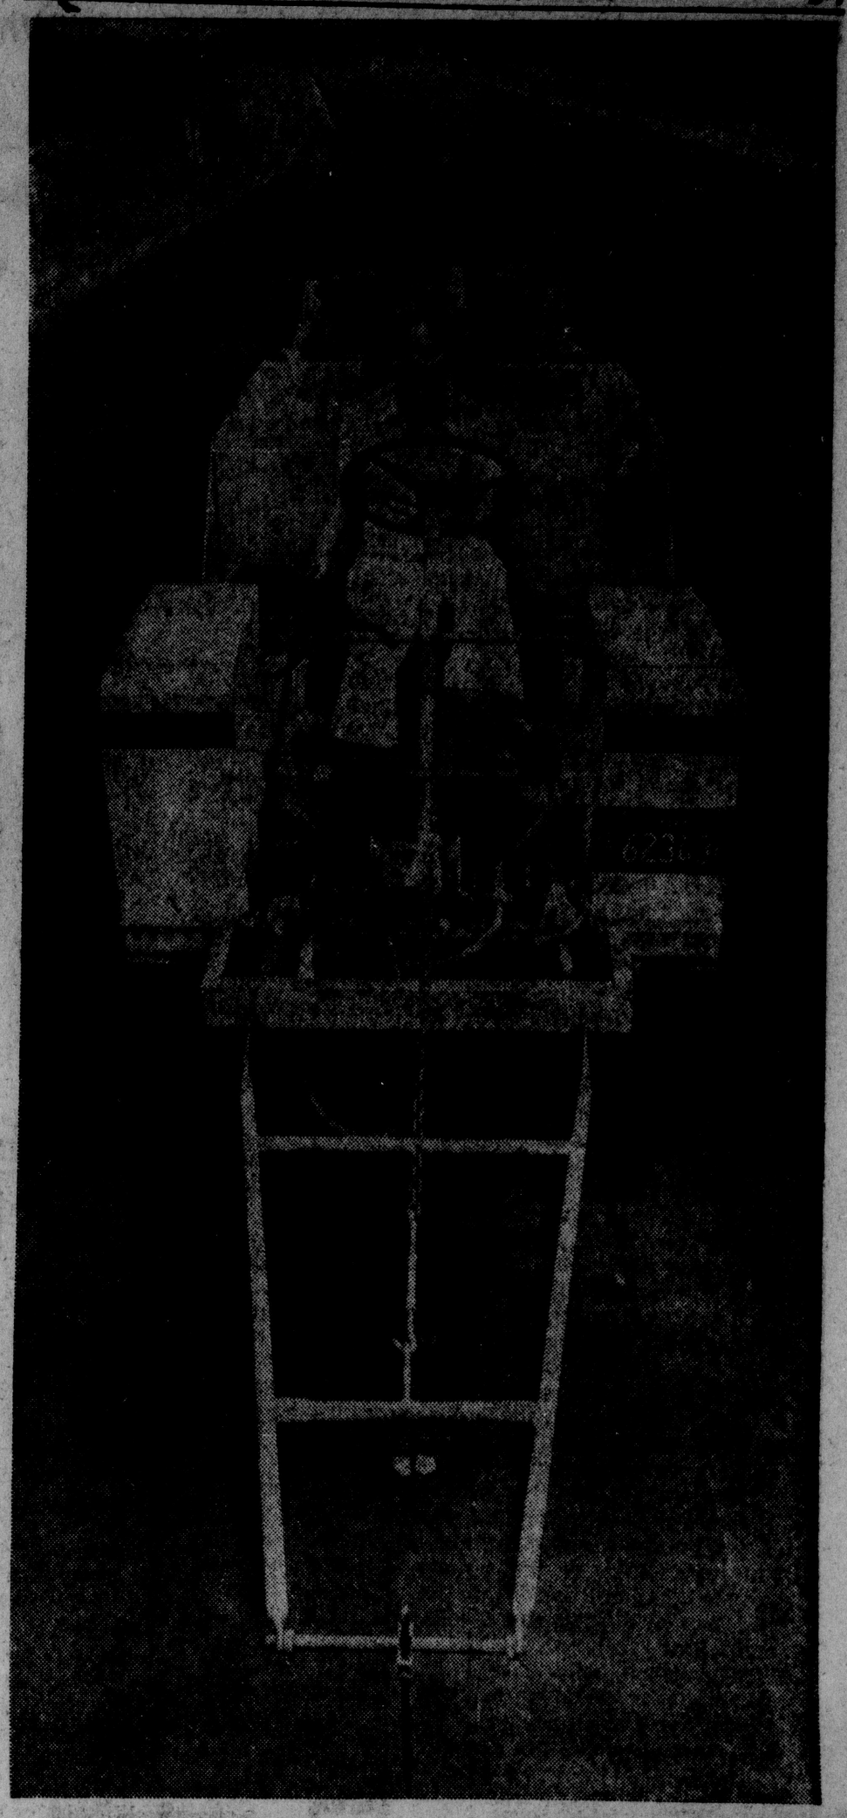
More than 40 prizes, including a new 10-speed bike, will be given to riders who raise the most money.

Participants may pick up pledge folders at any of the participating restaurants at 12625 Central Ave., Chino; 832 N. Mountain Ave., Ontario; 100 E. Foothill Blvd., Upland; or 2200 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Entry blanks may also be obtained from the American Cancer Society office in Ontario.

CHARITY BIKE RALLY

All ready for Saturday's bike rally to benefit the American Cancer Society in the West End-Pomona area are, from left, Noreen Wolfinbarger, 10, Marvin Corbin, rally chairman, and Nancy Wolfinbarger, 17, all of Chino. The fund raising event is being co-sponsored by McDonald's Restaurants.



OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Claremont Mayor Bertye Smith lines up a city street striper before the two-lane highway which links Foothill Boulevard with Padua Avenue was opened to the public Thursday. The project was completed 1½ months ahead of schedule by Riverside Construction Co. at a cost of $88,000.

VALLEY BRIEFS

Classes scheduled

POMONA — A motor development class for children with perceptual and conceptual difficulties will be held at the Pomona Valley YMCA starting today.

The class will run for 10 weeks and meet each Friday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The instructor will be Heather Moore.

Cost of the class will be $15 per child.

For further information, persons may call 623-6433.

Car wash scheduled

CHINO — Jericho Outreach Inc. will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Arco service station at Central and Walnut avenues.

Cost will be $1 per car wash proceeds to be used in the organization's drug prevention program.

Chaffey offers Southland tour of art museums

ALTA LOMA — A study tour of Southland art centers and museums will be offered by Chaffey College Saturdays through July 27.

The community education class in art appreciation is programmed for 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays, with bus transportation provided by the college. Departure and return point will be the Chaffey College Museum-Gallery.

James Pahl, coordinator of the gallery here, will be the instructor for the non-graded class.

The first trip Saturday will be to the UC Riverside Gallery to see an exhibit entitled "The Impressionist and the Salon, 1874-1886."

Among later stops will be the Los Angeles County Museum, the Municipal Museum at Muckenthaler Cultural Center in Fullerton, the Frederick D. Wight Art Gallery at UCLA and the J. Paul Getty Museum.

Prior to each stop, Pahl plans to brief the class on the cultural treasures contained in a given facility. The schedule will also allow for a brown-bag picnic break at a convenient park between visits.

No tuition is entailed. The transportation is free. Lunch is the responsibility of the participant.

L.V.C. class televised

LA VERNE — William Glasser attacks society's problems at their source by giving La Verne College students tips on raising responsible children Saturday at 2 p.m. on the television show "Brainworks" on Channel 4.

Glasser, psychiatrist, author and educator, is recognized for his books on positive approaches to education, including "Schools Without Failure" and "Identity Society."

Barry Martin hosts the weekly "Brainworks" television series produced for the Independent Colleges of Southern California by Dave Bell Associates, Inc., in association with KNBC.

Children's films set

SAN DIMAS — Children's films will be shown at the San Dimas Library beginning Saturday at 2 p.m. and continuing on Saturdays throughout the summer months.

Saturday's film will be "The Savage Gang."

Archeologist will protect artifacts

RIVERSIDE — (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors will hire an archeologist in an effort to prevent the destruction of artifacts by construction crews in the Perris Valley, it was announced.

The board said it had evidence that ancient pottery, hand tools and other artifacts were being destroyed during the construction work.

The archeologist will determine whether any artifacts are of historical value and will ensure their preservation.

Readin', writin' 'n constitutional law?

Time was when a kid who was given a spanking in school could count on receiving a second one when he got home.

Not anymore. Today his parents are likely to sue the school.

While some may point to the erosion of school authority and the abrogation of parental responsibility as two reasons for what they see as a growing disrespect for the law in this country, the fact is that the courts are taking an increasingly dim view these days of "summary punishment," corporal or otherwise.

In what has been called a landmark decision in this field, a federal judge in Hanover County, Va., has ruled that a student must be given his constitutional right of due process before he can be spanked in school.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige awarded $200 in damages to a fourth-grade student, holding that his constitutional rights had been violated because he was not told that he could appeal a "summary spanking sentence" or that he had the right to be represented by an attorney.

The decision was only a partial victory for the American Civil Liberties Union, which had represented the student and had argued that spanking was "cruel and unusual punishment" and hence prohibited by the eighth Amendment.

However, Judge Merhige's decision would seem to have implications that go beyond the question of whether or not spanking should be outlawed in the schools, as it probably should be.

How are teachers or principals to be expected to discipline students if even for minor infractions they must first go through the process of advising them of their constitutional rights, holding formal hearings and getting involved with attorneys?

The answer is that they probably won't bother.

Moreover, it is not just the absence or uncertainty of punishment but the lengthy time lapse that prevails today between the commission of an offense and the administering of punishment for the offense that may be another source of contempt for law or authority.

To punish a child, especially a small child, by spanking or some other means, days or weeks after he does something naughty in school may be worse than not punishing him at all.

Your crankcase contains gold

Every little bit helps in the fight against inflation, which is why more and more Americans are changing their own automobile engine oil. Some 35 to 40 per cent of all auto oil is now sold over the counter.

But every little bit hurts, too, in the fight against pollution and waste of natural resources. An estimated 400 to 450 million gallons of crankcase oil is simply being dumped every year.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, would require that all oil sold over the counter be packaged in resealable, returnable containers carrying a 10-cent deposit. Dealers would also have to maintain used-oil collection points.

The idea is not only to protect the environment but to invigorate the oil re-refining industry, which in the 1960s had about 150 companies reclaiming nearly 300 million gallons a year. Today, less than 40 companies are processing about 100 million gallons of used oil a year.

Not only does oil never wear out, thus constituting a recyclable resource, but according to engineers at Calspan Corp., the sludge left over after re-refining contains as much lead as low-grade ores now being mined commercially. (By a process not completely understood, lubricating oil extracts some of the lead from additives in gasoline.)

By using a method it has developed, the company says that six to nine million pounds of lead should be recovered annually from re-refined crankcase oil, with a market value of up to $1.7 million.

If all the oil that is currently being discarded were re-refined, an additional 27 million pounds of lead worth more than $4 million could be recovered.

Rich U.S. penny-less

A penny shortage has developed in some parts of the country. It began when the Treasury Department announced that because of rising prices and scarce supplies of copper it might have to start minting with a substitute metal.

Many people began hoarding pennies, evidently in the belief that they could eventually melt them down for their copper, though Treasury regulations forbid this.

Some stores have asked the Treasury for permission to issue script—paper money—in lieu of pennies, and one bank in Akron is offering $1.10 for every 100 pennies turned in.

A penny may not buy very much anymore in these inflationary times, but it's comforting to know that the little coin still has a vital function in the nation's monetary system.

"What's the matter, Henry? I said pull one out for me!"

JACK ANDERSON

Ted Kennedy was Watergate target

WASHINGTON — The real target of the Watergate break-in, it now appears from confidential White House documents, was Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass.

Sources close to President Nixon confirm that he regarded Kennedy as his most dangerous political foe. The President also expected former Democratic national chairman Larry O'Brien to maniupulate the party machinery in 1972 to bestow the presidential nomination upon Kennedy.

Up to the eve of the Democratic convention, say our sources, the President believed Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., would step aside at the last minute to make way for Kennedy, with O'Brien pulling the strings behind the scenes.

Nixon had scarcely settled into the White House in 1969 before he began seeking political ammunition to use against Kennedy and O'Brien. The orders were transmitted through staff chief H. R. Haldeman.

A host of colorful super-snoopers were recruited to investigate Kennedy and O'Brien. Among them were a Runyonesque ex-New York flatfoot, Anthony Ulasewicz; a fleshy-flush-faced ex-New York detective, Jack Caulfield; the bewigged former CIA agent and incurable romantic, E. Howard Hunt; and a young, pedantic security specialist who kept a red scrambler telephone in his White House desk drawer, Tom Charles Huston.

Less than six hours after Kennedy ran off the bridge at Chappaquiddick on July 18, 1969, Caulfield had a man at the scene searching for evidence that could be used to embarrass Kennedy.

Two years later, Hunt again tried to put together a Chappaquiddick scandal that would destroy Kennedy. But the two gumshoes came up with little that the press hadn't already uncovered.

The White House crowd apparently was obsessed with the idea that Kennedy had a weakness for wild parties and promiscuous women. But repeated investigations by Caulfield and Ulasewicz failed to produce any evidence.

As a typical example, Caulfield kept Kennedy under surveillance during a three-day visit to Honolulu on August 17-19, 1971. A secret surveillace report which referred to the senator as EMK, was rushed to the White House.

"EMK" made no public appearances during his stay in Honolulu," reported Caulfield. "Inquiry ascertained that he occupied the private estate of one J. Ontani, located at Diamond Head Road, Honolulu . . .

"Discreet inquiry determined that Kennedy used the estate solely for sleeping purposes, took only his breakfast meal at that location and quietly visited friends at other locations on the island.

"It is known that he played tennis on August 18 at the estate of one Lloyd Martin identified as a wealthy Honolulu contractor . . .

"An extensive survey of hotels, discreet cocktail lounges and other hideaways was conducted with a view toward determining a covert EMK visit. The results were negative . . .

"In conclusion, it is believed that EMK activity during his stay in Honolulu was adequately covered. No evidence was developed to indicate that his conduct was improper."

Yet the White House still wasn't satisfied until an investigation had been completed of Kennedy's host two months laer. In an October 20, 1971, memo, Caulfield wound up the investigation of Kennedy's three-day Honolulu visit with a report that his friend Ontani was "a multi-millionaire Democrat with extensive real estate and business holdings in Hawaii . . . Sources advise that Ontani significantly controls local politics in Honolulu to the extent that he is referred to as the 'Mayor Maker.'"

The most embarrassing evidence that the gumshoes obtained against Kennedy was a picture of him in the company, quite innocently, of a female friend in Rome. White House aid Charles Colson promptly peddled the photo to a scandal tabloid, with a huge newstand circulation.

The White House documents show that O'Brien received similar atention from the snooper squad. On August 5, 1970, for example, Haldeman ordered John Dean to investigate O'Brien's connection with an international consulting firm called Public Affairs Analysis.

The gumshoe work was assigned to young Huston who found the firm's activities "not only legal but prudent. O'Brien's relationship with PAA is so minor," added Huston, "that I would think it unworthy of further investigation.

The following January, Haldeman ordered an exhaustive investigation into O'Brien relationship with billionaire Howard Hughes. Caulfield reported back in a Jan. 25, 1971, memo that the investigation could bubblegum in Nixon's face.

The Hughes organization's "tentacles touch many extremely sensitive areas of government," cautioned Caulfield, "each of which is fraught with potential for Jack Anderson type exposures."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Making marriage national pastime

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In one section of the paper the other day there was an article about the new World Football League luring players from the old NFL by paying them huge bonuses.

In another section was an item about rising divorce rates.

Although unrelated, these items happened to coalesce in my mind. And suddenly for the first time I understood why marriage as an institution has been declining.

It's because modern society has done away with the bonus, or dowry, system.

Paying bridegrooms big bonuses for signing marriage contracts was burdensome for many parents, true.

And certainly there is no gain saying that the dowry demands were in many cases excessive to the point of being ridiculous. Nevertheless, dowries brought to the altar a much better class of bridgegrooms than is found in marriages today.

Without that incentive, most of the more eligible males are passing up marriage for careers as bachelors. No wonder so many marriages collapse.

Girls are forced to settle for inferior bridegrooms who don't really belong in their league. Thus, in a few years, the husbands are placed on waivers.

Furthermore, restoration of the dowry system would revive public interest in marriage, which has been lagging badly.

A recent survey showed that wedding attendance is off almost 35 per cent this year. Ceremonies are being performed before audiences so small they frequently are outnumbered by the bridesmaids.

Only a celebrity wedding will pack a church nowadays.

Well, interest in professional football was flagging too before the owners began paying those astronomical bonuses.

Nothing did more to whet the interest of the fans than Joe Namath signing a multi-million dollar contract. And there is no reason to believe sensational dowries wouldn't do the same for marriage.

"Palm Beach, Fla. —Wesley von Piggins III, one of the most sought-after bachelors on the winter social circuit, today signed a multi-million dollar contract to marry Lacybug Slapforth.

Col. Ebanezer Slapforth, who announced the signing, said it was the largest dowry ever paid. Exact terms were not disclosed but the record dowry was said to exceed $2,500,000, including stock options."

A few items like the above and soon matrimony would again become the national pastime.

Praise for India

I am responding to the Progress-Bulletin editorial of June 4 about India's entry into the nuclear bomb field.

I am speaking as a voice of reason. It is the right of every individual and country to live and prosper. To be free of coercion and slavery.

Until the last decade India has had very little ability to protect itself against its enemies. Its strength was spiritual, not military. Only a fool would believe that any outsider will protect them as well as they themselves would.

This is another example of the status quo. The "haves" want to have an exclusive club and they want to keep the "have nots" out of it.

Your editorial asked what business does a poor country like India have in building nuclear weapons. It is like asking what right does any country have to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It is understandable the uneasiness about every country having nuclear weapons. I can identify with India. I have tried in my own way to live a very religious and a very passive life.

People do not respect me, they consider me stupid and weak, someone to use and trample into the ground. I, for one, am in favor of all countries having nuclear weapons as a protection against the aggression of other countries.

India being one of the largest countries in the world deserves and needs nuclear weapons. Yes, it is absolutely in its own self interests to be able to protect itself against its enemies. Being one of the largest countries in the world it has a large stake in what happens in the world. It should have a major role in determining what happens in the world. Condemnation is not what is needed, but rather loud praise. — Arthur N. James, Pomona.

Gossip for today

As people go, we American are perhaps the softest touches of any nationality on the face of the earth. Just what easy marks we are is strikingly illustrated by a recent study which indicates that Americans contribute an average of $60 million a day to charities; expecting nothing in return other than perhaps a bit of recognition and publicity.

Now compare that kind of generosity to what it takes to get charitable donations from folks in some other countries. In one area, for instance, which can best be described in the words of Kipling as being "somewhere east of Suez where the best is like the worst and there's ain't no Ten Commandments and a man can raise a thirst," it was found necessary to offer special inducements to prospective contributors in order to assure the success of a charity fund raising event. Among the prizes offered for large donations were topless waitresses, porno films and prostitutes. — And where, you ask, did all this happen! Well, if you must know, Darwin, Australia.

RAY CROMLEY

Pedalling through life's bright spots

WASHINGTON — I've joined the ranks of those who daily pedal bicycles back and forth to work. My life will never be the same.

Behind the wheel of a car, the world is an impersonal noisy blur save for the muttered curses of fellow motorists as they cut in and out and your own responding epithets. Other drivers get in your way, upset your equanimity and threaten your fenders and your 30-minute timetable.

On a bicycle, it's a new world. The boy fishing on the river waves. The bicyclists you meet nod with recognition of a shared experience. The homeowner carrying out the trash and the janitor dumping rubbish remark on the weather. Pretty girls along the route smile or grin — depending on their age. You see trees, creeks and gardens unnoticed in years of hurried driving. And you study the faces of men and women who have been no more than flickering blobs as your car sped by.

You see youngsters playing ball (and have time to notice whether it's a strike or a hit) young couples sitting on bridges, determined but paunchy middle-aged men running for their lives. You meet columns of teen-aged boys and girls on 10-speeds racing to some objective. Almost all take time to acknowledge your presence in one friendly way or another. Bicyclists unlike motorists, move to the side to let fellow riders pass).

I am told by specialists that 100 miles a week is very good for the heart, the liver and what else might ail you. This may or may not be; but it certainly makes you feel better all day long. And you sleep like a top.

There's a value in persistence. The first day out, 11 miles up the river took two and a half hours and was sheer agony. The wind blew so hard it was necessary to pedal vigorously to make headway even when going down hill, or so it seemed. In the evening, the return trip was endless. Finally, as the night wore on and my bike light (and legs) failed, I finished ignominiously on foot and after bedtime to the worry of my children.

My second venture was even more discouraging. Flashily I started out with my Scout troop over a 28-mile course. It was cold and I pedaled vigorously, only to strain a ligament on some hill and fizzle out at the end of eight miles. The troop went on and I limped gloomily the long route home.

That taught some sort of a lesson and I began with short stints arund the block, followed by 10-mile runs with my children on level stretches.

Now an old pro with 700 miles in seven weeks, and doing in less than 55 minutes what once took two and a half hours, I look forward to the morning and evening rides, feel let down when rain forces me to abandon my one-speed and use my car.

The biking idea was born for me during the big gasoline crunch, when few of us knew from one day to the next whether we would have enough gas to get to the office, the grocery store or the barber shop. But now that the immediate crisis is over, this concert is not about to go back to driving.

My children are proud of dad. They forego invitations from friends to go on family bicycle picnics. I've discovered, too, that children talk more freely and give out with more of their thinking on many things when we're riding side by side on bikes. It's much different from home, where we're all more preoccupied.

Even my nine-year-old is ready for a 16.2-mile hike at the drop of a hat, especially if there's a milk shake at the eight-mile marker.

Some more myths about cholesterol

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My cholesterol reading is 245, which I understand is quite high for a 45 year-old female. My general health is good in every other respect. My pressure is 120-80,and I still have a regular monthly menstruation. I have been on a low cholesterol diet for a year — corn oil margarine, only one egg a week, skim milk, only cottage cheese — and my cholesterol level is higher by nine points.

I have read many reports and articles on the subject, but they mostly refer to men. My speicific questions I'd like answered are the following bits of information given to me by friends: Once cholesterol is in the arteries it can't be dissolved. A women's cholesterol level goes even higher when her menstruation period stops. Alcoholic beverages and beer are pure cholesterol. An exercise plan will reduce cholesterol.

DEAR READER — Your cholesterol reading is fairly high, but not excessive. A variation of nine points from one test to another is not significant. You can consider your reading essentially unchanged.

Regarding those bits of information, and may I add, misinformation, cholesterol and some of the fat with it that deposits in the arteries can be removed in time with successful corrective measures. The arteries of monkeys on a rich diet were loaded with fatty cholesterol. In those animals put back on a low-calorie diet, the arteries were cleared of fatty cholesterol deposits. Information on prisoners of war, people in occupied lands of Europe in World War II and similar studies all provide evidence that some reversal is possible.

It is true that a woman's cholesterol level tends to rise after the menopause. The changes in the arteries begin then and 15 or 20 years later the changes in women are about the same as those noted in men of the same age.

Chemically speaking, cholesterol is an alcohol. BUT the alcohol you drink is a very small molecule. It contains only two carbon atoms. Cholesterol is a huge molecule by comparison, containing 27 atoms of carbon. Its size causes it to be a waxy solid rather than a liquid. The alcoholic beverages contain no cholesterol at all unless you add an animal product, such as in making an egg nog.

Yes, I think an exercise program can help. The idea is to use exercise and diet to eliminate excess stores of fat. In general, those people who are quite lean tend to have low cholesterol levels, although there are many exceptions to this.

If, after effective elimination of all extra fat stores, the cholesterol remains too high, then certain medicines can be used with the diet and exercise program effecively to lower the cholesterol. I don't think, however, that any of these medicines are a substitute for proper diet, exercise and other living habits. A habit of drinking alcohol beverages can usually defeat a good dietary program. Most people who drink will not stay on a diet to lose fat, if they want to lose weight.

For more information about cholesterol, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on cholesterol. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

'It gets hairy'

Federal government bankrupt?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government may have quietly gone bankrupt this week.

"It's only a technicality," said a Treasury official. "Actually, we can hold on for about two weeks, but it gets hairy."

The U.S. Treasury probably reached the legal debt ceiling of $475.7 billion last Saturday and depleted its cash balance Wednesday.

No one knows officially yet because the government reports what it has spent about six days after the money is gone. But the Treasury Department said Wednesday the debt had risen to $475.6 billion and cash on hand had shrunk to $7.5 billion last Friday.

When the debt ceiling, imposed by Congress, is reached the government can't borrow any more money.

But no one expects it to go out of business. The Strategic Air Command will stay on guard, the Secret Service will protect the President, members of Congress will drone on in floor debate and the Agriculture Department will issue pecan reports.

If the federal government has gone temporarily bankrupt, a series of steps will be taken by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. These will include orders to halt sales of Series E and H savings bonds, Treasury bills and other securities. In order to raise money, the Treasury would then call on the Export-Import Bank to repay its loans from the United States.

The whole problem stems from prolonged congressional consideration of the administration's proposal to raise the debt ceiling to $495 billion.

The bill passed the House, but stalled in the Senate where liberals are trying to win approval of tax reform amendments.

In any case, if the government can juggle its books until July 1 it will be in the clear. A new fiscal year and a new spending budget begin then, opening up a new flow of cash.

For Saturday, June 8, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You need time away from the home and its responsiblilities today. Call some of your pals. See if you can't stir up some fun.

TAURUS (April 20 May 20) Early in the day pressures will be more acute. Your temper will be more volatile than later on, when you'll let go and relax.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Tension over finances could put the damper on your day if you permit it. Direct your attention to less-worldly interests.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're going to be a bit irritated with your mate today. You'll learn later that what you were angry about wasn't really his fault.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't get too bent out of shape when you find you won't have as much time as you thought to get something completed to day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pressure from another will tend to sway your judgement and coerce you into making a decision you shouldn't. Hold you ground.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An activity of yours will not start out being much fun. In fact, it could begin on a hectic note. But wait, the laughs come later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll learn of something confidential that will give you the drop on another. It won't add to your credit if you use it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A male friend of yours always comes to you when he's a trifle short. Don't be surprised if he gets in touch today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) A problem between two pals of yours is developing and you're apt to be caught in the middle. Favor the one who always keeps his word.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something that has been a source of frustration for the past few days will be removed from your path, permitting you a freer weekend.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually it's fun to be where the action and the noise is. That's where it's all happening. This evening, however, you'll enjoy a quiet spot more.

Your Birthday June 8

Bigger things are in store for you later in the year than in the early months. More travel and moving around will come about.

Violin brings $115,000 at London auction

LONDON (UPI) — A Stradivarius violin made by the famed family's patriarch sold at auction recently for $155,000, a spokesman for Sotheby's art auction house said.

The violin, sold anonymously, was made in Cremona, Italy, in 1706 by Antonio Stradivari and is known as the Corbett Stradivari. Graham Wells, head of Sotheby's musical instruments department, said it was in "extremely good" condition with a "superb tone."

Another Stradivari holds the world record auction price for such an instrument the "Lady Blunt Stradivari" sold for $202,400 in 1971.

Three other Stradivari instruments, made by Antonio's sons at later dates, brought lower prices in today's sale, the spokesman said.

Curtailment of housing funds rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Drastic changes must be made in federal monetary policies if Americans earning less than $20,000 a year are to be housed in the future, a leading home builder says.

No-growth policies, spiraling costs and shortages of materials have all been obstacles to the homebuilding industry, Barry Scherman, president of the California Builders Council, said.

But "the drying up of the money supply is the most pressing problem facing the building industry today," he said. "It is more critical today than it has ever been."

Every time the price of a home is raised by $1,000 due to rising interest rates, about 150,000 families are priced out of the market, Scherman said.

"All of this restrictive monetary policy has been perpetrated by the federal government purportedly for curbing inflation," he said.

"We believe this method of curbing inflation is not only counterproductive in that it fans the fires of inflation, but it has a disproportionately damaging effect on housing, an industry which depends almost exclusively on thrift institutions for funding."

Rare freshwater shrimps sought in cancer research

By V. MACK SISK

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Cancer researchers are searching the lakes and streams of the Texas hill country for rare foot-long, freshwater shrimps that could advance development of a cancer preventative.

Dr. Frederick Rommel, assistant professor of pediatrics and microbiology at the University of Texas Health Science Center, says the shrimp may contain a possible anti-cancer mechanism similar to the one he believes occurs naturally in salt-water lobsters.

Rommel began his experimentation with lobsters, but very few could be obtained uninjured from commercial suppliers. He looked for an alternative and now he thinks he's found it.

Last summer, an area fisherman brought Rommel a species of shellfish that neither could identify.

The creature, now preserved as a laboratory curiosity, is about 18 inches long claw to tail, and weighs about 20 ounces. It resembles a lobster, but the researcher learned it was a species of fresh-water prawn, or shrimp.

The shrimp was found in the Guadalupe River above Lake McQueeney, and James Ludecke of Seguin since has set out traps in hope of catching several specimens for Rommel's research.

Two other fishermen, James Langlinas of Lake McQueeney and Melvin Dreiss of Boerne, are attempting to catch some of the big fresh-water shrimp using New England lobster traps.

Rommel said although the oversize shrimp are rare, they are not totally uncommon.

"Nearly every marina and bait house from the hill country to the coast knows about them, or has a preserved specimen on display," he said.

Rommel theorized that hill country shrimp originally made their way to the Gulf of Mexico to spawn in brackish water. Younger, smaller specimens are caught along the coast.

Rommel said he does not know if the shrimp's relatively enormous size is the result of a long and unhampered life, or whether the size is common to all adults of the species.

The fresh-water shrimp has symmetrical claws like crayfish, while New England saltwater lobsters have asymmetrical claws. For that reason, Rommel believes the Texas specimen may be higher on the evolutionary scale.

He said he hopes the live river shrimp will be trapped or caught by fishermen and brought to his laboratory.

The scientist will put the living specimens in aquariums or in privately owned lakes to see if they can be grown, bred and produce healthy offspring for research.

Portrait of a murderer

When a 34-year-old man kills somebody with a gun on Saturday night, it's not extraordinary. On the contrary, he is the average murderer with the average murder weapon acting at the average time of murder. Or so report the crime lab statisticians.

Oddly, one of the oldest utensils devised by man is thought to be an apple corer, carved out of the leg bone of some sort of hoofed animal, for use by older people who's lost their teeth.

Q — "Who invented the banjo?"

A — A musical Irishman named Joseph Sweeney. A one-man band was he. Nicknamed Band Joe.

Sales

Am advised one department store executive instructs his sales ladies to deal with men and women customers quite differently. Show the men the most expensive item in the line first, he says. Show the women the least expensive first. It's his contention that because girls like to quality shop, they almost invariably will ask the clerk to see something a little better. But the men rarely haggle, so buy whatever they're shown immediately, he says.

Is it conceivable that the average man loses his temper approximately six times a week? Such is the claim of researchers at Columbia University. Hard to believe. They contend the average woman loses her temper about three times a week. That's also doubtful, I think.

Pearls

Young lady, if you're the possessor of a string of pearls, cultured or otherwise, better wear them as often as possible. That's the counsel of a pearl expert. Says the warmth and moisture of the skin tends to preserve those ornaments. Deepens their luster, also.

Have found no mental expert yet who knows why young women are more addicted to astrology than are men. Can you explain that?

Did I tell you you're at your tallest when you first wake up in the morning? The cartillage in your back expands when you're horizontal during the night. This can add as much as half an inch to your height when you first leap forth at dawn.

Observe Martin Ragaway: "A 50-year-old man was a child when everything was the child's fault and a parent when everything is the parent's fault. It's unfair."

Country folk have more Bibles than city folk. In towns of less then 5,000 population, surveys show, 90 per cent of the citizens own Bibles. But in the bigger cities, less than 75 per cent are the possessors of same.

Woman tells police devil told her to drown 2 girls

ATLANTA (UPI) — A woman told police here that the devil made her try to drown her two young daughters.

Mrs. Glenda Mann was admitted to the psychiatric ward of Grady Hospital after she jumped into a park swimming pool with Latonya Booker Mann, 4, and Andria Elaine Mann, 3, and let go of them.

A son who witnessed the near tragedy called police and park employes, who saved the daughters. The girls were in critical condition at the hospital.

She told me that she'd been having dreams in which the devil told her, in effect, that she was going to hell if she didn't streak or drown somebody or drown herself," said officer G. B. Hayes.

"She said she grabbed the girls and jumped in the pool, releasing them shortly thereafter."

When rescuers arrived, one of the girls was floating on the water and the other was at the bottom of the pool.

Beagle puppy, 2, takes up fishing

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Floppy, our small, two-year-old Beagle, has taken up fishing. For crayfish. She's getting pretty good at it. She's caught, and eaten, several. She doesn't seem to eat much of the shell. She really loves them. They seem to agree with her. No reason why it shouldn't is there? A nutty neighbor at the lake says crayfish can give dogs worms?! —S.K.

Dear S. K.: Fresh crayfish would be a good nutritious dish for Floppy, though it would be better, perhaps if she would stop to cook them first. In some areas, crayfish do pack a parasite (dictophyma renale). This nematode (roundworm) may affect the dog. Known as the giant kidney worm, the adult females range up to one hundred centimeters (approximately 39 inches) in length. Developing in the kidney, this worm destroys it. It is invariably found in only one kidney (usually the first one) and surgical removal of that kidney can save the dog when the parasite is discovered early enough.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Movie Cat's never going to have her nails removed. That is settled. What else can we do to keep her from tearing up the furniture like our other Siamese did. —K.I.

Dear K.I.: Movie Cat should be susceptible to training techniques, especially if she is still young. Introduce her to a scratching post or log and carefully extend her claws, actully helping her to use the post for its intended purpose. Do this gently several times daily, especially when she has one of those bursts of enthusiasm that so frequently seem a fourerunner of a scratching episode. Natural post, complete with bark, or a cork tree are both ideal. Even a corrugated cardboard post is preferalble to the carpet-covered variety. It is far better to teach the feline to favor something than to encourage claw sharpening on a post which resembles a chair or table leg, or on a carpet-like texture similar to that of your carpets.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I heard something about a two-minute vasectomy technique that's been used on rats and dogs. Any chance that would work on a old goat I know? —R.R.

Dear R.R.: The chemical vasectomy techique is painless and usually one hundred per cent effective not only in rats and dogs but also goats (of the Capra genus). This quickie sterilization technique may prove equally useful for other goats, of other species young or old. But you (or he) will have to wait awhile.

'I don't care' finesse works

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand from the Reese-Dormer book. South is in what looks like a most commfortable two-heart contract, but things start out badly. The opening lead of the queen of clubs kills off dummy's king.

South ruffs the third club. If he simply bangs down his ace and king of hearts, he is going to have to lead spades himself. If this happens he will lose three spades and one heart in addition to the two clubs the defense has already taken to the bank.

A little thought should show him a way to be sure of his contract except against most unlikely breaks.

He simply cashes one high heart. Then he leads a diamond to dummy's king and one back to his ace. Now he ruffs his last diamond, leads dummy's jack of hearts and lets it ride.

This is what might be called an "I don't care" finesse. If it loses, West will either have to lead a spade or give South a ruff and discard. Either way South will lose two spade tricks.

Actually it wins. Now South doesn't lose a trump trick and makes his contract in spite of the three spade losers.

Brown given Senate okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air Force Gen. George S. Brown was approved by the Senate Wednesday to become new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Brown will serve a two-year term starting July 1 as successor to Adm. Thomas S. Moorer who is retiring. Brown's nomination was approved routinely by voice vote.

Also confirmed was the appointment of Gen. David C. Jones to a four-year-term as Air Force chief of staff.

Disease spreading in India

25,000 die in smallpox epidemic

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Almost 25,000 persons have died in India during the past six months in the world's deadliest smallpox epidemic of the 20th century and the disease has spread to at least one neighboring country, health officials said Wednesday.

The officials said the figure of 10,000 dead provided by the Indian government to the World Health Organization was a "conservative estimate" and the actual death toll was probably closer to 25,000.

"What we have here is the biggest smallpox epidemic the world has seen since before World War I," said one WHO officer. "So far we have 103,830 cases reported across India and we're turning up an awful lot of new cases every day."

WHO officials said travelers from the worst hit states of Bihar and Uttar Pradesh in northern India were carrying the disease into Nepal.

"Villagers and traders who are still in the long smallpox incubation period and don't even know they have it are crossing the border daily without passing health check points," one official said.

The government has so far played down the scope of the epidemic for fear of spreading panic —particularly among foreign tourists.

There is no treatment for smallpox, a disease so ancient it was described in the sacred Sanskrit writings of India.

"If you've been exposed and you haven't been vaccinated, you're going to die, be blinded or at least horribly disfigured," a WHO spokesman said.

"When we find an infected area we vaccinate everyone there," a WHO officer said. "It would take us 1,000 years to vaccinate everyone in India at the current rate so right now we are just vaccinating to maintain the disease."

Dodgers stage RBI battle

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers are having their own private battle for the club's runs batted in lead.

The big results are Dodger victories.

Andy Messersmith pitched his second consecutive shutout Thursday night in blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-0, on five hits to build the Dodgers' lead in the National League West to eight games over Cincinnati.

He had all the support he needed from the Dodgers' big three of Steve Garvey, Jimmy Wynn and Ron Cey. The L.A. trio are battling St. Louis' Reggie Smith for the RBI lead in the National League.

Garvey took the N.L. lead Thursday by driving in two runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly to pass Smith with 49 RBIs. Wynn increased his season total to 46 by drawing a bases-loaded walk while Cey belted a two-run homer off of Pittsburgh lefthander Ken Brett in the fourth inning to open the scoring for his 44th and 45th RBIs.

Smith, who visits Dodger Stadium next week, has 48.

"I thought I should have hit more home runs last year," Cey said after hitting his eighth of the campaign and fourth within a week after hitting 15 in 1973. "But it was a year of learning and seeing a lot of pitchers for the first time. Hopefully, year in and year out, I'll get better."

Messersmith completed an impessive theee-game sweep over the Pirates to build the Dodger season record to 40-15, 23-5 at home. Dodger pitchers held the Bucs to two runs and 14 hits in the series sweep.

The Chicago Cubs come into Dodger Stadium tonight for a three-game weekend series with Don Sutton (6-4), who has a 3-15 lifetime record against the Cubs, facing Rick Reuschel (4-4) in the 7:30 p.m. opener.

"We have a helluva bunch of pitchers," smiled Dodger pitching coach Red Adams, "and good pitching will always stop good hitting. Pittsburgh caught us with a hot staff."

Messersmith (6-1), who had blanked the Cubs in his last start, turned in his sixth complete game and gave the Dodgers their 11th shutout victory this season. He allowed only one walk while striking out nine with 86 strikes in his 126 pitches.

"This was probably one of the two or three strongest games I've pitched in the big leagues," Messersmith said. "I had everything tonight. I had control, command and all four pitches working for me."

Messersmith also had plenty of priase for catcher Steve Yeager. The Dodgers are an incredible 23-0 in games in which Yeager has been behind the plate.

"I think Steve is the best defensive catcher in the game right now," the pitcher praised. "He is so quick and requires such little movement in catching pitches out of the strike zone that he makes our control better than it might really be."

DODGER DATA — Joe Ferguson, who has been playing in right field with Yeager catching, extended his hitting streak to 13 games with a single in the seventh inning. Bill Russell extended his string to 12 earlier in the game . . .

It's Ball Night tonight at the stadium with all youngsters 14 and under receving free baseballs . . .

The Dodgers will switch to 7 p.m. games this Saturday with Al Downing (2-2) facing Bill Bonham (4-8). Sunday's probables at 1:15 p.m. are Tommy John (9-1) against Burt Hooton (2-5) . . .

With 49 RBIs, Garvey needs only one more to match his 1973 total . . .

The Dodgers are 11-4 against lefthanded pitchers after compiling a 30-26 record last year . . .

It was Upland Night Thursday with Mayor Abner Haldeman throwing out the first ball.

Just a face in the crowd

In a crowd of football players, just a face in the crowd Dana Coleman wouldn't stand out much. He's about average in size for a pro offensive lineman—6-2, 255.

His background in the sport is less than outstanding. He's never been "all" anything. A couple of seasons of small college football after high school are all the credentials he has.

Dick Enright, former head football coach at the University of Oregon and currently the offensive line coach for the World Football League's Southern California Sun, saw a diamond in the rough, however, when he spotted Coleman among about 400 candidates at the Sun's first tryout camp two months ago.

"He was the only one out of the whole bunch I signed," Enright said of Coleman, a former La Verne college player. "He's got a real chance to make the club. There have been more experienced players who have come and gone, but he's still here. I hope he makes it. He's got a great attitude."

As of Wednesday, Coleman's competition was about a dozen other offensive linemen, including former Ram Joe Carollo. Carollo was one of 50 candidates who reported to the Sun camp at Cal State Fullerton Wednesday. Workouts began Monday morning.

A defensive tackle at La Verne, Coleman is learning offensive guard for the Sun.

Not altogether sound fundamentally, Coleman has attributes of size, strength and attitude according to Enright.

"There are some fundamentals he has to work on but he's coming around real well. "He has tremendous strength from working with weights which has put some necessary pounds on him."

Coleman spent the 1971 and 72 seasons at La Verne following undistinguished service at Antelope Valley High, Antelope Valley Junior College and Eastern New Mexico University.

Contrasting philosophies

He found the contrast between the philosphies in coaching at Eastern New Mexico and La Verne interesting. The New Mexico school was a kind of minor football factory. At La Verne, under head coach Roland Ortmayer, athletes compete for personal satisfaction—for fun.

"La Verne," Coleman, tried to explain, "is. . .well. . .quite unique."

A physical education major, Coleman is a few units shy of graduation at La Verne. But working towards his goal of becoming a football and track coach, he helped Les Perry with the Webb School football team last fall and worked with the weightmen at Pomona-Pitzer under head track coach Pat Mulcahy this spring. Regardless of what happens with the Sun, Coleman will return to Pomona-Pitzer next spring.

"I've wanted to play pro ball since after high school," he said. "I'd certainly like to play and I'm out here to do my best. But if I don't make it, it's not going to be the end of the world."

Having been subjected to several coaching philosophies, Coleman believes he'll take a moderate approach to game when he becomes a coach.

"I would stress many of the things I've learned, especially mental toughness—but I'd also try to look at my players as people rather than cogs in a machine."

Lots of players

Head coach Tom Fears has had to look at more than 140 players since the Sun camp opened Monday. He'd rather not go through it again.

The former star receiver for the Rams has scheduled the team's first scrimmage for late Saturday afternoon. After viewing films of the scrimmage, coaches will cut about 20 more players Sunday morning. Thirty players were cut Wednesday, including Cal Poly running back Pat Ward and La Verne College linebacker Henry Moore.

Angels deny F. Robinson is trade bait

ANAHEIM (UPI) — California General Manager Harry Dalton has denied the Angels are trying to deal off 38-year-old slugger Frank Robinson for some needed relief pitching.

"He has not been offered to any team and no other club has expressed to us an interest in him," Dalton said Thursday.

Robinson started his career with Cincinnati and was traded to Baltimore and Los Angeles before coming to the Angels in 1972.

Before hitting a three-run homer and a single in the Angels' loss to Milwaukee Thursday, the veteran slugging star had batted only .237 with two RBIs in his last 11 games. He is a designated hitter.

California, beaten 9-7 by the Brewers, is in danger of falling into last place in the American League West.

"At one time I would not have liked it," Robinson said from Milwaukee. "That was when I needed to play baseball and my career was more important to me. But now, if it happened, I'd have to look at where I'd go first before I'd decide if I would go.

"If it's somewhere I wouldn't want to play then I'd get out. If I liked the arrangement, then I'd play."

Manager Bobby Winkles admitted the team could use a strong reliever.

"We could use one, of course," he said. "The trouble is, there just aren't any available."

Tom Murphy said he just wasn't himself.

But whoever he was, he was good enough to make the tough pitches when he needed them as he helped the Brewers take two of hte three-game series with the Angels.

Murphy came on in relief of Clyde Wright in the sixth inning to find the bases loaded and nobody out. He got out of the inning with the Brewers holding a 6-4 lead.

The next inning, Murphy gave up a three-run homer to Robinson and the Brewers trailed 7-6. But he shut out California the rest of the way and his mates supplied all the power needed for the win.

"I just wasn't myself out there today," Murphy said. "I just couldn't get it together."

George Scott opened the Milwaukee seventh with a double and Darrell Porter walked. Charlie Moore doubled to score Scott and leave runners on second and third.

Pros draft 13 more from area

NEW YORK — A total of 13 more valley athletes were drafted Thursday in the major league baseball's free agent draft.

Five of those were Citrus College products, with three coming out of the high schools.

Scott Richartz of Chino High was the first to go from the valley in Thursday's rounds. Richartz, a shortstop for the Cowboys this past season, was drafted in the 17th round by the Chicago White Sox.

Robb Mayhew, the United States International University transfer who pitched for La Verne College's NAIA semifinalists this year, was picked up in the 17th round by the Minnesota Twins.

Rick Lysander, who pitched for Citrus College last year and Cal State Los Angeles this past season, was drafted in the 19th round by the Oakland A's.

Bob Salas, one of the top pitchers for Nogales High this year, also went to the Oakland A's but in the 23rd round. Salas helped hurl Nogales into the finals of the CIF 3-A baseball finals this year.

Jeff Yorak, a catcher for Citrus College, was drafted in the 30th round by the San Francisco Giants.

Dennis Hawkins, the speedy outfielder from Chaffey College, was picked up in the 36th round by the California Angels. Hawkins, Chaffey's base-stealing artist, was an All-Mission Conference choice with his .373 batting average.

Mike "Bubba" Alonso, the big designated hitter for this year's La Verne College NAIA semifinalists, was also drafted in the 36th round by the Minnesota Twins.

Cal Poly's Mike Heinen was the next to go. The Bronco pitcher went to Minnesota in the 37th round.

Ganesha High's Cleve Porter, the Pomona Valley High School Basketball Player of the Year, didn't even play baseball this year but still was drafted by the Montreal Expos in the 39th round.

Gary Wienceck, the hustling catcher from Citrus College, was picked up by the Angels in the 43rd round. Wiencek, a graduate of Claremont High, was also an All-Mission Conference selection as a utility man with a .341 batting average.

In the secondary phase of the draft, former Chaffey College star Mike Gatlin was the very first player chosen. Playing for the University of Arizona this past season, Gatlin was drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in the 24th round.

Also going in the secondary phase was Citrus College's Athlete of the Year, Phil Doktor. The Owls' infielder, who batted .371 this past season and was an All-Mission choice, was claimed by the Oakland A's in the 24th round.

Doktor's teammate, Randy Nall, was the third and final player from the valley to go in the secondary round. Nall, an All-Mission outfielder with a .340 batting average, was drafted in the 25th round by the Kansas City Royals.

The total number of valley draftees reached 18, with Walnut High's Lance Parrish, La Verne College's John Verhoeven, Nogales High's Dean Olson, Chaffey College's Ron Gill, and Damien High's Larry Pekarcik being picked up in the draft Wednesday.

Scolinos in Hall of Fame

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's John Scolinos has a new distinction today.

He is a Hall of Famer.

The veteran skipper received word Thursday of his election into the Hall of Fame of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Scolinos will be officially inducted into the Hall of Fame at the annual Coach of the Year banquet in Washington, D.C. early in January.

In recognition of the honor, a plaque with Scolinos' picture and a brief biography of the Bronco coach will be installed in the Hall of Fame at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich. Scolinos will be given one for himself and Poly will receive another for public display.

Scolinos will begin his 28th year of collegiate coaching next spring and his 14th at Cal Poly. He ranks third among active baseball coaches with a lifetime 657-479 record compiled at Pepperdine and Poly.

"This is quite a surprise to me," Scolinos said when informed of the honor. "I thought you had to be retired to earn this award. I hope that's not true."

The 57-year-old coach isn't about to call it a career.

"I want to keep on coaching," Scolinos said when asked about his future. "I plan to stay in it until I lose my interest in coaching young men."

As expected, Scolinos had plenty of praise for players, administrators, assistants and anyone else who has helped his program.

"I am very appreciative of this honor," he said. "It reflects on the players and my many fine assistants who have worked with me. They have made my job much easier.

"I have also been blessed with many outstanding players. They may not have the greatest talent but they were hard workers and good people."

JOHN SCOLINOS

After compiling a 325-223 record in 14 seasons at Pepperdine, Scolinos switched to Poly in 1960 to serve as an assistant under Barney Anooshian.

At Poly, Scolinos' teams have compiled a 332-256 record. His Bronco clubs entered the NCAA Regionals in 1964 and 1966 as a major college independent.

But Poly hasn't fared quite as well since joining the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) in 1967.

Scolinis is still looking for his first CCAA title.

"We have come real close but it's been real tough," Scolinos said. "I sure would love to give Poly a championship and go back to the national (NCAA College Division) playoffs. I realize it's difficult and you must have everything going for you to do it."

"I have enjoyed my stay at Poly," Solinos added. "I have always received great cooperation and where could you find better facilities? I would like to have a better budget but I understand those problems."

Poly is off a 24-26 season but Scolinos feels his team did well considering the schedule against teams of the caliber of Arizona, USC, UCLA, Hawaii and Oregon.

"Our won-loss record wasn't great but I felt our team did a good job," Scolinos said. "We could be 40-15 if I wanted to pad the schedule but I believe in having a schedule to challenge our players."

Next year, Poly will add Stanford, Utah and UC Irvine to the schedule.

La Verne turning thoughts to the future

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — A thunderstorm struck St. Joseph, Mo. Wednesday night after the Leopards had lost to Sam Houston State.

Leo fans said it was a sign that even the man upstairs was displeased with the way things had gone. The rain abated Thursday when the team left to return home.

But apparently the bad weather returned as soon as La Verne left. Heavy rain just before game time Thursday night forced postponement of the championship game between Lewis U. and SHS until this evening.

Maybe the fans were right after all.

Coaches and players however almost immediately turned their thoughts to the future.

Rich Fielder and Nick Leyva drove out of St. Joseph early Thursday morning for Liberal, Kan. where they will spend the summer playing baseball in the Victory League, a Kansas collegiate league.

Dan Quisenberry, Tim Kelly and Bill Start lingered until the team and coaches were ready to depart in the afternoon.

Quisenberry and Kelly started out in one car with Stark following in another bound for Illinois. Quisenberry will pitch for Quincy, Kelly for Galesburg and Stark will catch for Bloomington, all in the Illinois Centeral League.

All-American John Verhoeven and lefthander Robb Mayhew were looking forward to professional baseball. Verhoeven in the Angels system and Mayhew with the Minnesota Twins.

Mike Alonso was trying to decide whether to try pro ball or not. Alonso was a late-round pick by the Twins.

Third baseman Hank Merenda was hoping to hear from a major league team. If not drafted, Merenda will tryout with either the Angels or Twins.

Jim Sherman, Paul Fleming, and Eric Frazier will play for the Ontario Collegians, a California college league.

All three will return to La Verne next year along with Quisenberry, Kelly, Fielder, Leyva, Wayne Redfearn and Art Sanchez.

Coach Ben Hines will have a complete outfield back and three quarters of his infield. Biggest problem will be to replace Verhoeven, Merenda and Don Snyder.

"At this point, I have a bunch of kids that have indicated they are coming to La Verne," Hines said. "But I really won't know until September. We don't have letters of intent so I really can't say."

Among the local and area players Hines is interested in, providing they don't sign to play pro ball, are Larry Pekarcik of Damien, Steve Iles of Upland, Todd Ervin of Claremont, Scott Richartz of Chino and Richard Ortega of Bonita.

Hines himself will manage a "rookie league" team for the Angels at Ogden, Utah, in the Pioneer League. But he already has set up a great baseball schedule for next year's La Verne team.

The Leopards will play Arizona State two games under the lights at Ontario's John Galvin Park in early March. The Leos will make their trek to Arizona the week before Easter next year.

Hines' team will spend Easter vacation playing in the Las Vegas Classic, a new tournament with teams like University of California, University of Texas, Michigan and perhaps another Big 10 team, plus Texas El Paso and host school, Nevada-Las Vegas.

Still smarting from Wednesday's loss to Sam Houston, Hines found it difficult to assess the season as a whole.

"When you get this close to a national title and miss," he explained, "you have a tendency to wipe out the rest of the year."

Five of the Leopards' nine losses in a 37-9 season were by one run. That includes both losses in the national finals.

"That shows you're in the ball game all the way," said Hines. "I think this team played up to its ability. I was disappointed in some elements in our last game, but that's past history now."

When pressed, the Leo coach did offer some observation on the umpiring which cost the Leopards three players in the semi-final game.

"It's the first time I've had a player thrown out of a playoff game of any kind in the 14 years I've been at La Verne," he said. "And the only time I can ever remember a player on any team being tossed out in playoff competition was in District play when a pitcher for Cal Western was ejected for arguing the ball and strike calls. I've never known of one to be thrown out in the national tournament."

Hines' view of the game from that point was that it changed the focus from the ball to the umpires. "It distracted team concentration," he said. It hadn't happened before, but we lost three key players. I'd like to see what Sam Houston would have done without its best hitter, designated hitter, and best pitcher."

There was also one other lingering hurt. Beginning in that seventh inning, he said, "there were five close crucial decisions and not one of them went our way."

Alonso, the big DH, had only one regret. "I had a great line saved all season in case an umpire threw me out of a game," he related. "I was going to say, 'that's the best call you've made,' but I was so excited I forgot."

COME ON, GET A HIT — Pomona Post 30 coach Woody Hansen urges a player to get a hit. Post 30 hosts La Puente at Ralph Welch Park this evening at 7 p.m.

Pomona Post 30 extends win string

Pomona Post 30 captured its eighth straight victory Thursday night while La Verne Post 330 dropped an 8-5 American Legion decision to Tri City.

Dave Lahar singled twice in three at-bats and drove in three runs and Ruben Ruiz pitched his finest outing of the season as the Gems downed a fine Norwalk Connie Mack team 5-3.

Norwalk jumped out to a 2-0 first inning lead on Jon Turner's two-run home run off Pomona starter Mark Lambert. Norwalk added a second inning tally and was holding a 3-0 lead when the Gems got on the scoreboard in the fourth.

Gerard Piccioni started things off with a single and moved to third on Ruiz' double. Billy Karr singled home Piccioni for the first Post 30 run.

Norwalk started playing giveaway in the fifth as Wil Lewallen and Tracey Cowger both reached base on errors. Lahar doubled home both runners to tie the game 3-3.

Post 30 won its ninth in 13 outings in the sixth as Karr collected his second single of the game and stole second. Jon Freeman bunted his way aboard and Lewallen lifted a fly ball to center to score Karr with the go-ahead run. Lahar followed with a single to score Freeman with an insurance run.

Lahar, who has missed action because of graduation and CIF baseball playoffs recently, has five hits in six at-bats this week and is six-for-nine on the season.

Ruiz (2-3) relieved Lambert in the fourth and hurled two-hit ball while striking out one and walking two. The junk ball specialist proved very effective as his infield saw plenty of action.

La Verne was sailing along enjoying a 5-4 lead in the seventh when five errors allowed four Tri-City runs to score and caused Post 330's fifth loss in 15 tries (9-5-1).

With two outs and a runner on second, center fielder Rick Ortega fielded a sharp single to center and came up firing a strike to catcher Carl Davis who couldn't hang on to the ball in the collision at the plate, allowing the tying run to score.

The next three batters all reached on La Verne errors and before the dust had settled four runs had crossed the plate and Tri-City had its 10th win in 13 outings (10-2-1).

Mike Brontzman gave TC its third and fourth runs with a two-run homer in the second.

La Verne fought back with three in the third scoring on a wild pitch and Ortega's two-run single.

Jim Richards singled home Davis to tie the game 4-4 in the fourth and Jay Lacheur gave La Verne the lead 5-4 in the sixth with a single to score Davis. The Post 330 had walked on both occasions.

In legion weekend action, La Verne (0-1) will play a pair of District 18 games with Claremont Post 78 (0-2) while Pomona Post 30 (1-0) faces La Puente (2-0).

La Verne will send Ralph Beltran (2-1) to the mound in Saturday's 2 p.m. game at La Verne College while the Cards will probably counter with Harry Brown.

On Sunday Mark Bumstead will oppose Claremont's John Huddleston in a 10 a.m. game at Pomona College.

Larry Pekarcik (2-0) will be on the mound against La Puente in Friday's 7 p.m. game at Ralph Welch Park and oppose John VanderWende, who recorded a win and a save last weekend.

The Gams travel to Los Altos High for a 10 a.m. game Sunday with La Puente and will start either Paul Madrigal or Vince Garcia.

Players named for All-Star baseball game at Chino High

CHINO — Some of the best high school baseball players to come out of the valley will be on display Friday, June 21, when Chino High plays host to the 4th Annual Pomona Valley All-Star Baseball Game at 8 p.m.

The top graduating seniors will display their wares on this celebrated occasion when schools from the North and South (of the San Bernardino Freeway) clash.

The event started four years ago and was called the San Bernardino County All-Star game, featuring an East vs. West matchup. But two years ago the festive event was localized.

Chino High head baseball coach Jim Rawls and Montclair's Tom McFadden will pilot the defending South team.

Nogales and Chaffey highs have three players each on the 16-man roster with Walnut and Montclair landing two berths each.

Pitchers Bob Salas and Dean Olson (11-2), 12-3 respectively) and catcher Mario Rojas (.414) are the Nogales contingent. Chaffey is represented by first baseman Rod Weigand (.330), catcher George Bjorkman (.250) and outfielder Wally Reed (.330).

Lance Parrish (.440) and Mark Canavan (.343) will pace Walnut's entries while Montclair is represented by Pat Proulx (.351) and Mike Pittman (.278).

Rowland's Al Emeterio (.375) will offer his services as will Ontario Christian's Bob Miersma (.276). Scott Richartz of Chino (.305), Tracey Cowger of Ganesha (.331), Ontario's Ed Rubidoux (3-8), and Garey's Ron Rodriguez (.344) will also see action.

The North, coached by Upland's Herb Christian and Bonita's Dick Salomon, will try to avenge last year's 11-3 rout.

Upland and Bonita will have three players each on the roster while Royal Oak, Claremont and Damien have two entries apiece.

The Highlanders, the San Antonio League champs, represented are pitcher Steve Iles (9-2), outfielder Tony Votaw (.338) and catcher Russ Feaster (.271). The Hacienda League champion Bearcats will have Bruce McNaught (.330), Rick Ortega (.330) and Carl Davis (.313) on the north squad.

Clyde Christensen (.466) and pitcher John Breaux (8-3) are the Royal Oak contingents, with Claremont's Todd Ervin (.438) and Harry Brown (.388), and Damien's Larry Pekarcik (9-2) and Dean Sickles (.367) more than ready to play.

Also scheduled to start or see plenty of action are San Dimas' Jim Richards (.315), Alta Loma's Larry Bell (4-1), Webb's Gary Zakem (11-4), and Pomona's Jim Price (.500).

Each team will practice on the Cowboy diamond Wednesday, June 19, and Thursday, June 20.

The South will workout at 4 p.m. and the North at 8 p.m. on Wednesday with the North donning the field at 3 p.m. on Thursday with the South to practice at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold at $1.50 for adults and .75 cents for children under 12.

The home plate umpire will be Bob Simmons with John Monger at first. Steve West will direct traffic at second base with Gary Weiberg patrolling third.

Penske's car catches fire

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Roger Penske's 1974 Matador caught on fire in a garage while it was being injected with gasoline Thursday but was not badly damaged as practice runs were held for the $80,000 Tuborg 400.

Two days of qualifying for Sunday's NASCAR race begin Friday, with 35 positions to be decided. The race will be run over Riverside International Raceway's 2.62 mile, eight-turn road course.

Penske's Matador, being sponsored by American Motors as the only factory-backed entry, will be driven by George Follmer.

A fire broke out in the car's engine while Follmer's crew was firing it up by squirting gasoline into the carburetor and the fuel ignited.

Bobby Allison's 1974 Chevelle, housed next door, had to be shoved out of the way.

Follmer's car, owned by Penske, is expected to be able to be driven after its engine is rewired and cleaned out.

The first 15 starting spots will be decided today with the other 20 qualifying positions to be filled Saturday. Pole favorites include Follmer, Richard Petty, Cale Yarbrough, Benny Parsons and Allison.

'74 will be Lanier's last

NEW YORK (UPI) — All-pro middle linebacker Willie Lanier of the Kansas City Chiefs will retire at the end of the 1974 season to work for a tobacco company which wants to build cigarette plants in urban centers.

The Philip Morris Company announced Lanier's appointment Thursday to head a pilot program for planning and starting up the urban cigarette facilities.

Dino Jr. signs pact

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Portland Storm of the World Football League opened practice sessions Thursday and announced the signing of Dean Martin Jr., son of the entertainer.

Storm head coach Dick Coury said he was generally pleased with the physical condition of the 60 players who turned out Thursday.

Another 60 join the camp today, undergo medical examinations and will begin practice Saturday morning. Thursday's workout was in t-shirts and shorts and consisted of agility drills and calesthentics. The first player cut is scheduled today, Coury said.

UC Irvine gets three on All-America club

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — California-Irvine placed three players on the All-America College Division baseball team picked Wednesday by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Named on the first team from California-Irvine were catcher Terry Stupy, first baseman Jeff Malinoff, and righthanded pitcher Gary Wheelock.

Others picked for first team honors were Robert Tuttle, second baseman from Central Missouri State; Robert Taylor, shortstop from Nichols State; Bain Pollard, third baseman from Colby State, and outfielders Pat Curran of Chapman College, Sam Bowen of Valdosta State and Robert Blakley of Southwest Missouri State.

Joining Wheelock as a first team pitcher was lefthander Terry Kieffer of New Orleans.

Picked on the second team were:

Catcher, Chuck Lang, North Dakota; Daryl Woods 1b, Northwest Louisiana; Mark Woodbrey 2b, Amherst; Don Smedder SS, California-Fullerton; Wayne Politelli 3b, Eckerd; Joe Zagarino OF, Cal Poly; Jim Ray of Ashland College; Kevin Keith OF, Springfield (Mass.); Ed Gvazeinskas P, Western Illinois, and John Pulit P, New Haven.

Larry Jones eligible?

He's in the middle

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Larry Jones, technically a professional football player, ran in the 53rd NCAA track and field meet Thursday night—which was all nice and legal.

But when professionalism is introduced into the world of amateur athletics, it has to produce controversy and this was certainly no exception. In this case, however, the target of the athletes' bitterness was the AAU.

In the race for the team title, meanwhile, Tennessee, UCLA, Brigham Young and North Carolina Central all stayed in the running, but Texas-El Paso, another of the favorites, fell from contention when Miner pole vaulter Larry Jesse failed to survive the qualifying round.

Jones, a quartermiler from Northeast Missouri State, signed a pro contract with the New York Giants of the National Football League and, under new NCAA rules, is permitted to participate in the track championships as long as he is not a professional in track.

But because of his pro football status, Jones, who turned in the third best qualifying time in the 440-yard dash, is not eligible to compete in next week's AAU meet nor is he eligible to try for the United States 1976 Olympic team.

"I've been getting raw deal as far as publicity goes," Jones said Thursday night. "Everyone is saying 'who is this Larry Jones and where is Northeast Missouri and what is all this trouble he's causing.' They make me feel as if I had committed some kind of sacrilegious sin.

"If I had known the consequences of the international rule I would never have signed. If the New York Giants had known the consequences they would not have signed me. I didn't sign (with the Giants) until the NCAA changed its rule."

Tennessee's Darwin Bond, another quartermiler who is expected to challenge for the championship in his event Saturday, also had some vitriolic comments for the AAU.

"The NCAA has slacked off in its strict rules," he said, "but the AAU still treats athletes like pawns."

The AAU's rules state that any athlete which competes against a professional is also ineligible for international events, but most of the participants in the NCAA 440 feel that rule will not or cannot be imposed.

"I never considered not running," said Terry Erickson of Southern Illinois. "The rule where they make everyone ineligible is a (expletive) rule."

None of the contending teams, other than Texas-El Paso, suffered any major casualties during the almost 14 hours of qualifying Thursday.

Tennessee, seeking to dethrone three-time defending champion UCLA, qualified 13 of 19 athletes in the 14 events held including three in the steeplechase. The biggest Tennessee disappointment was the loss of freshman Jon Young in the 100yard dash.

UCLA had nine men out of 13 make it through, with three pole vaulters surviving the qualifying along with top quartermilers Benny Brown and Maxie Pares. Field oriented Brigham Young, which owns the lead going into today's six final events as a result of a victory in the decathlon, had three of five make it through and North Carolina Central—a team made up almost entirely of sprinters—lost only one man out of seven.

Today's finals include the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard hurdles, 100-yard dash and six mile run.

Alex Johnson stays happy with Rangers

By United Press International

Alex Johnson, once a troubled man with a terrible batting average in Cleveland, left the city in fine spirits with a healthy .301 average Thursday night.

Johnson played in only 108 games for the Indians in 1972 after being traded from California following arguments with teammates and management the year before and hit just .239, 90 points less than his league-leading average in 1970.

But the Texas Rangers, trying to build a winner after years of losing in Washington, took a gamble on Johnson just before the 1973 season began and the strong 6-foot outfielder has never given the Rangers any reason to regret the deal.

Thursday night Johnson helped Texas move into second place in the American League West, one game over .500 but four games behind Oakland, by driving in four runs with three singles and a double to beat Cleveland 6-2. The four hits raised his average to .301.

"Johnson has just played great for us," said Texas Manager Billy Martin. "I have just one set of rules for everybody and he's no exception. He understands and just plays great.

"Everybody said he had a problem, but he doesn't have one with us. I didn't play him in Wednesday's game because I wanted to give him a day of rest and it really helps a guy to get that day of rest, doesn't it?"

Jackie Brown, who blanked the Indians last week on three hits, scattered seven hits for the Rangers but had his 15-inning scoreless streak snapped in the seventh inning when Oscar Gamble homered.

"My curve ball was just great," Brown said. "I just hope it keeps going. It has to for me to stay around in the big leagues."

Yankees 5, White Sox 1

Gene Michael singled in two runs in the fourth inning and George Medich scattered 10 hits in gaining his seventh victory as New York beat Chicago in a game twice delayed by rain for periods of 90 and 29 minutes.

Medich, who walked three and struck out two, shut out the White Sox until the ninth when Ken Henderson hit his seventh homer.

New York's Roy White opened the game by beating out a bunt and he took third on a single by Elliott Maddox. After Bobby Murcer walked to load the bases, Ron Blomberg's sacrifice fly scored White. A single by Graig Nettles scored Maddox with the second run.

Dierker continues in comeback role

By United Press International

At an age when most pitchers are in their prime, Larry Dierker is making a comeback.

The 27-year old right-hander limited Montreal to three hits Thursday night as the Houston Astros blanked the Expos 4-0. Lee May hit two home runs, his eighth and ninth, to lead the Houston attack.

The shutout was the first for Dierker since July 4, 1972 when he handcuffed Pittsburgh on eight hits.

Dierker has been plagued by a sore arm the past several years and last season appeared in only 14 games. It was only about 10 years ago however, at the age of 18, that Dierker made his major league debut with the Astros, matching serves with such stars as Sandy Koufax and Juan Marichal.

But Dierker never quite fulfilled his potential despite winning 20 games for Houston in 1969. His problems weren't only limited to physical ailments. A variety of personal problems have also been blamed for his lackluster performance in recent years. Dierker has managed, however, to exhibit some signs of his former brilliance this season and Manager Preston Gomez, for one, is impressed.

"Dierker by far has been our most consistent pitcher this year," Gomez said. "He had to come out of several games with no decision but in 11 starts he's only had one bad outing."

The victory was Dierker's third and first since April 15.

"If I could throw like I was throwing tonight," said Dierker, "I think I have a chance against anybody."

In other games, Chicago downed San Diego 5-1, Los Angeles ripped Pittsburgh 6-0, San Francisco beat St. Louis 9-5 and New York edged Cincinnati 4-3 in the only games scheduled.

Cubs 5, Padres 1

Don Kessinger singled in George Mitterwald from second in the seventh inning to snap a 1-1 tie and then singled home another run in the ninth to touch off a three-run inning as Chicago turned back San Diego.

Giatnts 9, Cardinals 5

Gary Matthews' three-run bases-loaded double capped a seven-run, two-out rally in the fourth inning that sparked the Giants over St. Louis. Matthews' double was a windblown fly that eluded centerfielder Luis Melendez and rolled to the fence. Pinch-hitter Chris Arnold tripled to drive in two other runs in the inning.

Mets 4, Reds 3

John Milner's leadoff homer off reliever Pedro Borbon in the eighth inning provided New York with a come-from-behind victory over the Reds. Milner's homer, his ninth, came after a bases-loaded single by Cleon Jones with two out in the seventh inning had tied the score at 3-3.

Ray Sadecki won in relief of Tom Seaver.

Jackson has harsh words with North

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — There is no peace in the Oakland A's' clubhouse these days but you'd never know it watching the World Champions play on the field.

In Detroit Wednesday, before the final game of a series with the Tigers, Reggie Jackson and Billy North, who have not spoken to each other for more than a month, squared off with their fists, not once but twice. Later, though, they took their places on the field and helped the A's to a 9-1 victory over Detroit.

Tonight after a day off, the A's start a three-game weekend series here with the Brewers. Jim Hunter, 8-5, pitches for Oakland against Ed Sprague, 21.

The Jackson-North breakup came at the beginning of May when Reggie chastized North for not running out an infield tap. The fact he did it in front of the whole team smacked of show-boating to North.

They had harsh words at the time and since have stayed clear of each other although Jackson claims he has tried to make peace at least a half dozen times.

Suddenly, and without much warning, the two squared off Wednesday. John Odom and Vida Blue pulled them apart but less than five minutes later they tusseled again with North pinning Jackson to the floor. This time Sal Bando and Ray Fosse broke things up.

"It's very bad," said Jackson of the situation with North, "but still I'm not mad at him, even when we were fighting I wasn't mad. I'm just embarrassed about it no matter who is right and who is wrong."

"I'm a man and I do the job I have to do," said North. "I don't have to like anybody or love anybody. As long as I do my job, everything will be all right."

A's Manager Alvin Dark, who knows a thing or two about player feuds, is steering clear of the whole mess.

"I never talk about things like that," said Dark, who was fired as A's' skipper his first time around when he became involved in players differences.

Almon wants new image for players

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — Billy Almon, on the verge of signing with the last place San Diego Padres of the National League, says he wants to change the "money-grubbing" image of professional athletes.

At the same time, the Brown University junior said Thursday he will not sell himself short. "I have an idea what I might be worth and I'm not going to ask for anything exorbitant or extravagent. The Padres might even be surprised," he said.

Almon, the No. 1 pick in this week's major league baseball free agent draft, will keep salary negotiations a family affair.

Unlike most professional athletes today Almon will not be represented by a free agent. His father Edward will be sitting with him at the negotiating table.

"There will be no third parties. With an agent talking for you, it automatically sets up the atmosphere that nobody trusts each other. Instead of being friendly, negotiations turn out to be battles," he said.

But Almon, 21, also knows where his bread is buttered. "My father and I talked it over and we decided that with an agent they automatically skim 10 to 20 per cent off the top for themselves. We would be letting somebody right into our pocketbook."

"Some players seem to be playing the game for the love of money instead of the love for the game. I really want to play ball," he said.

"I just don't want to be considered another player on the team but as part of the franchise."

He figures if he turns out to be a valuable player, the team will recognize that fact and pay him accordingly.

His heavy bat will be a welcome addition to the Western Division Padres who are 21 games behind the first place Los Angeles Dodgers.

In 66 varsity games with Brown, the 180-pound shortstop had a batting average of .357 with 13 homers and 89 hits. As a freshman he hit .536, getting 22 hits in 41 games.

He fully expects to be playing with the parent club this season. "They would like me to sign early. I'll be going out to the coast soon for a few days of work with the parent club and they will decide whether to keep me up or send me down to the minors.

"Even if they do send me down, I expect they would bring me up when the roster is expanded after Labor Day."

Spain will host WSC

FRANKFORT, Germany (UPI) — The 1982 World Soccer Cup will be played in Spain, sources in the International Football Federation (FIFA) disclosed Thursday.

The sources said the FIFA Congress would choose Spain at its meeting here June 11 as a result of the withdrawal of Yugoslavia's application to stage the tournament. No other country has applied.

The 1978 World Cup is scheduled to be held in Argentina.

Calif. players lead West

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — California ball players dominated the NCAA District 8 all-star team announced Thursday.

Gene Delyon, a Santa Clara University outfielder, was the only repeater to the team selected by collegiate coaches in Washington, Oregon and California.

Joining Deylon in the outfield were Marv Chamberlain of Washington State and Tim Corcoran of Los Angeles State.

Jim Willis of Oregon was selected as first baseman. Mike Edwards of UCLA, shortstop Randy Cooper, California, and third baseman Rich Dauer of USC rounded out the infield.

Sports parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Fregosi, the Texas Rangers' veteran, was right there in the middle of the whole thing Tuesday night in Cleveland.

He says he's sure it'll never happen again.

How sure, I asked him?

Positive, he said.

Jim Fregosi has been around awhile. He's been around the majors alone 14 years. He's an especially sharp observer and a good thinker, but in this case I have to disagree with him.

He's talking about the future after what happened Tuesday night at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium where a substantial portion of the 25,134 fans on hand for a 10-cent beer night promotion got a little sloppy, spilled out on the field and converted it into a madhouse.

I think what took place in Cleveland the other night not only can happen again, but will happen again.

Maybe not necessarily in the same place and in the same way, but somewhere along the circuit, and in some related way.

Why?

For any number of reasons, but basically for the best one I know — plain, old fashioned human nature.

Billy Martin, the Rangers' manager, says he never has seen anything like what happened the other night before in all his years in baseball, but that's because he hasn't been around long enough.

In the very ballpark he made his reputation, Yankee Stadium, I saw a terrible full-scale riot develop simply because some people were being rained on in the open bleachers there. One person was trampled to death. That was in Babe Ruth's time.

People don't change much down through the years.

Going on long time

Riots at sports events have been going on a long time.

South America is considered the mother country for them. Maybe you still remember how hundreds of fans were killed during a riot at a soccer game in Lima, Peru, more than 10 years ago. The one was so bad, many of the dead were carried out of the stadium by their friends.

Psychologists claim many of the riots frequently result from the fact that fans have a way of identifying with the athletes. The fans begin thinking of themselves as actually being these athletes they're watching and then look around for some other fan to compete against. Generally, these feelings come out in the form of competitive hostility wherein Fan A throws a punch at Fan B. Before you know it there's a fight, and with thousands of others around, if the fight gets out of hand, it can easily grow into something very close to a riot. Add some beer, and you've got more trouble yet.

But let's listen to Jim Fregosi and what makes him so positive there'll never be a repetition of Tuesday night's trouble.

"A number of things created what happened and I don't think these same things will ever again come to a point in exactly the way they did this time," he says. "Number one was the fight we had with the Cleveland players in Texas. It was built up by the media to draw people to the ballpark."

(Objection: When you can't blame anyone else, blame the media. It's convenient and seldom fights back. Often when the media does nothing more than report, it is accused of exaggerating. But this is Jim Fregosi talking, so let's allow him to continue.)

Closeness of game

"The second reason it won't happen again was because this was beer night, and I don't think there'll be another one, and the third reason has to do with the closeness of the game. We were ahead 5-3 in the bottom of the ninth and they tied the score."

Fregosi can't say enough about the Cleveland players, whom the Texas players had fought with on the field in Arlington, Tex., last week over a brushback incident.

"They saved us," says the Rangers' 32-year-old infielder. "If not for them, it could've been a total disaster.

"We knew something was going to happen because it was beer night. Like I say, the Indians helped us. Their dugout is on the first base side so they got to Jeff Burroughs (Texas rightfielder who was having trouble with a fan) before we did. We ran out to try to help Jeff. Then the people started coming at us. To see them converging on you from all directions, God, it's weird! Bone-chilling. You looked into their eyes, you could see they were young kids and they were drunk. Most of them weren't trying to hurt anybody. They were just out there to be out there.

"One kid, about 19 or 20, ran up to me and I didn't know what he was going to do. I turned around quick and he said to me, "hey, man, if anybody tries to get you, I'll help you!""

There were a couple of other light moments after the umpires forfeited the game to the Rangers.

In the Texas dressing room, Fregosi went over to outfielder Tom Grieve, who had two homers and a single, and said to him:

"You know, with the game forfeited the way it was, none of those hits of yours count."

All three did, of course, but Grieve didn't know it. He was glum for a moment, then suddenly brightened.

"Well," he said, "I swung the bat good anyway."

Angels sign Miley, top choice in draft

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The California Angels Thursday announced the signing of Louisiana State University baseball and football star Mike Miley, their No. 1 choice in Wednesday's free agent draft.

Terms of the pact were not disclosed.

The 21-year-old Miley, of Metairie, La., a switch-hitting shortstop, will join the Angels in Detroit Friday and will work out with the club prior to reporting to Salinas of the California League June 13.

Drafted No. 1 by the Cincinnati Reds three years ago, the 6-1, 185-pound Miley decided instead to attend college and played quarterback for the LSU football squad in addition to baseball.

Miley hit .275 in 35 games this season for LSU. He had three home runs and 16 runs batted in and is regarded as an outstanding fielder.

A junior, Miley passed up another year of college athletic eligibility to sign with the Angels.

Phillies sign top draft pick

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday the signing of their No. 1 free agent draft pick, 18-year-old outfielder Lonnie Smith of Compton, Calif.

Smith, chosen Wednesday in the annual draft in New York, will report to the Phillies' Auburn, N.Y., farm club in the New York-Penn League, which begins its season June 22.

Terms of the signing were not disclosed.

Smith, who bats and throws right-handed, hit .418 with four home runs at Centennial High School in Compton this season.

Phillies minor league director Dallas Green said Smith was one of the "top-hitting high school prospects" available in this year's draft.

First woman

'Hens induct five

CLAREMONT — Five former Pomona College athletic stars, including the first woman in the 31-year history of the event, were enshrined as members of the Pomona College Athletic Hall of Fame during the annual spring sports banquet held Thursday night at the Los Angeles Police Academy in Elysian Park.

Heading the list of honored Sagehen athletes was Darlene R. Hard, Woodland Hills, class of 1961, former National Women's Singles Tennis Champion and who for four years, from 1958 to 1962, was ranked as the nation's No. 1 women's tennis player. A native of Los Angeles, Miss Hard now is a tennis instructor at the Vermont Canyon Tennis Club in Griffith Park.

Joining Miss Hard in the Pomona College Athletic Hall of Fame were H. Seymour Beek, Balboa; Ralph B. Pursche, Scottsdale, Ariz., and Milton Neil Schroth, Orinda, all 1955 graduates, and Peter Somfeld, Glendora, a 1933 graduate. The gathering was sponsored by the Pomona College Men's Club with Col. Allen T. Barnum, Santa Ana, presiding. The Pomona College Hall of Fame now has 58 members.

Each of the new Hall of Famers received a plaque from the United Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation, presented by Dr. Edward W. Malan, Pomona College director of athletics. After the dinner meeting the group attended the baseball game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Miss Hard, a native of Los Angeles, was a pre-med major during her undergraduate years at Pomona College but her success as a tennis player and a heavy tournament schedule in many parts of the world, forced her to cancel her hopes of becoming a pediatrician.

Instead, Malan recalled, Miss Hard "practically ran the tennis program while at college, instructing classes, putting on clinics and, of course, she was the mainstay of the women's team."

Malan, in reciting a few of Miss Hard's local, national and international achievements, said she won the Southern California junior tennis championships at 13, was national women's singles champion for two years, was ranked America's No. 1 women player for four years, she won seven doubles titles, including two mixed doubles championships, and on two occasions was runner-up for the women's singles championship at Wimbledon, the world's No. 1 tournament in England.

During her career Miss Hard also won the French and Italian singles and doubles titles, played on America's Wightman Cup teams for nine successive years and was captain of the Federation Cup matches.

Beek, a native of Loma Linda, who won four letters in varsity swimming and three letters in varsity water polo, was a school record holder in the 100-yard free style event and was captain of both the waterpolo and swim teams in his senior year. He also was anchorman on a conference record-setting relay team in 1953 and 1955. Beek now is program manager for the Aeronautics Division of Philco-Ford in Newport Beach.

Pursche, who was born in Torrance and now is a supervisor of operations in the Western marketing region of the Shell Oil Co., gained his place in the college's Hall of Fame for his participation in both football and baseball, lettering in each of his four undergraduate years in football as a wingback on offense and safety man on defense. Pursche also was co-captain of the Sagehen football team and the leading scorer in his junior year, and was elected to the All-Conference team in both his junior and senior years. One of his 33-yard field goals helped defeat Whittier in 1953.

Schroth, a native of Fullerton, lettered in football in each of his four undergraduate years, playing alternately as a center and a linebacker. He was co-captain of the Sagehen team with his co-Hall of Famer, Ralph Purche, in his junior year and was elected to the All-Conference team in his junior and senior years. Schroth also was selected on the small college All-Coast second team in 1953, and was a member of the first team in 1954. His biggest thrill as a Sagehen was running back a blocked field goal for 90 yards and a touchdown against Occidental. Schroth currently is professor of plant pathology and assistant dean for research at the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of California, Berkeley.

Somfeld, who was born in Stockton but graduated from the Bonita Union High School in 1929 after participating in football, baseball and track, was involved in both football and track in each of his four years at Pomona. He was captain of the frosh football team in 1929 and captain of the varsity track team in 1933.

He was selected for the All-Conference track team in 1932 and 1933, and still holds the Pomona College hammer throw record with a distance of 152-5¼ and the conference meet record at 148-3. Somfeld competed for the Los Angeles Athletic Club from 1934 to 1936 and during World War II coached track and field events for the U.S. Third Army track team in Europe in 1945. He is a retired plant manager and bank director.

Mage takes PBA lead in Downey

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

DOWNEY — You won't be surprised to find out that a lefthander from Washington leads the $75,000 Brunswick PBA National Championship after the first round of finals at Wonderbowl Downey.

But you will be surprised to find out that it's not Earl Anthony.

Anthony, who has led the tournament since it started on Monday, relinquished his lead for the first time in the eighth game of the head-to-head match play finals Thursday night as Seattle's Gary Mage edged past by two pins.

Qualifying play was completed earlier in the afternoon and Anthony, firing a 1721 eight game block, held a 202 pin lead over Mage. Gary had closed the gap somewhat, and forewarned all of what was ahead, by firing the high set of 1733, including a 299 game when a 6-pin refused to fall. Claremont's Tye Critchlow finished 49th for $370.

In the finals, Anthony had his worst round of the tourney in rolling 1605 and winning five games in addition to one tie. In the meantime, Mage was rolling along at a 220 clip with his 1764, and picked up seven wins in the eighth games. A bonus of 30 pins goes with each win.

The tourney continues today with two eight game blocks of match play being rolled. Then the top five will return Sunday for the TV style finals which will be aired nationally by CBS-TV as its Sports Spectacular.

Right now it's a two man show—Mage and Anthony — looming as favorites for the $9,000 first place prize.

Woody Hayes stays in guarded condition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Doctors said today that preliminary tests revealed Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes suffered a mild heart attack early Thursday morning.

A medical bulletin issued today by the OSU Athletic Department, said: "Based on the findings of electrocardiogram tracings, doctors have determined that OSU football coach Woody Hayes has suffered an acute miocardial infarction in the anterior wall of the heart. This appears to be stabilized at the present time and the patient has had a very good past 18 hours."

The bulletin also said that Hayes was also suffering from mild hypertension (elevated blood pressure) and elevated blood sugar (diabetes). Both conditions, the bulletin said, are frequently associated with a cardiac condition such as Hayes'.

The controversial but always colorful coach was rushed to University Hospital Thursday morning after suffering the chest pains.

Susie Berning carries lead in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Susie Berning, a diminutive part-time pro who was the tour's most improved player in 1967, carries a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Desert Inn-LPGA Golf Classic.

But the 5-foot-2, 115-pounder, who spends half the tour traveling in a motor home with her family, is convinced she's only now made the biggest improvement of her career.

Inspired by George Archer of the men's tour, Mrs. Berning adopted a side-saddle putting style and tore through the front nine of the 6,255-yard Desert Inn layout to finish Thursday's opening 18 holes with a five under par 68.

Even though starting her round with the back nine and only able to match par, the brown-haired native of Pasadena, Calif. was two strokes ahead of three other golfers.

Sandra Palmer, the winner of the first Desert Inn tournament in 1971,(Marlene Hagge and Donna Caponi Young were all tied for second with three under par 70s.

In with 71s, three strokes off the pace, were Laura Baugh, Sandra Post and Karolyn Kertzman. Eight others were tied at 72.

For Mrs. Berning, it was a reward of sorts for an almost bizarre training program in which she tried to develop a better way of lining up her sight with the hole and the ball.

"I had a brace on my neck and a patch over one eye," she said of her early efforts. The 32-year-old Mrs. Berning, now a resident of Lake Tahoe, Nev., then turned to her new neighbor—Archer.

"After he told me the 11 things I was doing wrong, I was almost in tears," she said. "I went home and really worked hard on all my faults. Themain thing was my eyes. I wasn't keeping them on the ball as I putted. I'm too short to stand the normal way."

Actually, she said, Archer advised her not to resort to the unorothodox side-saddle approach after she suggested it.

WATCH THE BIRDIE—John Schlee reacts to his sinking a birdie putt on the 17th tee as he shot a 66 to take the first day lead in the Philadelphia Classic Thursday.

Schlee leads par-busters into second round of IVB

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Forty-nine par-busters, led by John Schlee with a six-under 66, swung into the second round of the $150,000 IVB Golf Classic today in pursuit of a $30,000 first prize purse.

Playing under sunny skies with increasing temperatures and humidity, the touring pros continued their devastating play, although it was thought that scores would be higher here than last week at the Kemper Open in Charlotte, N.C., where only those who broke par made the 36-hole cut.

Performance here Thursday seemed to give credence to the criticism defending IVB champion Tom Weiskopf leveled at "those who set the course up for tournaments." He said that courses played "too easy" for the pros.

Behind Schlee as the race to make the cut continued, were Charles Sifford and Tom Jenkins with 67s, five pros with 68s, a dozen at 69 and 13 others with two-under 70s on the suburban 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley course.

There were 15 pros at 71, including defending titlist Weiskopf, who has won here twice in the last three years, Masters winner Gary Player and Australian Bob Charles.

Johnny Miller, who will defend his U.S. open title at Mamaroneck, N.Y., next week, shot par.

Weiskopf's criticism of the courses on the tour did not satisfy Bob Menne, winner of last week's Kemper Open, which he took in a sudden death playoff with Jerry Heard by sinking a 30-foot birdie putt.

Menne, after firing a 69 on the tighter fairways and smalled greens of Whitemarsh, said, "Well, that course last week was the only one that ever played easy for me."

Menne said he believes that the lower scores on the tour result from an improvement in the caliber of play.

"These young fellows come out of college today ready to win," he said. "They're solid players. That's why scores are down. Also, they're not afraid of the big names."

Schlee, who describes himself as "defending runnerup" at the Open next week, has been on the tour for nine years. His only tournament victory was the 1973 Hawaiian Open.

Ogawa wins

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Yosh Ogawa, 138, Tokyo, scored a unanimous 10-round decision win over Nacho Casteneda, 138, Durango, Mexico, at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

In Hacienda League

Spring football finished

The four local Hacienda League schools completed their spring football sessions after 12 days of workouts.

San Dimas coach Bob Baiz welcomed 43 varsity and 50 junior varsity gridders to the Saints' spring trailng.

"Our goal was to see what kids we'll have in the fall since we have six returning from last year's team," said Baiz, who will be starting his fourth year as head coach. "We brought up seven from last year's undefeated freshman team and the remainder from a fine junior varsity club.

"Our objective was to take a look at these youngsters and see if we can come up with some winning combinations. I think we'll be a fairly good team. We'll have some fine running backs in Shelley White, the hurdler, and Paul Willman and Richard Burk have looked good.

"Kevin Pokrajac looks like he'll do a good job at quarterback last year."

Just as San Dimas completed its drills last Friday, so did Bonita High.

Coach Pete Lopez greeted 43 varsity and 36 junior varsity performers for the annual limbering up session.

"Our goals primarily were to look at the personnel," said the third year head coach. "We wanted to see how they've developed.

"We tested them on agility, speed, quickness, threw the ball around a lot and worked on kicking by conducting contests."

The Bearcats will have everybody back in their key positions which will add up to what looks to be a very balanced up and coming league season.

"I think the league will be as tough as it's ever been," said Lopez.

"Royal Oak will be tough even though they lost a lot from last year's team and Alta Loma and Ontario look to be strong. San Dimas is building but they have the biggest backs in the league. Sierra Vista will be tough if they come up with a quarterback and Walnut is always a threat."

Doug Brooks welcomed 35 varsity and 20 junior varsity athletes to his spring sessions which concluded Thursday with what Brooks described as a 'very good looking scrimmage.'

"We were quite pleased with our game yesterday. Everybody that's back looked real good. Joe Jefferson looked good, Marcus Jenings, up from the JV's looks to be a good runner, my son Doug Brooks is a real fine blocker and runs well (fullback)."

Like the other skippers, Brooks tries to use the spring meetings as a chance to get the offense down pretty good as far as techniques are concerned." "We also stress a lot of defensive secondary work since contact drills are not allowed in the spring."

And like his coaching peers, Brooks sees the Hacienda League as a well balanced effort but gives the nod to Royal Oak because it was league champs in varsity as well as junior varsity last year.

Walnut coach Ken Gunn listed five goals he hoped to achieve, in the spring session that ends today, when he greeted a combined 94 varsity and junior varsity footballers 12 days ago.

"We hope to select the top 35 to 40 for varsity and to establish a feeling of team unity," said the six year Mustang coach. "We also tried to find an offense and defense that best suits the talents of our personnel. We tried to identify all our kicking specialists and teach as many fundamentals as possible.

"The practices have gone much easier so far this year than in recent years because they're so young. And young kids tend to get enthused easily."

Rockets sign No. 5 choice

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association Thursday announced the signing of their No. 5 draft choice, Owen Wells of the University of Detroit.

The 6-7 Wells played both forward and guard at Detroit, averaging 20.6 points and 8.8 rebounds per game last season. Coach Johnny Egan said Wells would be used at both positions.

"He has blinding quickness and is a fine offensive player, but the main reason he was drafted by us was for his defensive ability," Egan said.

Woman Achiever awards

Nomination now open

The Progress-Bulletin will repeat its Woman Achiever Awards program this summer as part of the Women's Department special club edition to be published July 23.

The awards program was originated in 1966 when Pomona Valley residents had an opportunity to nominate outstanding women for service to their community. This year four women will be named in the special edition and tribute will be paid them for their contributions of time and service to their community at a luncheon later in July.

The nomination blanks must be returned to the Women's Department of the newspaper not later than June 12.

Fact sheets for club inclusion in the annual Pomona Valley Women edition have also been sent to the president or publicity chairman of every club listed with the Women's Department. The deadline for return of the club forms is June 21.

Additional Woman Achiever forms for nominating persons may be obtained at the cashier's desk in the lobby of the Progress-Bulletin.

Cynthia Coleman wed in Chapel of Bells

Chapel of the Bells in Ontario was the setting for the marriage of Miss Cynthia Coleman and Gary G. Holiman.

The Rev. Lee Kirk performed the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Coleman of Chino and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Holiman, also of Chino.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess-styled gown of imported satin with a lace bodice and long sleeves trimmed in seed pearls. Her veil was of silk illusion.

A crescent of gardenias, stephanotis and baby's breath was carried by the bride.

Serving as maid of honor was Bonnie Dekkenga. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Haley, Mrs. Pam Proulx and Miss Brenda Holiman, sister of the groom.

The bride's sister and brother, Janissa Coleman and John Coleman, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Tony Rocha was best man. Ushers were Don Hermans, Gary Brindamour and Brad Coleman, brother of the bride.

A reception at the Arbor restaurant in Upland honored the couple. The groom's sisters, Judy and Carla Holiman handled the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Holiman will make their home in Montclair after a wedding trip along the California coast.

GRINGOLET'S old school house

Clean-up campaign scheduled

If a couple of Camp Fire Girls have their way, the western shore of Puddingstone Dam Lake will be spick and span by Saturday evening.

Sue Gustin and Val Brown, members of the Horizon Club led by Mrs. Kitty Ellington, are recruiting volunteers to help clear the shoreline of bottles, cans and other litter. The clean-up campaign is scheduled between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Volunteers can reach the area by taking the old road to the lake which is part of Frank Bonelli regional park.

Members of Susan Maudal's Camp Fire Girls group will assist in the project.

Subsitutes

Teacups, custard cups and muffin tins make good substitutes for individual salad molds.

Reports given by delegates

A report on the Lutheran Women's Missionary League Southern California district convention was given by Mrs. Alberta Timken and Mrs. Donna Jean Singleton at the Thursday meeting of the LWML meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church parish hall.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Grace Fleischmann.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ruth Blecker and Mrs. Hyacinth Kalousek.

RESOLUTION NO. 74-122

A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ACKNOWLEDGING THE FILING OF THE WRITTEN REPORT OF THE CITY ENGINEER WITH THE CITY CLERK SETTING FORTH THE CHARGES PRESCRIBED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1673, KNOWN AS "THE CODE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA", ADOPTED MAY 22, 1960, FOR SERVICES AND FACILITIES FURNISHED BY THE CITY OF POMONA OUTSIDE ITS TERRITORIAL LIMITS IN CONNECTION WITH ITS SEWAGE SYSTEM AND SETTING A HEARING THEREON AND DIRECTING THE CLERK TO GIVE NOTICE OF THE HEARING AS PRESCRIBED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1537 AND ORDINANCE NO. 1673.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Pomona as follows:

SECTION 1. That on the 31st day of May, 1974, the City Engineer filed a written report with the City Clerk, attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference and marked Exhibit "A", setting forth the charges prescribed by Ordinance No. 1673, known as the Code of the City of Pomona, California", adopted May 23, 1960, for services and facilities furnished by the City of Pomona outside its territorial limits in connection with the sewage system of the City of Pomona.

SECTION 2. The Council of the City of Pomona hereby orders that a public hearing to be held upon said report, and fixes Monday, the 24th day of June, 1974, as the day of the public hearing at the hour of 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers, located at 505 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California. Any interested person may appear and be heard in relation to the report and any matter contained therein.

SECTION 3. The Clerk is ordered to publish this resolution once a week for two successive weeks in the Progress-Bulletin with at least five days intervening between the respective publication dates not counting such publication dates. The period of notice shall commence upon the first day of publication and terminate at the end of the fourteenth day, including therein the first day in accordance with Section 6066 of the Government Code. The above newspaper is printed and published in the City of Pomona and the area outside the City of Pomona affected by the report.

SECTION 4. The Clerk is ordered to mail to each person to whom any parcel or parcels of real property described in the report is assessed in the last equalized assessment roll available on the date the report was filed at the address shown on the assessment roll or as known to the Clerk, a copy of this resolution.

SECTION 5. The Council will at the hearing consider all objections or protests, if any, to the report attached hereto as Exhibit "A". If the Council finds that protest is made by the owners of a majority of separate parcels of property described in the report, then the report shall not be adopted and the charges shall be collected separately from the tax roll and shall not constitute a lien against any parcel or parcels of land.

Exhibit "A"
REPORT OF THE CITY ENGINEER
OF THE
CITY OF POMONA

The charges prescribed by Ordinance No. 1537 entitled "AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, PRESCRIBING FEES FOR SERVICES AND FACILITIES FURNISHED BY THE CITY OF POMONA OUTSIDE ITS TERRITORIAL LIMITS IN CONNECTION WITH ITS SEWAGE SYSTEM AND PROVIDING THAT THE FEES BE A LIEN ON THE REAL PROPERTY SERVED, AND PROVIDING FOR THE PROPERTY OWNER SERVED TO EXECUTE A CONTRACT AS PROVIDED IN ORDINANCE BEFORE RECEIVING SERVICE", and adopted June 30, 1958, amended by Ordinance No. 2322, adopted December 15, 1969, provides that the charges prescribed for the fiscal year 1974-75 shall be collected on the tax roll in the same manner and by the same persons and at the same time and together with and not separately from its general taxes. The City Engineer herewith submits to the Council of the City of Pomona by filing with the City Clerk, the report of the charges as prescribed by the Ordinance. The list hereto attached consisting of seven pages contains a description of each parcel of real property receiving such services and facilities and the amount of the charge for each parcel for the year, computed in conformity with the charges prescribed in the Ordinances.

DATED THIS 31st day of May, 1974.

EDWARD R. JAMES, City Engineer

'Airport 1975'

Movie spectacular boasts spectacular expenses

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The make believe of movies can be spectacularly expensive as director Jack Smight discovered with "Airport 1975," which he is currently shooting on Stage 23 at Universal Pictures.

Smight sat in a canvas backed chair waiting for one of his assistants to assemble 120 actors for a scene inside a jumbo jet 747.

"This mockup cost $1.5 million," the director said. His budget for the entire film is only $5 million.

"Fortunately, we didn't have to build it from scratch," he went on. "It was put together here at Universal by the studio and Pan-American Airlines. It is used for television commercials and other film rentals."

The mockup from the inside is genuine in every detail. A visitor is easily convinced he is aboard the big jet plane itself.

"We're shooting about half the picture in the plane," said Smight.

Asked why they bothered with the mockup instead of filming on board the real thing, Smight replied:

"We're going to Salt Lake City for a week of shooting exteriors, and we'll shoot inside a real plane up there. But it will cost us $40.000 a day. Here at the studio we rent the mockup for lots less on a weekly basis. It's still plenty expensive."

It is also more safe. The insurance costs alone for the use of a 747 —which costs $20 million —is almost prohibitive.

All Pan-Am insignia were removed from the mockup and the interior of the plane was color coordinated with the stewardess uniforms by none other than Edith Head.

Three airlines stewardesses are in the cast and an airlines pilot is acting as technical advisor on the film which stars Charlton Heston, Karen Black, George Kennedy and Gloria Swanson.

In addition to the mockup of the enormous passenger compartment, a mockup has been made of the flight deck of a 747. Cost: $400,000.

The flight deck will not be amortized in other pictures or commercials because it is wrecked in the course of the pictures.

The real excitement of the picture is a mid-air collision between the super jet liner and another aircraft — which doesn't thrill the airlines or their executives.

In the course of the film a jet helicopter delivers another pilot to the stricken plane by flying above and ahead of the 747.

Air Force acrobatic teams are working out the wrinkles on the stunt which promises to be one of the most spectacular in recent movie memory.

"For interior scenes in the passenger cabin we're trying to give as realistic an impression as possible," Smight said. "We're not removing sections of the plane to facilitate camera angles because audiences will be distracted by that."

What Smight has in mind is convincing audiences they are sitting inside a jet liner that has suffered a mid-air crash. If he succeeds it should be a big boost to Amtrak and slow boats to China.

Bit Parts: Jose Ferrer, scheduled to star in the new "Everything Money Can't Buy" series, will be replaced before the show makes its fall debut ... Henry Fonda's one-man show, "Clarence Darrow," will be seen as a TV special Sept. 4 via NBC ... Vanessa Redgrave will star in "Winter Rates" for Lorimar Productions.

CALYPSO COMIC — Cleavon Little stars in Derek Walcott's new calypso comedy, "The Charlatan," playing through July 7 at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center. Little won a Tony Award as star of the Broadway musical hit, "Purlie." The Walcott comedy, having its world premiere, also stars Paula Kelly, Lou Gossett and James Woods.

Couple to tour U.S. in London double-decker

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. David Roy and her husband left today for a six-month tour of the United States in a London double-decker bus.

"We spent five months touring Europe with it," she said in an interview. "Some of the craziest things happened."

The Roys, both 25, married last year and spent $2,400 converting the worn bus into a two-story home and moved into it at Braintree, Essex.

Pomona chorus set for Downey festival

DOWNEY — The Pomona Community Chorus, directed by Ray Woods, is one of eight chorales that will take part in the second annual Downey Choral Festival at the Downey Theater at 7:30 p.m. next Friday.

Myron Floren, accordionist with the Lawrence Welk Orchestra, will conduct the massed choruses, a group of 250 voices.

The festival is sponsored by the Downey Civic Chorus directed by Marjorie Fuller. Community choruses will come from Santa Monica, Burbank, Cerritos and other cities. Each group will perform individually, then sing as one chorus under Floren.

The accordionist was host to the Downey Civic Chorus recently in the Myron Floren Musical Extravaganza with the Welk orchestra and stars of the television show. The event, held at the Forum in Inglewood, was a benefit for the Centenela Valley Hospital.

Floren, a native of South Dakota, took up the accordion at 7, and a year later was entertaining crowds at the Day County Fair. At 9 he won both first and second prizes in a local amateur contest. He worked his way through Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D., giving accordion lessons, and began to perform professionally at the age of 19.

Floren is now in his 24th year with the Welk orchestra. In addition to appearing on the weekly television show, he travels throughout the nation performing at special events, usually benefits.

Tickets for the Downey Choral Festival can be obtained at the theater box office or from chorus members.

IRVING WALLACE has sold his latest novel, "The Fan Club," to Columbia Pictures. It tells of four kooks who kidnap filmdom's leading sex sumbol for their own pleasure.

CHECKING THE TRUNK — A curious elephant looks over a visiting station wagon at Lion Country Safari, while equally curious visitors get a closeup view of him. Though called Lion Country, the Orange County entertainment park has a wide variety of animals. The center opens at 9 a.m. daily, rain or shine. The last car is admitted at 6 p.m.

To Inglewood Forum

Ringling Bros. Circus returning

INGLEWOOD — The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will return to the Forum July 16-31. This is the 104th edition of "the greatest show on earth."

Performances are set at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays, 10:30 a.m., 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturdays, and 1:30 and 6 p.m. Sundays. Tickets are available at the Forum box office, Ticketron and Mutual outlets.

This year's show will feature 24 acts making their American debuts. Among the performers making their first appearances in the United States are:

The mixed animal thriller presented by Erhard and Christiane Samel of the German Democratic Republic, the first attraction ever seen here from that country; teeterboard stars Kehaiovi of Bulgaria and Oblockis from Poland; Cossack riders, the Dimitrovi, Ivanovi and Donevi Troupes; acrobatic combos, Valdemar and Duo Nunus; Poland's aerial wizard, Monastryruk; trapeze stars, The Berans of Poland and Liliano; The Angelos, The Mihailovi and Duo Laszlo, aerial artists.

Nostalgia time

3 'oldies but goodies' albums now on the market

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the Big Band era, orchestra leaders worked hard at developing vocalists because they had to move up front and take over the proceedings on almost every tune.

Some of the great stars of their time made their bid as soloists with orchestras. Among them were Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes and Harriet Hilliard.

Helen Forrest was an outstanding singer during those days. She began her upward spiral with Artie Shaw and then sidled over to Benny Goodman and Harry James.

Some of her finest songs were done with Goodman and those who do not have the old 78 rpms can enjoy the tunes again on a two Lp album, "Benny Goodman and Helen Forrest" (Columbia KG 32822).

Not Upstaged

Goodman is best remembered as a jazz and swing clarinetist in small groups but he also excelled as leader of a big band. And this was a big band with such musicians as Ziggy Elman, Charlie Christian, Cootie Williams Billy Butterfield and Teddy Wilson.

But Helen Forrest was not to be upstaged as she sang "Amapola," or "Yours" or "Lazy River."

These songs are included in this selection, along with "Taking a Chance on Love" and "I'm Nobody's Baby."

Tommy Dorsey had Sinatra as his vocalist for quite a while and some of their sides have been electronically processed for modern stereo equipment on "What'll I Do" (RCA APL10497).

Nostalgia evoked

The young Sinatra's mastery of phrasing was forecast in these sessions, particularly on "Blue Skies" and "The One I Love."

"Imagination" and "What'll I Do?" also seemed tailored to Sinatra's stylings, as well as "In the Blue of the Evening" and "We Three."

Both albums will stir up nostalgic visions among those who grew up with this music.

And for those who remember even farther back, "The 20's Score Again" by Bob Thiele and His New Happy Times Orchestra (Signature BSL 1055) is a delightful surprise.

Inspired by the renewal of interest in F. Scott Fitzgerald and "The Great Gatsby," Thiele's music is justifiably jazzy.

And it wouldn't be complete without "Muskrat Ramble" and "The Sheik of Araby," two of the warhorses of jazz.

Thiele has a good change of pace, sprinkling the session with tunes such as "Wolverine Blues" and "Farewell Blues" with the more lively "Indiana" and "Someday Sweetheart."

Glendale orchestra to play with ballet

LOS ANGELES — Members of the Glendale Symphony Orchestra will again play for all performances of the New York City Ballet in the Greek Theater Aug. 12 through 24.

Robert Irving, principal director; Hugo Fiorata, associate conductor; and assistant conductor and piano soloist Gordon Boelzner will be with the company in its 10th appearance in the Greek.

The opening program, August 12, 13 and 14, will include the new Jerome Robbins ballet, "Dybbuk," to a specially commissioned score by Leonard Bernstein and two ballets choreographed by George Balanchine: "La Source" to a score by Leo Delibes, and George Bizet's "Symphony in C."

Sixth annual

Claremont music fete to open at Pomona College

CLAREMONT — Season tickets are now on sale at Pomona College for the sixth annual Claremont Music Festival opening July 5. The program includes 12 concerts through Aug. 3.

Instrumental and vocal music from the Middle Ages to the avant garde will be presented, including world premieres of works by Paul Chihara, Karl Kohn and Bernard Rands and the first U.S. performance of Gyorgy Ligeti's "Fragments for Chamber Orchestra."

A new feature this season is the three chamber orchestra concerts on Sunday afternoons. As in past seasons, there will be four Wednesday evening chamber concerts featuring resident artists, and five Festival Orchestra concerts, conducted by Giora Bernstein, founder and music director of the festival. In addition there will be four free concerts by students and faculty.

Highlights of the programming include rarely performed chamber music by Danzi, Takemitsu, and Spohr, an all-Stravinsky program, and chamber concerts celebrating the centennials of Ives and Schoenberg. Among other unusual works are Schoenberg's orchestration of Brahms' "Piano Quartet in G Minor," "Deserts" by Varese, vocal music by Stravinsky, and a symphony of Frederick the Great.

More familiar fare includes Mahler's First Symphony, Mozart's "Linz" Symphony, Haydn's Sinfonia Concertante, Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite, concertos by Handel, Vivaldi, Haydon Berg, and Strauss, and chamber music classics by Brahms, Beethoven, Dvorak, and Bloch.

Another programming innovation will be music from the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance directed by Kohn in newly transcribed editions which seek an accurate recreation of this music, so often distorted when transcribed into modern notation.

Some 20 distinguished resident and visiting artists will be featured at the Claremont Music Festival this summer. Returning participants are violinists Charles Libove and Kenneth Goldsmith; violist Philip Goldberg; contrabass Bertram Turetzky, horn virtuoso Barry Tuckwell, percussionist Hal Rees, and pianists Kohn, Peter Hewitt and Nina Lugovoy.

New resident artists include cellist George Neikrug; flutist Jill Shires; oboist Richard Woodhams; Ben Kamins, bassoon, Malcolm McNab, trumpet; and Frances Woodhams, harp.

Guest artists will be alto Claudine Carlson; Mitchell Lurie, clarinet; organist David McVey; and two guest conductors: John Gosling, conductor of the North Carolina Symphony, and Edgar Braun, conductor of the San Francisco Chamber Orchestra.

GIORA BERNSTEIN

The complete programs:

July 5, 8:15 p.m.: Libove, violin; Neikrug, cello; Woodhams oboe; Kamins, bassoon. Sinfonia Concertante in B Flat for violin, cello, oboe and bassoon (Haydn); Symphony No. 1 in D Major (Mahler).

July 10, 8:15 p.m.: first performance of Encounters for Bassoon and Piano (Kohn); Trio in F for Violin, Horn and Bassoon (Danzi); "Eucalypts II" (Takemitsu); Trio in B Major for Violin, Cello, and Piano (Brahms).

July 12, 8:15 p.m.: Tuckwell, horn. Horn Concerto No. 2; (Strauss); Five Pieces for Orchestra, Op. 16 (Schoenberg-Greissle); "Deserts" (Varese).

July 14, 4 p.m.: Neikrug, cello. "Chacony in G Minor" (Purcell-Britten); Cello Concerto in D Major (Haydn); first performance of suite from "Shinju" (Chihara); Symphony in D Major (Frederick the Great).

July 17, 8:15 p.m.: "From the Steeples and the Mountains"; Adagio Sostenuto; Allegretto Sombreoso; "Tone Roads No. 3"; Scherzo: "Over the Pavements" (Ives); Octet in E for Clarinet, Two Horns and Strings (Spohr).

July 19, 8:15 p.m.: Miss Carlson, alto; Michael Sells, tenor; Libove, violin. Cantata No. 60 (Bach); Violin Concerto (Berg); Symphony No. 36 (Linz) in C (Mozart).

July 21, 4 p.m.: Gosling, guest conductor; Goldsmith, violin; Mrs. Woodhams, harp. "La Primavera" (Spring) from "The Four Seasons" (Vivaldi); "Danses Sacree et Profane," for harp and orchestra (Debussy); Eight Instrumental Miniatures (Stravinsky): Serenade in A, Op. 16 (Brahms).

July 24, 8:15 p.m.: Sacred and secular music from the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance. Instrumental and vocal ensemble under the direction of Kohn. First U.S. performance of "Fragments for Chamber Orchestra" (Ligeti); Quintet for Piano and Winds in E Flat (Beethoven).

July 26, 8:15 p.m.: Miss Carlson, alto. All-Stravinsky program. "Monumentum pro Gesualdo di Venosa"; Two Sacred Songs from Wolf's "Spanisches Liederbuch"; "La Faune et la Bergere," "Firebird" Suite.

July 28, 4 p.m.: Braun, guest conductor; McVey, organ. Organ Concerto in B Flat, No. 2 (Handel); Serenade in D Minor for Winds, (Dvorak); Concerto Grosso No. 1 for Strings and Piano (Bloch).

July 31, 8:15 p.m.: All-Schoenberg program. "Herzgewachse"; Wind Quintet; "Verklarte Nacht."

Aug. 3, 8:15 p.m.: Turetzky, contrabass. First performance of "Etendre" (Rands); Concerto for Four Violins in B Minor (Vivaldi); Piano Quartet in G Minor (Brahms-Schoenberg).

The concerts will all be held in Bridges Hall, Fourth Street off College Avenue, on the Pomona College campus.

Season subscriptions are $40, $32.50, $25 and $17.50 for students. All seats are reserved. Single tickets will go on sale June 17.

An illustrated brochure and ticket information may be obtained by writing the Claremont Music Festival, Pomona College, Claremont 91711 or by phoning 621-1112 or 626-8511, ext. 2242.

FLYING MOUSE — Dumbo the Flying Elephant takes Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and small friends on a trip through Disneyland as the amusement center prepares for its 85-day summer season opening next Friday. Nashville finally strikes it Rich

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Rich has been honored by his Nashville peers as the top male country singer of the year.

He should receive another award for patience.

Charlie has been around for years, singing both country and pop music. Not so many years ago, Rich often would break into a song that had the Presley sound but he never lost his own identity. Now he is on top as himself.

To really appreciate Rich's artistry, you have to associate him with a composer who wrote country music for posterity. And that would be Hank Williams.

In 1967 Charlie recorded an album of Williams' hit tunes. It has now been made available in a new pressing, "Charlie Rich Sings Country and Western" (Hi SHL 3203).

At that time Rich's voice had a popular music flavor which mixed nicely with Hank Williams' ballads such as "Your Cheating Heart."

When Williams introduced "Your Cheating Heart" early in the 1950's, Hank sang it in a fast tempo with a fine nasal twang. But the musical strategists saw commercial possibilities in the country tune and in a short time a young, unknown singer named Joni James put it at the top of the pop charts with a slow-moving, sexy-sounding version.

Rich, in this session, chose to follow a slow arrangement — more as a blues tune than a country composition. In doing so, he gave the song an ever broader dimension.

An up-tempo is required for another Williams' country hit, "Hey, Good Lookin'." It is quite possible that Rich foresaw the likelihood of country music moving toward the rock beat because his version of "Hey, Good Lookin'" is closer to 1973 than 1967.

Among the songs in this selection are "Half as Much," "Cold, Cold Heart," "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry" and "Wedding Bells." Rich gives each one his personal touch but preserves the original Williams idea.

★ ★ ★

Elvis Presley's latest album, "Raised on Rock, For Ol' Times Sake" (RCA APL 1-0388) is far removed from his Pristine efforts that made him the King of the 1950s. Yet it is still Elvis and it should appeal to the hausfraus who were the bobby soxers of his heyday.

When Presley returned to live performing in 1969 after a nine-year hitch before the movie cameras, he had lost none of the masculine drive that made him a sex symbol. But he was ready to accept new ideas and he kept his music moving forward.

That is the essence of this latest Presley performance. It has vitality from the beginning and Presley, with the help of amplified instruments, never really lets the pace slacken.

Most country singers are Southerners who have a strong religious background. Therefore, they are able to lend realism and sincerity to music with a religious theme. "God Is Abundant" by Connie Smith (Columbia KC 32492) is a good example. Connie is a beautiful country singer who has produced a library of excellent albums but this one is special, because perhaps it is personal.

Lipizzans returning to the West

"The Wonderful World of Horses," featuring the Royal Lipizzan Stallion Show, will be presented at four Southern California arenas during July.

The show will play the Forum in Indlewood July 6 and 7; the Long Beach Arena July 8 and 9; the Anaheim Convention Center July 13-14; and Swing Auditorium, San Bernardino, July 16 and 17.

The principal attraction will be the contingent of handsome Lipizzaners, whose equine bloodlines reach across Europe and back several centuries in time. Highly prized by the military aristocracies of the 16th through 18 centuries, the great white stallions were trained to leap and capriole in battle as a means of unbalancing and terrifying opposing foot soldiers. Originating in Spain, they were brought to Vienna, where, at the famous Spanish Riding School, the breed was perpetuated. The Lipizzaners performing in "The Wonderful World of Horses" are direct descendants of those bred and trained in Vienna.

Tickets are now on sale at box offices of all arenas and at all Southland agencies.

Television Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gary Collins and Diana Muldaur have been assigned the leading roles in Screen Gems' new "Born Free" series that NBC will present during the 1974-75 season. They have the roles of George and Joy Adamson, the African lion experts, and the series is based on her book about lioness Elsa and her offspring.

★ ★ ★

The musical soundtrack for ABC's two-part drama, "QB VII," broadcast over two evenings for a total of six and a quarter hours, has been released for sale by ABC Records.

★ ★ ★

Richard Burton will play Winston Churchill in a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama to be aired by NBC next season. "Churchill: Walk with Destiny" is a 90-minute teleplay that covers the pre-World War II years when the statesman was out of favor in England and predicting that catastrophe was just ahead. The climax is in 1940 when he was called to be Prime Minister at a time of extreme crisis.

Rush claims balanced '76 budget goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth Rush, newly appointed White House ounselor for economic policy, said that the administration has set a goal for a balanced budget for the 1976 fiscal year.

Rush also forecast a downturn in the rate of inflation to 7 per cent by the end of the year and told reporters at a "get acquainted" news conference that "I don't think Watergate has any impact on inflation."

Rush said the administration is taking stock of the 1975 and 1976 budgets to see where they can be cut. But he said it would be difficult to cut the budget by $5 billion as has been reported.

"We are not in a depression or a recession now," Rush said.

Baroque music to accompany art reception

ALTA LOMA — Baroque music will mark the opening of the annual student art show at 8 tonight in the Chaffey College Museum-Gallery.

A highlight of the two-hour reception will be some 45 minutes of entertainment by Paul Godby, Guy Hartman and Eugene Arday. Godby will play the harpsichord; Hartman, the recorder, and Arday, the violin.

Displayed through June 17 in the gallery will be about 70 art works by Chaffey College students. The works were selected for the exhibit from 300 submitted. The entries were juried by Jim Fuller, Scripps College art professor.

Refreshments, provided by students, will be served at the reception by women of the Museum-Gallery Community Auxiliary. The president of the auxiliary is Mrs. Shirley Bonneville.

Jim Bailey

Female impersonator doesn't like title

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — One of the hottest club acts these days is when Barbra Streisand, Judy Garland and Phyllis Diller come out and entertain you—and then they all turn out to be Jim Bailey, doing his devastating impersonations.

If you get a chance to see Bailey in action, grab it quick, because he won't be doing it too much longer.

Bailey says he hopes that, sooner or later, he'll be able to give up the impersonation business for good. He wants to be just himself, appearing as Jim Bailey and entertaining the public as Jim Bailey.

Bailey objects, understandably, to the old term "female impersonator" for what he does. It has come to be sort of a sleazy term. He'd rather you call what he does "character enactment." Whatever it's called, it's a smash.

But it was only designed as a kind of stopgap, a gimmick with which he could establish himself. Gradually, he plans to faze it out of his act. Already he's dropped his Mae West "character enactment" completely.

Bailey is a Philadelphian and his early goal was to be a concert pianist. But, after seven years of study, his teacher said, "You don't have it—have you ever considered singing?" So he considered singing.

He was doing fair to OK as a sinler, but no more. That is when he decided he had to have a gimmick. He had come to know Phyllis Diller well and he had a natural gift for mimicry and decided to impersonate her.

"I was afraid at first," he says. "It was so different for a singer. I worked at it five or six months before I began doing it in public."

He added Streisand and Garland and suddenly the gimmick began wagging the dog. People wanted to see Bailey as the ladies, and his singing—which is very good—was only secondary in the public's mind.

He's so accurate and funny with his take-offs that some of the audience refuse to believe he's doing them. One woman watched his Streisand bit. Later he met her and mentioned the fact that he had done it. She called him a liar.

Vincente Minelli, the director who was once married to Judy Garland, saw Bailey's Garland impersonation. He told Jim that it was so real he had to force himself to stay in his seat—he wanted to go up on stage and talk to her.

Bailey now considers himself an actor. He's gotten so good at acting parts that that's what he'd like to do. He says he might "revive" Barbra and Judy once a year. The rest of the time he'd like to be just good old Jim Bailey, the actor, or good old Jim Bailey the singer.

It may not happen, of course. He's in such demand that clubs are begging him to appear with his current act. It's going to be awfully hard to turn his back on that.

JIM BAILEY

New ballet to open at Inner City

LOS ANGELES — "Spaces Between," a new ballet by Bella Lewitzky, will highlight the performances of Bella Lewitzky Dance Company at 3:30 tonight and Saturday at Inner City Cultural Center.

"Spaces Between" is a non-literal ballet which seeks to design most of the space captured within the procenium frame. It presents movers and watchers caught in a cross-stage flow of action and occupying the spaces between.

Also on the program for both evenings are "Game Plan," "Bella and Brindle," "Fred and Rorem," "Company and Rodes" and "Ceremony for Three."

Quartet plans concert at Cal State

SAN BERNARDINO — The Leslie I. Harris String Quartet will perform music by 18th and 19th century composers in a concert in the physical sciences building at Cal State San Bernardino at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Guest artist Edward Casem will be featured in Clarinet Quintet No. 9 in A Major by Mozart.

Casem, a resident of Riverside, teaches at Norte Vista High School, Riverside as well as at Cal State.

Other selections on the program are Suite for String Quartet by Johann Fischer, and Brahms' Quartet No. 1 in C Minor.

The Harris String Quartet, in residence at Cal State, was formed a year ago. Members are Armen Turadian and Clyda Yedinak, violins; Victoria Shaprio, viola, and Catherine Graff, cello.

Capitol freedom

The statue of "Freedom" atop the Capitol Dome was sculptured in Italy by the American, Thomas Crawford, for $3,000. It is 19 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs 14,985 pounds. President Lincoln saw it being placed in position on Dec. 2, 1863.

Myriads of color

Fuchsias make hanging baskets

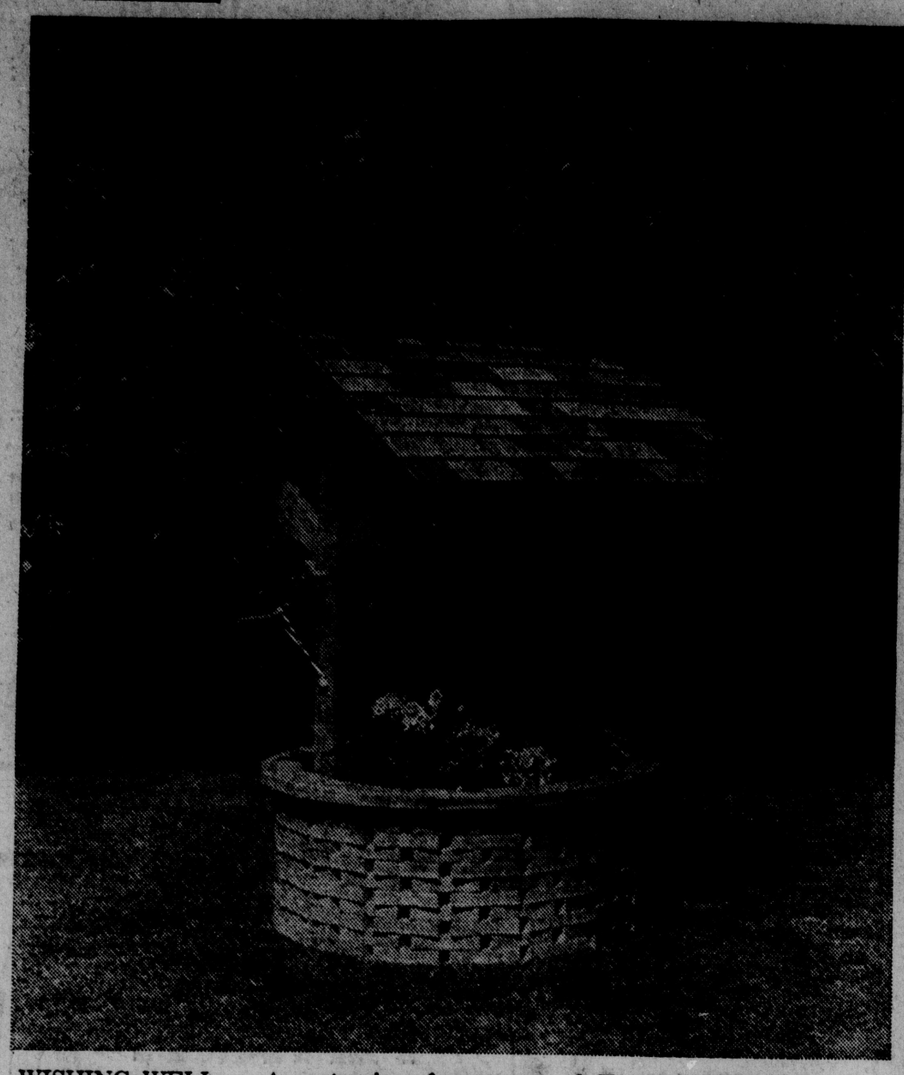
This is the year everyone is hanging them high! New color combinations in Fuchsia hanging baskets, graceful arching branches displaying myriads of color best enjoyed from below.

Fuchsia hybridizers have come up with upright and trailing varieties. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests you check labels of Fuchsias on display. The symbols TR or HB indicate trailing or hanging basket types. Other symbols on labels give further information about variety: C-red means the flower petals are red and S-white means the sepals (wrapped around the petals) are contrasting white. You can pretty well picture the flower before the plants are in bloom.

Select a plant, then pick out a basket. It can be pottery, plastic or wood. Fuchsia fanciers lean toward redwood because of the greater retention of water. This is helpful when it is inconvenient to water the plants for a period of several days. Always choose baskets with swivel hangers. Turning in gentle breezes exposes all sides equally to light.

Use the planting mix recommended by your nurseryman. Chances are, he has one already made up in convenient bags.

After planting, soak basket and all in a tub of water until bubbles stop rising. Use no fertilizer when planting, but feed with a liquid plant food recommended for acid-tolerant plants beginning a month later. Hang the basket in a place providing shade, but not excluding light, and protected from strong winds. Be sure to check frequently for water requirements. Fuchsias are magnificent friends to have around: a delight to the eye, refreshing to the soul.



WISHING WELL — A centerpiece f or your yard. Easy to make.

Wishing well adds a touch

Everyone knows that "clothes make the man," but let's twist that time-honored saying a bit to add . . . "accessories make the yard." You don't have to be a buff of Early American antiques to appreciate the handsome wishing well shown here. In addition to its decorative and rustic charm, it can also be a very practical garden center. The bucket may be planted with flowers or the artificial variety may be used.

Whenever you have an informal outdoor party, the well makes a novel and ideal centerpiece from which refreshments may be served. The old oaken bucket (pictured here with flowers) makes a dandy container for ice. The ledge around the edge may be used for hors d'oeuvres, beverages, glasses and things of that kind.

The full-size pattern lists the necessary materials along with step-by-step directions and photographs showing all steps in building. It's an easy and inexpensive project, something that will last a lifetime. The well shown was made of standard lumber sizes available from all lumber dealers. Redwood or red cedar are recommended, as either of these require practically no maintenance over the years.

To obtain the wishing well pattern No. 371, send $1.50 (add 25c for postage and handling or 50c for airmail) by cash, check or money order to:

Gardener's checklist

1. Cut back the old flowering stalks on delphinium. The plants will bloom again in the fall.

2. Bush roses can be lightly summer pruned for shape after they finish their spring bloom.

3. Bedding plants will provide quick garden color. Here is a partial list that are splendid summer performers: Marigolds, Zinnias, Asters, Periwinkle, Ageratum and Petunias. See your nurseryman for other summer blooming annuals.

4. You can plant all types of container grown trees and shrubs at this time of year.

5. Such plants as Azaleas, Camelias and Rhododendrons should be fed this month with an acid-type fertilizer. Roses, Fuchsias, Chrysanthhemums and Hibiscus need regular feeding with complete plant foods to keep lush growth and bloom coming on. Your nurseryman can guide you as to the proper foods to use.

Car accidents drop

The National Safety Council says the number of motor vehicle accidents in the United States dropped to 56,000 in 1973, about 1,000 fewer than in 1972. The sharpest decrease came in November and December at the start of the fuel shortage.

Now is the time to plant for color in fall gardens

Nurseries are filled with flats and containers brimming with ready-made color these days It's time to plan and plant ahead so that into fall, the garden will continue to be a colorful treat and retreat.

Few sights are more refreshing in the summertime landscape than a tree in bloom. Silk Tree is one of the most exotic looking; tough, hardy and a rather rapid grower. Its fern-like branches covered with pink fluffy flowers resembling pincushions. Because of its umbrella-like growth habit, it can serve as a canopy over terrace and patio. Deciduous Silk Tree will take alkali soils, lawn irrigation, and likes sun or filtered shade.

The California Association of Nurserymen reports there's also a large selection of color-bearing summer shrubs. Oleanders in shades of lavender pink, rose, red, yellow or white are invaluable in the hot, dry interiors, as they bloom generously and make practically no demands on the gardener. Oleanders are great in tubs, hedges or as background plantings.

Give cooperative Lantana full sun and it will provide masses of bright color wherever and whenever needed. There are dwarf, tall and trailing forms in the ever-favorite shades of orange reds and pinks; as well as soft lavender mauve and golden yellow.

For brilliant hued color and voliage near year round, Princess Flower is indeed a ruler of garden color. This evergreen shrub bears huge royal purple blossoms all spring and summer. Princess Flower performs best in somewhat acid soil with roots mulched for coolness in summer—in full sun.

Remember, annuals and perennials offer exciting prospects for splashes of color into fall . . . and that color comes in cans and flats at your local CAN nursery.

Floribunda roses mean mass of bright blooms

A Floribunda rose means mass bloom in bright beautiful shades that transform a garden into a quilt-work of color.

Many are perfect minatures of their hybrid tea parent. Because Floribundas have a long blooming period they are often used for sprays and color effects in gardens. Low growing they also make excellent low hedges along fences, drive way or borders.

Floribunda roses can still be obtained in containers, already blooming, and ready for planting. Select the sites for your Floribunda choices and place the plants, root balls and all into planting holes which should be twice as wide as the container and six inches deeper. Make sure that the original ball of soil sits up out of the ground anywhere from ¼ to 1 inch depending on how heavy the soil is in your garden. Allow for settling. Water and fertilize well.

There are a great number of Floribunda rose varieties to select from. Some of the most popular, says the California Association of Nurserymen, are the new 1974 selections, Bon Bon (orange-pink) and Bahia (pink and white). Others include Europeana (true red), Little Darling (pink), Gene Boener (pink), Ivory Fashion (ivory-white), Fire King (orange-red), Saratoga (pure white) and Fashion (coral and gold).

Engine fire, fire hazard on cars told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government warned Wednesday of the danger of potenially dangerous engine fires in about 200,000 eight-and nine-year old Chevrolets and Buicks.

Owners of about 135,000 recent model Ford Pinto station wagons were cautioned about a wheel problem that could cause tire blowouts.

In a preliminary report, the National Highway Traffic Safety Agency said a defect in the carburetors on some 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets and some 1966 Buicks could allow raw gasoline to spray on a heated engine.

'It was not known which models of the cars were equipped with the "Rochester Quadrajet units," a spokesman said.

In a separate action, the agency said it had been discovered that 1972 and 1973 Pinto station wagons had a metal "projection" inside their rear wheel wells which could cause blowouts.

According to the agency, the metal tabs, which have no operational use, can slash the tire's sidewall.

The GM investigation showed that a metal plug originally installed in the carburetors of the cars could drop out, leaving "a one-half inch opening from which raw gasoline may be sprayed onto the auto engine," the agency said.

The agency said GM failed to provide any foolproof means of keeping the metal plug in place.

In the consumer bulletin, the agency said the half-inch tabs inside Pinto station wagon wheels can be "easily bent down to eliminate risk." But it urged owners who have had tires damaged from the tabs to make a report to the Transportation Department, including the make, model and year of the car, and the size and serial number of the tire.

Loser now favored to succeed Moretti

VAN NUYS (UPI) — Tom Bane, whose political career was slowed down when he lost a Congressional election to Ed Reinecke in 1964, has emerged as a favorite to take over Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti's vacated assembly seat.

Bane, 60, scored a 2-to-1 victory Tuesday in the Democratic primary in the 40th district, which Moretti has represented since 1965. Moretti, a losing candidate in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, had to give up his chance at re-election to run for governor.

A representative of the district for six years before his unsuccessful bid against Reinecke in 1964, Bane will face Republican Max C. Yost in November. Yost scored a narrow win in the Republican primary.

With heavy Democratic registration in that district, Bane is considered to be a strong threat for the seat.

A former chairman of the assembly's Rules Committee before his unsuccessful bid against Reinecke, he has worked as a savings and loan executive since then.

He was supported in the primary by state Sen. Alan Robbins of North Hollywood, who once worked in Bane's Sacramento office. Moretti did not back a candidate in the primary.

Saving & Loans are improving

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I hold shares of United Financial Corp. of California (NYSE). I would like your analysis of the prospects for this company. — J. V.

A — With moneyrates at near-recordlevels, the immediate outlook for savings and loans is not appealing. Looking beyond the current situation, however, prospects appear brighter. Interest rates are expected to begin easing shortly, which would reduce the amount of disintermediation (outflow of money from savings accounts to higher yielding investments) being experienced by savings institutions. Loan demand should also pick up in response to any lowering in interest costs. Near-record mortgage rates have put a lid on new building, a situation which should improve in the latter half of the year.

United Financial has felt the impact of the negative conditions; loan originations were off 10 per cent in the first quarter, savings inflows were flat year to year and net income dropped 5.5 per cent. If money conditions ease in line with the expected timetable, United could report higher earnings again this year. Shares at only 5x possible 1974 net have excellent upside potential.

Saxbe warns of evils in 'businessmen's Watergate'

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe today warned the nation's businessmen that free enterprise may be wrecked if they do not face up to "personal Watergates" and stop cutting corners with the law.

Saxbe said the public "will not be tolerant" of ripoffs, rigged bids, hidden assets, bribes, price fixing or deals with organized crime.

While Watergate scandals have eroded public trust in government, Saxbe said, private business also has a "seamy side that could lead to a devastating loss of public confidence."

The 11 major corporations that pleaded guilty during the past year to making illegal campaign contributions show that an individual in private industry as well as public business has "his own personal Watergate," Saxbe said. He said more and more seem to fail to measure up.

"If enough parts of the ledger sheet are added up we can begin to see indications that the drive to cut corners is so fierce that our entire free enterprise system could be wrecked," Saxbe said.

Saxbe, who warned about effects of lax morality in government Thursday in a commencement address at the Ohio State University Law School at Columbus, turned to business ethics in a speech prepared for the Toledo Area Governmental Research Association.

A Justice Department spokesman said Saxbe plans to discuss the need for higher standards of moral responsibility in four of five speeches he is making in a four-day tour of his home state.

In his warning to the "business community," Saxbe said "we cannot expect to have an honest, moral society if we shave our own ethics and cut corners with the law."

Saxbe said one of the problems "is the feeling among too many in the business community that any means are acceptable to achieving profits and that the crime is not in the doing but in the getting caught."

He said, "there are more ways to be caught than simply having the FBI or the SEC (Securities and Exchange Commission) pay a call. Businessmen can get caught by the public as well."

People will not continue to buy products of firms they mistrust, Saxbe said, there are limits to the "reservoir of trust" in business.

"And if they have no choice but to buy, there still may be a resentment that will simply bide its time for a chance to be felt."

Kissinger in press ambush on wiretaps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met with newsmen Thursday to report on his Mideast peace making triumph, but instead faced a barrage of questions from reporters trying to find out whether he authorized White House wiretaps on his employes.

After answering one question on European affairs and one concerning Soviet influence in the Mideast the Secretary was hit by the first of a series of questions on the illegal surveillance conducted by the White House "plumbers".

A reporter told him that House Judiciary Committee members Thursday heard evidence that Kissinger, H.R. Haldeman and White House chief of staff Alexander Haig had specifically requested that former Attorney General John Mitchell conduct the 17 so-called national security wiretaps.

Kissinger said he had not heard the report, then added defensively, "I have attempted to serve the government in an honorable way for the past five and one half years."

After more questions, Kissinger was asked whether he recommended the wiretaps. "I did not make a direct recommendation," he said. "But as (former Attorney General) Elliot Richardson pointed out, that in the context of the general program that existed, the supplying of names led to the wiretapping of some individuals who had had access to the documents in question."

When asked what kind of recommendations he had made, Kissinger snapped: "I think this is a press conference and not a cross examination."

Kissinger, who denied making any recommendations for the bugging in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said his testimony was supported by Richardson, Haig and FBI files found in Ehrlichman's safe.

"I do not propose to engage in any further discussion of this episode," he said.

But another questioner asked Kissinger if he could reconcile the contradictory statements, say whether any prosecutor or agency of the U.S. government had contacted him in reference to a perjury investigation, or if he had retained counsel against a possible perjury indictment.

"I have not retained counsel and I am not conducting my office as if it were a conspiracy ... I will answer no further questions on this subject," Kissinger said.

A reporter said that former White House aide Charles Colson last month swore in a court deposition that Kissinger had known as long ago as July 14, 1971 that his aide, David Young, had been assigned to the "plumbers" unit, which was created by President Nixon to investigate Daniel Ellsberg.

The questioner said Colson testified that on the following day over Kissinger's objections Nixon assigned Young to the unit and told Kissinger and former Presidential aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehlrichman about it during a helicopter ride.

Kissinger had previously testified that he had never known of the existence of the "plumbers" by that or any other name, and had no idea that Young was engaged in a security operation.

Sobs after hearing court decision

Kleindienst spared jail term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst was spared going to jail today for a guilty plea to a misdemeanor count in connection with Watergate. He rushed sobbing from the courtroom.

A judge suspended both a 30-day jail sentence and a $100 fine he imposed on Kleindienst.

Federal Judge George L. Hart showed a sympathetic attitude toward Kleindienst for failing to give full answers to certain questions at his 1972 Senate confirmation hearing for attorney general, saying the 50-year-old lawyer's action showed "a heart too loyal and considerate of others."

Kleindienst's testimony concerned handling of a government antitrust suit against International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The judge gave Kleindienst a one-month jail sentence, then suspended it.

He could have received as much as a year in jail and a fine of $1,000. Since the offense was a misdemeanor rather than a felony, Kleindienst probably will escape disbarment. Some lawyers who were connected with the administration and Nixon re-election campaign became automatically vulnerable to disbarment because of felony conviction in the case.

Kleindienst met with reporters outside after his emotional rush from the courtroom after hearing the sentence and said:

"The tragedy of the last two years amply demonstrates that all of our institutions of freedom have worked and have worked successfully and admirably. There isn't another country in the world where persons situated in the highest seats of power would have had the application of justice as occurred here."

Kleindienst had testified at his Senate Judiciary Committee confirmation hearings that no administration leaders had put any pressure on him in 1971, when he was deputy attorney general, to halt government antitrust action against ITT.

President Nixon and Kleindienst subsequently disclosed they discussed the matter by telephone and that Nixon demanded that a court ruling in the case, adverse to the government's efforts to force ITT to divest some of its holdings, not be appealed.

Kleindienst was the second Cabinet officer this century to be convicted or plead guilty to a crime in connection with his official duties. The other instance came as an outgrowth of the Teapot Dome scandal in the 1920s.

KILLER TORNADO LEAVES WIDE DEVASTATION

A car looks like a discarded toy in wake of killer tornado that struck Forrest City, Ark., Thursday before dark. Police said that at least four persons and possibly six were dead and hundreds injured.

4 dead, 100 hurt as tornado hits shop center

FORREST CITY, Ark. (UPI) — Torrential rains and flash flooding hampered search efforts today for more victims of a tornado that smashed into a shopping center and skipped through a residential section Thursday afternoon.

At least four and possibly six persons were dead. More than 100 were injured.

The St. Francis County sheriff's office initially reported eight bodies were found in the rubble of a Gibson discount store in the shopping center. But deputy sheriff Joe McCollum said this morning there were six dead. "It just got confused," McCollum said. "They must have counted some twice."

State police said they could only confirm four dead "although there well may be six."

But there was no mistaking the devastation wrought on Forrest City, a Mississippi River delta town of 12,763 about 35 miles west of Memphis. Early estimates placed the damages at $10 million.

All of the bodies were found in Gibson's which along with an adjoining Kroger's grocery store took the full force of the tornado.

"It's worse than anything I've ever seen," said State police Lt. Ken McFarran of the damage at the shopping center. "The debris is shoulder deep."

McFarran said the going was very slow in the shopping center area where searchers were still looking for bodies. Rains and flash flooding also hampered their efforts.

McFarran said there had been "extensive" looting earlier but now the city was sealed off and he expected no further problems.

The death toll was expected to climb.

One of the 30 Red Cross personnel on the scene believed an additional 10 to 15 bodies would be found by the time all the wreckage had been cleared.

Fire Chief John Rice said it appeared most of the victims were young. The first two identified were teen-age girls, but the third victim identified was an 80-year-old man.

Sears burglary suspect held in school burglary

POMONA — A Pomona man arrested recently as a burglary suspect inside the Sears store here and subsequently released on $2,500 bail was booked late Thursday night in connection with a school burglary here.

Police said they found David Bernard Wright, 21, hiding in bushes outside the burglarized Alcott Elementary School at 1600 S. Towne Ave. Officers said the place had been entered through a door 20 feet from the bush in which they said they found Wright.

Wright, 2432 Manville St., was arrested shortly after 2 a.m. May 22 inside Sears at 1600 E. Holt Ave., police reported. They said they found him hiding beneath a bench in the corridor of the employes' entrance.

Beside the exit, police found watches, rings and about $2,200 in cash which had been placed there for quick removal. Wright's car was found parked outside, police said.

Investigators said that Wright apparently had hidden inside the store at closing time. They were sent there in response to a burglar alarm.

Thursday night, investigating another burglar alarm, police went to the school and began a search of its interior. During the search one officer, keeping watch outside, heard noises in the bushes and found Wright there.

Police said Wright denied being inside the school and quoted him as saying he saw two men run from the building as police approached. He said that when he saw the officers approaching, he hid in the bushes, they said.

Wright, charged with burglary and grand theft in the Sears burglary, faces arraignment in Pomona Superior Court June 19. He was bound over at a recent preliminary hearing before Pomona Municipal Court Judge Robert C. Gustaveson, who set bail.

Wildcat walkout hits Wayne sweeper plant

POMONA — A wildcat walkout of between 25 and 75 employes struck the FMC Wayne sweeper plant here today.

Gil M. Wayne, divisional president at the local plant, said the company is seeking an injunction to enjoin the strikers from detaining employes who want to report for work.

He said management and union officials of the International Association of Machinists are attempting to end the walkout which he termed illegal.

A Wayne spokesman said he did not know the reason for the walkout. But the dissident workers alleged three points as the source of their dissatisfaction: unfair labor practices, a rejection of a cost of living increase and a loss in profit sharing.

There were no details.

The company issued a statement this morning, which said local union and international officials have been instructing the workers since Thursday night to return to work. But their efforts were of no avail.

"An illegal work stoppage has occured at the FMC sweeper plant," the statement reported. "Approximately 25 people on the second shift, out of a total work force of 700, last night failed to return from their lunch break at 8:30 p.m. Local union and international officers since last evening have been instructing all employes to return. The company, in the meantime, is obtaining an injunction to assist all employes who want to work."

An on-the-spot check by the Progress-Bulletin this morning counted approximately 75 persons standing around outside the plant's gates.

They referred all questions to Julian Arrelano, who reportedly is a leader in the walkout. Arellano was not available for comment this morning.

Some workers claimed that though there may be only 100 workers at the gates, only about 50 employes showed up for work this morning. He said the rest were staying home.

Wounded in fatal shooting of Pomonan

Charges against two area women dropped

No formal criminal charges have been filed against two area women who were wounded by police in Monrovia during a shooting in which Pomonan Wayne Martin Glidden, 23, was killed.

The women, Vicky Lorraine Jones, 24, 1441 Sheridan Ave., Pomona, Glidden's sister, and Victoria Ruth Alexander, 25, 810 W. Gladstone Ave., San Dimas, were arrested after the May 31 shooting.

Authorities said the district attorney's office refused to issue complaints against the women when police made application for them. Both have been released, they said.

Police maintained that Glidden was killed and the women wounded when Glidden pulled a revolver on Fullerton undercover officers during a narcotics investigation which had taken them into Monrovia. A coroner's office spokesman said he is studying the possibility of an inquest into Glidden's death. The gun Glidden was accused of drawing turned out to be a starter's pistol, officers said later.

A spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center said "all visible evidence of the malignancy was removed" and Abrams, 59, was resting in a recovery suite where he will remain for several days.

"Gen. Abrams tolerated the surgery well," the spokesman said, adding that surgeons discovered some of the malignancy had spread to local lymph nodes and that they were also removed.

Riverside second

Upland rates as smoggiest city

Upland has been cited as the smoggiest city in the state last year.

Based on the sampling of 13 test areas, the state's Air Resources Board reported Upland registered 599 hours when the oxidant level was at or above .20 parts per million particles of air, the minimum point at wich a smog alert is called.

Riverside was the second smoggiest city, registering 267 hours of heavy smog.

San Bernardino followed with 245 hours and was also considered the state's worst city for lead contamination between July and September, with 1.69 micrograms of lead per cubic meter of air.

Los Angeles averaged 1.498 micrograms and Azusa had 1.407 micrograms during the same period.

Gerald Brown, senior instrument technician at the San Bernardino Air Pollution Control District, said he agrees technically with the Air Resources Board report but he feels it is "inopportune" at this time.

"It will create a lot of confusion and we will be answering telephones here about this for about a week."

Brown said Upland may have had the most first stage alerts but it is not the smoggiest or worst place in the state. He cited a situation in San Diego County at Oceanside which, he said, has recorded the highest smog reading ever.

Brown said he could foresee no change in the smog situation in Upland this year but he is hopeful that more and more people will be alerted to what they can do personally to help reduce the ozone levels in the air.

He said this can be accomplished by reduced use of the automobile.

During first stage episodes residents are requested to remain indoors and that unnecessary driving be curtailed.

A first stage episode is also a health advisory to children and the elderly and those with respiratory problems. This advisory caused quite a local furor several weeks ago when Redlands High School and Eisenhower High School in Rialto canceled a league baseball game because of the heavy smog.

"Our phones rang off the hook trying to explain the situation to people for about a week," Brown said.

"We don't like the heavy smog either, and are doing everything we can to try to work ourselves out of a job."

He said geographically, Upland is situated on higher ground up against the foothills and pollution concentrates there with not sufficient air mass movement to clear the air.

The Air Resources Board has a reading station about a mile and a half from the San Bernardino APCD station. He said as close as the two stations are, the figures vary as much as four and five degrees on some days.

He said the state's system is operated not to check on the county's figures but to satisfy the state's own requirements. The state also uses large vans which are equipped to monitor air pollution.

Woman dies in retirement home swimming pool

POMONA — An elderly woman drowned in a retirement home swimming pool Thursday morning, police reported.

The victim, Miss Louise Wood, 77, Mt. San Antonio Gardens at 900 E. Harrison Ave., was found floating facedown in the pool there. Margaret P. Hickey, who also lives there, told officers she and the victim had been swimming and she left to dress. When the returned to the pool area, Mrs. Hickey said, she saw the victim floating in the water.

Firemen attempted resuscitation but the victim was pronounced dead at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. The body was taken to Pollock Mortuary.

Lip-reading class planned in Chino

CHINO — The Chino Adult Community School will offer a course in lip reading starting next Thursday.

The class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 16 at the Adult School. The instructor will be Oreta Hederman.

For information, persons may call 628-1201 ext. 66 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

327 to graduate at Nogales High

LA PUENTE — Diplomas will be awarded 327 seniors during commencement exercises Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Nogales High School. Commencement theme is "Tomorrow Is a New Day."

Awarding diplomas will be Schools Supt. Stanley G. Oswalt and Phil Anderson, president of the school board.

House approves funds for Cucamonga Creek project

The House of Representatives Thursday approved a public works appropriation bill which includes $1.2 million for the Cucamonga Creek flood control project in the West End.

Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., who pushed the bill through various committees to the House, expressed optimism that the appropriations bill will pass the Senate intact.

"We are nearing the end of the fiscal year," he explained, "and we can be sure the Senate will act promptly to avoid delays in the funding of public works."

The vote on the bill was 374-21.

"The flooding in the Cucamonga area in recent years has been serious," said Veysey. "It overflows its banks every few years. Development in the area has soared, and astronomical losses would occur from a repetition of the 1969 flood."

Preliminary planning for the flood control project has been completed by the Corps of Engineers and San Bernardino County. The project initially was authorized by Congress in 1968, but no funds were provided to begin construction.

"The timing of this appropriation is critical to the planned expansion of Ontario International Airport," Veysey said. "Beginning the construction early next year will permit the coordination of runway construction with the construction of the flood control channel. Any disruption of airport services should be minimal."

Plans call for the construction to begin in the Prado Dam area and move upstream.

The project will be completed in approximately seven years at an estimated cost of $70 million, Veysey said.

The tentative date for construction to begin is Jan. 1, 1975.

VAC acquires official status, eyes job funds

MONTCLAIR — In its first meeting as a new governmental entity, the Valley Association of Cities instructed its executive officer to "express interest" in an application for federal job funding.

Councilwoman Claire McDonald of Claremont suggested that Joe Korpsak, executive officer for VAC, draft a letter to the necessary agency expressing interest in an application for Comprehensive Employment Training Act, Title I funds. The letter would serve as a preliminary to detailing the use of federal funds for VAC and the submission of an application.

Korpsak reported on funds available for purposes other than the problems of abandoned houses, such as bikeway trails. However, the directors agreed with chairman Charles Bader's position that VAC should attempt to meet its primary objective of reducing vacant homes from 1,200 to 200 within 18 months before branching out into other regional problems.

In other action, Patrick Sampson, city attorney for Pomona and legal adviser to VAC, reported that the nine charter cities of VAC had all approved the joint powers agreement establishing the organization as a "new legal entity."

The most important aspect of VAC's new status, he continued, is that it can now accept money and use it as an autonomous group; and it is now subject to the provisions of the Brown Act governing meetings and conduct.

He recommended that the cities of Claremont, Pomona, Montclair, Ontario, Chino, San Dimas, Upland, La Verne and Walnut reappoint their representatives to VAC as a precautionary measure against future inquiries of the delegates' authority as agents for local municipalities. At his suggestion, Bader also instructed staff to formulate a meeting schedule for six months on a rotating basis among the cities.

West Covina has been invited to become a VAC member. Mayor Jim Lloyd attended the Thursday meeting.

At its next meeting on June 20 at 3 p.m. in the Pomona boards and commissions room at city hall, the VAC directors will decide upon acting appointments and salary for the positions of executive officer, senior housing assistant, teno-secretary and clerical assistant.

Montclair chamber names pastor Citizen of the Year

MONTCLAIR — The Rev. Donald L. Bray, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church since 1959, was named Citizen of the Year at the annual installation banquet of the Montclair Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Ken Wright was installed chamber president.

Mr. Bray, who retires as an executive board member of the chamber this year, was recognized for his outstanding contributions to the community. He and his family came to Montclair in 1959 from Rosemead where he served the First Baptist Church.

Since coming here, he has led the congregation in building three Christian education buildings, an administration facility and a sanctuary.

He is currently chairman of the Montclair Ministerial Association and chairman of the support of spiritual aims committee of the Montclair Kiwanis.

Lou Catalano, owner of Lou's Liquor and manager of a dance band that plays valley affairs, received the chamber President's Award. Catalano is an active member of the Montclair High School Booster Club and a volunteer on special projects for the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens. He formerly served as a member of the board of directors of OPARC.

Mike Loehr, community development director for the city, was presented the city-chamber special award while Harry Gardner, developer of the Central Plaza, received the Mayor's Award.

Wright, manager of the Monte Vista Water District, was installed as the new 1974-75 chamber president. Wright, who has held the water district position for approximately five years, served as first vice president of the chamber during 74.

Executive officers for the upcoming year also include Loren Stone, first vice president; Charles Gehrken, second vice president; Barbara De Voss, treasurer; and Ralph Bentley, John Conley, Carl Freeman, Harry Gardner, Dick Harney, Harvey Klivanss, Jess Koopman, Jim Laird, Andy Muscarello, Roy Tomkins, Virginia Van Andel, Paul Willems and Ben Wilson, directors.

Retiring board members recognized for service to the chamber were Mr. Bray, Joe Pugh, Bill Grant and Leonard Ryan.

Jack George served as master of ceremonies.

9 valley retail clerk unions okay pay offer

POMONA — Local retail clerks have joined those in Orange County, Long Beach and Bakersfield in voting overwhelmingly to accept a tentative pay increase package with major supermarket chains in Southern California.

Nine Retail Clerks Union locals, representing 54,000 members, had threatened to walk out if their demand for a 50-cent hourly increase was not granted.

Retail Clerks local 1428 members voted 1,805 to 258 Thursday to accept the package offered by the Food Employers Council, Local President Maurice Cofer reported.

Some locals were scheduled to vote today.

Man crushed to death when car jack slips

LA PUENTE — A 35-year-old man was crushed to death Thursday afternoon when his car fell off a jack while he was working beneath it.

The victim, Raul Apodaca, 357 Conlon Ave., was working under the car's front end when the bumper jack supporting it fell with the car. The vehicle crushed Apodaca's head and chest.

County firemen gave the victim emergency first aid but he was pronounced dead on arrival at Queen of the Valley Hospital, West Covina.

Pacific State patient hurt in bicycle accident

POMONA — A Pacific State Hospital patient was injured Thursday afternoon when he rode a bicycle head-on into a car in Valley Boulevard near Temple Avenue.

The patient, Michael J. Fogelquist, 17, who lives in a ward at PSH, suffered shoulder and leg injuries and was treated at PSH.

The motorist, Ethel Bellas, 33, Los Angeles, said she saw the bike rider approaching as she was eastbound. She said that when it appeared he was going to cross into her lane, she stopped completely and honked the car horn, but the young man ran into the front of her car.

Police reported that Fogelquist had permission from hospital authorities to ride the bike outside hospital grounds.

Missing probation officer found dead

LA CANADA (UPI) — A state probation officer, reported missing two days before, was found Thursday in the wreckage of his car at the base of a 150-foot cliff.

James Carson, 28, Valencia, who was found at the bottom of a cliff near Red Box ranger station, died from injuries suffered in the accident.

Long Beach clerk slain by gunman

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A 72year-old woman was shot to death, apparently when she frightened a man who tried to rob the small market where she worked, police said Thursday.

Mrs. Dorothy Janicek died at Pacific Hospital of an abdominal wound about an hour after she was shot Wednesday. Police theorized Mrs. Janicek frightened the would-be robber into firing his weapon when she screamed. The gunman fled without taking any money.

Retarded Fontana girl strays, drowns

FONTANA (UPI) — A mentally retarded girl, who wandered from a convalescent hospital, was found drowned Thursday in a swimming pool at a nearby apartment complex.

The 11-year-old girl was pronounced dead at Kaiser Hospital after medical attendants failed to revive her. Police said she was last seen at lunch at the convalescent hospital and that a search began about 20 minutes after she disappeared.

S.M. man denies killing stepchild

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Anthony Rhodes was free on $2,500 bail after he pleaded innocent Thursday to charges of manslaughter and assault with a deadly weapon in the fatal shooting of his 11-year-old stepdaughter.

Rhodes was ordered to stand trial Aug. 6 for the death of Alona Williams. He told authorities the weapon accidentally discharged when he tried to take it from her. However, police said another stepdaughter, Donna Williams, 10, told police the weapon fired while Rhodes was playing with it.

10 Mexicans freed in smuggling case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal court judge Thursday ordered the release of 10 Mexicans who had been held since May 18 as material witnesses in an alien smuggling case.

Earlier this week, the 10 were the subject of the first videotaping of depositions in local federal court history. The videotaping was ordered to help speed up the return of the men to their own country.

The depositions will be entered as evidence against three persons if their case goes to trial.

Four convicted in L.A. alien ring

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four men were convicted Thursday of conspiracy and smuggling illegal aliens into the country because 26 Mexicans were found locked in a garage of a south-central residence last March.

Convicted were Antonio Sandoval Zamora, Antonio Roberto Rodriguez, Augustine VillaGomez and Alfredo Alvarez Garcia.

A fifth defendant, Jose Aguiree Gonzales, was acquitted.

Jaime Alvis Lozano, who was arrested when the Mexicans were discovered, pleaded guilty in April and testified for the government.

Kern water issue wins by 47 votes

Custody resolved

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Former Miss America Donna Axum has agreed to let her estranged husband keep their son at least temporarily to resolve a tangled child custody fight in a divorce action, according to friends of the couple.

As a result, attorneys for the couple announced Thursday they will ask to dismiss or postpone a court hearing to determine custody of the 3-year-old boy.

The 32-year-old Mrs. Mutscher, Miss America of 1964, filed for divorce Monday from former Texas House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher, 41.

Mutscher and two associates were convicted on bribery conspiracy on March 14, 1972.

Mrs. Mutscher said her marriage had become "insupportable because of discord or conflict of personalities,"

Jobless rate edges up; teens hard hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The unemployment rate among Americans edged upward to 5.2 per cent in May, the Labor Department said today. This was a rise of 0.2 per cent from April.

More people held jobs—86 million last month compared to 85.8 million in April—but this rise was more than offset by an increase of 370,000 in the total labor force which reached 90.7 million.

Many of the new workers seeking jobs were teenagers and unemployment in this category rose from 13.8 per cent in April to 15.8 per cent in May. Black teenagers were partiularly hard hit, with 33.5 per cent unemployed.

The Labor Department reported some recovery in the average work week for production workers, a gain of 0.2 hours in May, rising to 36.8 hours. Average hourly earnings of production workers rose 1.5 per cent in May, about 7 cents, to $4.14.

Weekly earnings averaged $151.52 in May, an increase of $3.78 from April and up $9.07 from May, 1973. The increase reflected the impact of large cost-of-living wage increases made effective in some industries, including steel, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

May wages also were given an additional boost because the federal minimum wage law expanded coverage and because there was some additional factory overtime.

The unemployment rate has remained fairly steady so far this year, hovering at or near the 5 per cent mark since January. There had been some forecasts last fall that it would rise to possibly as high as 8 per cent this spring.

Today's report said the number of persons unsuccessfully seeking work last month totaled 4.7 million in May, up 170,000 from the previous month.

The increase in the total labor force was the first since January.

There was a decline in the jobless rate for married men and also for blue collar workers, a group that had been hit sharply by the energy shortages following the Arab oil embargo in October.

However, there were increases in unemployment among clerical, sales, and service workers.

3 are victims of killing spree, but tot survives

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An 18-month-old girl survived a killing spree Thusday that claimed the lives of two teen-agers and a man.

The teen-agers were identified as Regina Lynch, 19, and Eric Dixon, 18. Police found them stabbed and beaten to death in separate bedrooms in a south-central area home.

Larry Calhoun, 30, whose legs were bound with wire, was found wounded in a vacant lot across the street from the house where the teen-agers were found. He died at Centinela Valley Community Hospital.

A witness said she saw Calhoun, hobbled by the wire, trying to flee when a man wearing a gray suit ran up and shot him. She said the suspect began chasing her, but she eluded him and called police.

The infant girl, who was unharmed, was found on the bed beside the dead girl.

FBI tracks down kidnap suspect, $60,000 ransom

GLADWYNE, Pa. (UPI) — FBI agents tracked down a kidnap suspect Thursday and recovered $60,000 in ransom paid for the release of Annette Friedland, wife of a millionaire supermarket executive.

Mrs. Friedland, 44, mother of four children, was abducted from her $200,000 Main Line home shortly before 1 p.m. Thursday by three armed men who had tied up a gardener.

She was released in south Philadelphia about three hours later after her husband, Jack, delivered the ransom. Friedland is president of Food Fair Supermarkets, Inc., the country's seventh largest food store chain.

Frank Wyatt, 18, Philadelphia, was arrested about 10 blocks from the "drop" site and FBI agents said they found the ransom in a canvas bag tucked in the sleeve of a coat he was carrying. The agents said Wyatt was "the only one who appeared at the location where the ransom money was left."

Authorities said they still were searching for two other black suspects. They said the kidnaping was for economic gain and was not related to any religious or political cause.

Mrs. Friedland, a prominent socialite, was abducted from a small garden off the kitchen of her multilevel brick and glass home after the three men tied up a gardener who later freed himself and contacted Mr. Friedland.

The Friedlands' youngest son, Roger, 5, also was at home at the time but was unharmed, police said. The couple has four children, including a married daughter who resides in Florida.

Police said Friedland received a telephone call from the kidnapers at about 2 p.m., instructing him to put the ransom in his car and to park the auto at the south Philadelphia location.

When Mrs. Friedland was released, police said, she ran to a home nearby and telephoned her husband, telling him she was safe and urging him to contact the FBI, unaware that they already were involved.

She was returned to her seven-acre, suburban Philadelphia estate Thursday night following intensive questioning by FBI agents. Police said she "adamantly" declined to talk to reporters.

Man held in girls' kidnaping leads police to two bodies

BRIDGETON, N.J. (UPI) — The decomposed bodies of two Bridgeton teen-aged girls were discovered Thursday in a shallow stream after a Seabrook, N.J., man arrested for carrying two women in the trunk of his car led police through a mile of dense woods.

State Police identified the teen-agers as Shirly Murphy, 16, and Barbara Woods, 15. Miss Murphy had been reported missing since last March 11. Miss Woods disappeared April 30.

Police said the Seabrook man, Charles Haley, 20, was charged with two counts of murder and held without bail in Atlantic County Jail.

They said the two bodies were lying half submerged in the stream in a densely wooded area of Pittsgrove Township.

The bodies were fully clothed, and police said it had not been determined if the two girls had been molested sexually. It was not immediately known how long the bodies had been in the water.

An autopsy was scheduled at Salem Hospital today.

State Police Sgt. Arthur F. Nesbitt said Haley probably would undergo psychiatric testing.

The suspect was arrested Thursday when police stopped his 1961 Chevrolet on the White Horse Pike in Egg Harbor for allegedly "running cars off the road."

Police heard muffled screams coming out of the trunk of the car and found two young women bound with shoelaces and wrapped in sheets.

They were identified as Candice Newton, 23, of Greenwich, N.J., and Elizabeth Stotler, 25, of Bridgeton.

Police said the two women had been both abducted in Bridgeton. One was making a telephone call and the other apparently was whisked while standing on a street corner, police said.

Nesbitt said police had not determined what Haley, employed by the Owens Glass Factory in Bridgeton, intended to do with the two women. They were released from Somers Point Memorial Hospital after observation.

Grand jury indicts Patricia Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst, who in four months of captivity underwent a change from frightened kidnap victim to gun-toting companion of her terrorist abductors, now is wanted on a federal indictment for armed bank robbery.

A federal grand jury, taking the 20-year-old newspaper heiress at her word, charged her Thursday with the bank robbery she said she willingly committed with members of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter issued warrants for her arrest on charges of armed bank robbery and use of a firearm to commit a felony, and set bail at $500,000.

Packer held in killing of 3 teen-agers

SALINAS, Calif. (UPI) — A 23-year-old produce packer was charged Thursday with the bludgeon slayings of three teen-agers at a swimming hole near Big Sur.

Stephen Hammack was charged with killing two boys and a girl kilied by heavy blows on their heads. The bodies of Wyatt Hanson, 17, and Patrick Hill, 18, were found in a creek in the Los Padres National Forest.

The body of Terri Kathleen McCort, 17, was pushed from a bridge into the Salinas River, 30 miles away, police said.

The three victims remained at the swimming spot Sunday afternoon after other young persons left. The bodies were found the next morning.

Hammack was charged with the murders in Salinas Municipal Court, but Judge William Moreno did not set bail.

Hammack initially was charged with drug violations when a small amount of marijuana was found in his possession during questioning, investigators said.

At hands of Syrians

Israeli POW torture told

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Two Israeli pilots captured by the Syrians in the October war said today they were beaten and tortured during their confinement.

Three Bedouin tribesmen captured on the first day of the war and returned to Israel Thursday said a Druze, Mohammed Abu Saled, died in a Syrian prison of hunger, cold and torture.

The stories came to light within 24 hours after the last 56 Israeli prisoners of war returned from Damascus in exchange for 383 Syrians, Moroccans and Iraqis.

Capt. Ami Rokeah, a 28-year-old bachelor, told a news conference arranged by the army that ground fire shot down his Mirage jet on the sixth day of the war. He said he parachuted safely but pursuing Syrian troops shot him in the chest.

"It was more than beatings," he said, appearing pale before a battery of microphones. "They tortured me for information and, I believe, sometimes for pleasure."

He said he had been in a hospital for three months and two days and during that time had remained blindfolded. He said his guards beat him when he tried to remove the blindfold. He said he received medical attention, "but not always enough."

Continually pressed for details on the extent of the torture to back up his allegations, Rokeah declined to give any and said he did not want his parents to suffer grief by learning what he experienced.

But he said he definitely knew of cases in which other pilots' ears had suffered maltreatment so the men would never again fly in combat. He suffered lung damage when shot and said he will never be able to fly combat planes again.

Benyamin Kiriati said in a radio interview the Syrians performed surgery on his wounds but two days later transferred him from the hospital to a prison where he said he suffered high fever and infection most of the time.

"They beat me on the back with a stick and also on the fingers," Kiriati said. "A third method was to shine very powerful lights into my eyes. The Syrians also used these lights to burn my skin."

Nixon wanted aid fund for Haldeman, Ehrlichman, but didn't follow through

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon expressed a willingness to assist his two former close aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, with their Watergate legal defense fees, but never followed through on the offer, a White House spokesman said today.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy press secretary, told reporters that "there is not now nor was there ever any defense fund set up by the President, or any of his friends," to help Haldeman and Ehrlichman with their legal financial burden.

Warren said that Nixon discussed helping with the legal costs confronted by Haldeman and Ehrlichman's "as a possibilty but nothing came of it."

"It was legitimate, human and natural," Warren said of the offer by the President to his two top advisers.

Both are under indictment in connection with the Watergate coverup and Ehrlichman also is under separate indictment in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

In response to questions, Warren said, "about a year ago when Haldeman and Ehrlichman left the White House, the President did express his deep personal concern that their sole significant source of income was being closed off at a time when they were facing what could become enormous legal fees."

Warren made the comments in response to questions about a report by the Washington Post that Senate investigators had been given testimony that Nixon told Haldeman a secret fund would be available for Haldeman to defend himself after he left the White House.

The Post said Lawrence M. Higby, an ex-Haldeman assistant, gave the ininformation to the Senate Watergate committee last month, saying that Nixon told Haldeman that as much as $400,000 for a defense fund was being kept by Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Warren said that when Haldeman and Ehrlichman left the staff April 30, 1973, "in a natural and human way (Nixon) expressed a desire to assist them in whatever way possible."

Warren earlier had refused to confirm or deny the Poseport, saying it was a continuation of a pattern of "contrived and selected leaks" that he said "is becoming outrageous."

The Post said it was unable to determine if such a fund ever existed or now exists.

Unnamed sources were quoted by the Post as saying Nixon made the offer to Haldeman about the time Haldeman was leaving as Nixon's chief of staff, April 30, 1973.

Higby allegedly said money from the fund also would be available to John D. Ehrlichman, who resigned on the same date. Haldeman and Ehrlichman were Nixon's top two advisers and both are now under indictment in the Wateragate coverup case.

Initial poll gives Brown 47-39 per cent lead over Flournoy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll reported today that Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. leads Republican Houston Flournoy 47 per cent to 39 per cent in their first matchup following their smashing primary victories Tuesday.

Pollster Mervin D. Field found that among Democrats, Brown holds a 67-17 lead, while Flournoy is the choice of Republicans by a 74-16 margin to be governor of the nation's most populous state.

Caucasian whites split almost evenly between the two candidates and Field said that it is among blacks and Mexican-Americans that Brown holds an overwhelming edge, drawing better than 80 per cent support from these groups.

Field noted that the election marks just the second time in 44 years that an incumbent California governor is not a candidate for re-election.

Thus the traditional major issue in a gubernatorial contest, approval or disapproval of an incumbent's record, is absent in this 1974 race. He suggested that the campaign thus would be unusually important in forming the voters' final choice.

Councilman says he doesn't own Industry land

INDUSTRY — Councilman Darius Johnson has denied that he is landlord of the Industry Disposal Co. which holds the city's exclusive franchise for trash collection.

Johnson's denial was in response to statements issued by Phil Anderson, president of the Rowland school board, following hearings last month on the city's redevelopment project.

Anderson called for a grand jury investigation into the procedure by which one firm holds the exclusive trash franchise. He said he would seek to invalidate council votes that allowed the franchise three years ago.

Anderson further charged that Johnson has a conflict of interest in that he owns the property where offices of the trash firm are located. The councilman has voted on motions to allow the franchise, Anderson claimed.

Johnson said, however, that "I don't own and have never owned any property in the City of Industry."

Records obtained through the county assessor's office show the Industry Disposal Co. property at 420 Del Valle, where the firm's offices are located, is owned by Manuel and Vincente Perez, who also operated the business.

The Progress-Bulletin regrets publishing Anderson's statements without verifying ownership of the trash firm's property with the assessor's office. The record shows Johnson has no interest in that property.

'Home is the sailor, home from the sea'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — With a little help from his friends, including the future king of England, Seaman Walter Talbot, late of the Royal Navy, was headed home for England today, looking for a pint of real British beer and his old shipmate, Bill.

It was a long voyage.

Talbot boarded a plane for London Thursday, 54 years to the day after he deserted from the Royal Navy. Now 73, with his record cleared, he took his spanking new honorable discharge and went off to see what more than a half century had done to his homeland.

He expected to be greeted at the airport by his sister, Melvina, 56, whom he has not seen since she was a year old.

"I want to see the house in Lowestoft where I was born," said Talbot. "I've been studying British history and looking for this chance to visit home — before it's too late for me —for the past 10 years."

Talbot jumped ship in Montreal on June 6, 1920, "because I faced another 11 years in the service," he said. "I wouldn't have done it in wartime."

He sold his uniform, fled to New York and has lived ever since as an American under the name of Edward Clayton.

He served two hitches in the U.S. Navy, including service in World War II, getting honorable discharges. His first wife, whom he met in 1927, died in 1945 without ever learning his real identity.

He said he told his second wife during "a family spat" and "she thought I'd killed someone in England to make me desert."

In March, the HMS Jupiter, carrying Prince Charles as communications officer, docked in San Diego. Talbot, who said he had been thinking for years about clearing his record, astonished the deck crew one day.

He marched aboard, saluted the ensign in proper naval fashion, identified himself as a deserter and surrendered.

The ship's captain assured him the Royal Navy wasn't interested in carrying him home in irons, and told him to go back to his San Diego home and wait. There were reports the Prince helped speed up the paperwork that resulted in the British consulate in Los Angeles relaying to him an honorable discharge and a British passport last month.

Talbot said he was looking forward to his first visit to "a real English pub to sink a pint of real English beer," and plans to look for Bugler William E. Marsh, of Malton, Essex, a shipmate who deserted with him but later returned to British jurisdiction.

"I want to find out what happened to Bill," he said.

He plans to return to the United States, he said. The 73-year-old ex-sailor has a 28-year-old wife here and two children, 5 and 3.

Nixon 'borders on obstruction'--judge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge suggested today President Nixon's refusal to surrender subpoenaed trial evidence in the Ellsberg case "borders on obstruction" of justice.

Judge Gerhard A. Gesell held a hearing on a possible contempt citation against the President and said afterward he would rule promptly on the matter.

Gesell told White House lawyers he does not think the President "understands the consequences of what he is doing."

'Loaf of bread, wine machine and thou'

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a wine so new and so cheap that the wine dealer wouldn't even tell me its name and year for fear it would offend the makers.

But he offered me a taste —it was a white burgundy. It was bitter and harsh, and it caused my mouth to pucker. It bore no resemblance to the smooth silkiness of a vintage wine.

Then the dealer, William Sokolin, displayed a magical gadget that would trigger the jealousy of medieval European alchemists. He said it would instantaneously turn garden varieties of burgundy or bordeaux into vintage wines.

The wizards of the Middle Ages worked tirelessly to square the circle, discover perpetual motion, change copper into gold or water into wine. This new invention is the brainchild of a German scientist.

George Weber calls his philosopher's stone a Weberizer, and a test version is on display at the D. Sokolin Liquor Store on Madison Avenue.

It was there, in a small back room, that Sokolin demonstrated the machine. He claimed it would age a white wine one or two years in a few seconds. A fine cognac could be aged five years in the same time, he said.

First, he poured about two ounces of the wine into a flat, plastic slide. He inserted the slide into the machine and turned on a switch. A white fluorescent bulb glowed a bright blue-violet. The slide was exposed for four seconds on each side.

Then he removed the slide, poured the wine into a wine glass and offered me a sip.

Eureka!

It was smooth, the rasping quality was mostly gone. My mouth did not pucker. It wasn't exactly the golden smoothness of a great Chateau d'Yquem, but it was an improvement.

Sokolin said the Weberizer is still in a highly experimental stage. And red wines haven't showed the same promise after exposure to its magic as have the white or fortified wines.

Winemakers, a laggard breed in an era of scientific blitzes, cling lovingly to old methods and old traditions. Different times and different needs, however, may in due course revolutionize the industry.

Perhaps the day will even come when no home will be complete without a Weberizer, and a 21st Century Omar Khayyam will be heard to murmur: "A loaf of bread, a wine machine and thou!"

Skeletons of two children, woman found

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The skeletons of a woman and two young children were found in separate graves near here Thursday.

Sheriff's deputies said a woman telephoned them from the Devore area 12 miles north of here, saying her dog had dug up a human skull in her backyard.

Two police helicopters and nearly 150 deputies combing the area foand the bones of an infant wrapped in a parka buried in a shallow grave about 200 yards from the the area found the bones of woman was found in an open field.

Bones found in the caller's backyard were identified as those of a small child about 3 years old.

Authorities had not determined the cause of death nor how long the bodies had been buried.

Three stars combine at Vegas show

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Frank Sinatra, Ella Fitzgerald and Count Basie teamed their talents for the first time Thursday night at Caesar's Palace.

Appearing before a packed house on the first day of their two-week stand, the trio mostly sang jazz songs made famous by Miss Fitzgerald.

Backed by Count Basie, Miss Fitzgerald opened the show with "There'll Never Be Another You," "Mr. Paganini" and "Shiny Stockings."

Sinatra followed with such favorite sas "My Way," 'My Kind of Town" and 'Pennies From Heaven," the song he first recorded with Count Basie several years ago.

Miss Fitzgerald and Sinatra closed the two-hour show with "That's Why the Lady Is a Tramp."

Sonny Bono, Doris Day and Leo Durocher were among the celebrities who attended the show.

Slowdown threatened by firemen

ARCADIA (UPI) — Fire chiefs from six communities met Thursday to discuss a threatened work slowdown by more than 300 city firemen in the San Gabriel Valley.

Arcadia fire chief Gene Mahoney hosted the meeting of chiefs from Covina, Monrovia, Montebello, Monterey Park and West Covina.

The San Gabriel Valley Firemen's Association, which is seeking salaries equal to those received by County firemen, has said a work slowdown could take place next week.

City firemen in the six communities make between $200 and $300 per month less than their county counterparts, a spokesman said.

County fire chief Richard Houts said his units will cover the area in the event of a strike.

Grenada asks seat at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Grenada, a 133-square mile Caribbean island with a population of 94,500 persons, has applied for U.N. membership, the United Nations announced Thursday.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim released a letter from Prime Minister Eric Gairey asking that the security council take up the application at its next meeting.

Grenada, which gained independence from Britain Feb. 7, is larger in area than the smallest U.N. member, the Republic of Maldives, which has 115 square miles.

Probation chief asked to take another post

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The chief of the county's Probation Department was asked by the Board of Supervisors Thursday to take another post, a Los Angeles paper reported today.

Kenneth E. Kirkpatrick, chief probation officer, was asked to take another position during an 80-minute "full and frank discussion" with the five supervisors behind closed doors.

However, a decision has not been made on whether to transfer Kirkpatrick to another department or to allow him to remain in his present department while it is revamped.

The decision to transfer Kirkpatrick was apparently in response to the paper's story on the lack of safety and unsanitary problems at Juvenile Hall.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, who said he "will not comment" on whether Kirkpatrick was asked to resign, said the closed session was requested by Kirkpatrick so he could talk about the story.

Kirkpatrick, 58, has been in county service for 34 years and presently receives a $37,000 annual salary.

Budget vagaries cited for Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon is asking Congress for either $85.8 or $91 billion this year, depending on how you look at it, but the military budget bill currently before the Senate totals only $21.8 billion.

How can that be?

The answer lies in the vagaries of both the administration's and Congress' budgeting processes.

In order for the Pentagon to spend money, two kinds of laws need to be enacted. One is an "authorizing" law that tells the Pentagon what it is permitted to do and how much it is permitted to spend.

The other is an "appropriations" law that actually puts the money into the Pentagon's checking account.

The bill now before the Senate is an authorizing act, and the reason it is so "small" in relation to what the Pentagon will actually spend is that only authorizations for new projects are required.

Most of these are hardware —planes, ships, tanks, missiles and ammunition.

Most of what the Pentagon actually pays out is spent on salaries for the 2.1 million Americans under arms, the 1 million civilians who support them, and the operation and maintenance of bases and installations in the U.S. and abroad.

The importance of the current bill to the whole budgeting process, however, is that it sets the level of military and civilian manpower and the projected pace of military operations in peacetime.

After the authorizing bill is passed, the appropriations process takes over —and then Congress is charged with making available not only money to cover the hardware listed in this bill but the salaries and sundry expenses of maintaining the military establishment.

Two further complications arise from the fact that much of the money appropriated in a given year is not spent until much later, and some of the money spent for defense is not given to the Pentagon at all. It goes to other agencies, like the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), which provides goods and services to the military — nuclear warheads, propulsion reactors and the like.

Thus each year the administration presents two budget figures, one for "outlays" (the money from this and past years that will actually be spent) and one for "total obligational authority" or 'TOA' (what the administration wants Congress to put in its checking account for this and future years).

Wage antidiscrimination battle

Nomination of Mrs. Fong gives California women great victory

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — By winning the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, March K. Fong of Oakland scored the greatest political victory for women in California's primary election Tuesday.

If Mrs. Fong can defeat Republican Brian Van Camp in November, she will become the first female secretary of state.

Mrs. Fong was trailed by four men and another woman, Cathy O'Neill, a Los Angeles educator. Mrs. O'Neill and Assemblyman Walter Karabian were Mrs. Fong's closest competitors.

All three were leading contenders, and the two women were expected to split the like-minded votes, leaving Karabian with the nomination. The division that developed, however, was more along traditional north-south lines, with Mrs. Fong receiving the northern votes while Karabian and Mrs. O'Neill split the votes in Southern California.

Mrs. Fong, who has served in the Assembly since 1966, won recognition for her campaign against pay toilets, which she claims discriminate against women.

The former teacher, university lecturer and county school board member promised to work for "major political reforms" as secretary of state.

Two other women to win nominations were Assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola and U. S. Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite Burke D-Los Angeles. Mrs. Burke was the first member of congress to give birth while in office.

And in the primary bid for judgeships, two women won over six men for Superior Court Office 20.

Municipal Court Judges Joan Dempsey Klein and Bonnie Lee Martin will face each other in the November general election. Judge Klein received 33 per cent of the vote and Judge Martin received 19 per cent.

In major statewide offices, however, women did not fare so well in the primary.

Environmentalist Elizabeth Smith Weingand of Santa Barbara lost her bid for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Mrs. Weingand is the wife of a former state senator.

Republican Marian W. LaFollette, a Los Angeles community college trustee, lost in the primary for controller. She came in third.

And Eileen Anderson, the red-haired Irishwoman who wears nothing but green and sings her platform, failed to win the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Mrs. Anderson, a Beverly Hills resident, is a perennial candidate for office.

Nothing foreign about students

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

My various tax-dodges having called me to England not long ago, I made a rather astounding discovery, to wit, that there are now hundreds of thousands of foreign students in England.

What astonished me was that I thought ALL students in England were foreign.

In the past 10 years this sceptered isle has been flooded with students coming from all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world to study in the hallowed halls of learning. Hallow?

From Asia, Africa, India and the Brox, from Vuelta Abajo and Sierra Leone and St. Kitts, from the Queen Maud Mountains to the Queen Charlotte Islands the questers after knowledge stream to Great Britain, the old and young, rich and poor, male female and decline to state.

One evening I wandered into my favorite pub, the Goat and Golashes, for a bit of tangy Yorkshire cheese, a pint of stout, and possibly a game of darts with some hearty drayman or coster-monger from the North Country. I thought I'd stumbled into a meeting of the United Nations.

At the end of the bar a swarthy tobacco grower from Chapultepec, in moustache and sombrero, was trying to explain to the pub tender how to make a tequila martini, the discussion attended by a fur-clad young lady from Reykjavik and an elderly soothsayer newly landed from Uban Bator Khoto.

Around one of the tables sat three ebony-faced Cameroons in bedsheets and bare feet listening to a graduate student from Brooklyn explain why four-of-a-kind beats a straight, and why they, consequently, owed him 20 pounds sterling, 11 goats and two wives.

Watching the card game and keeping a wary eye on the Africans who were fingering their spears restively, were a giant logger from Saskatchewan, a turbaned prelate from Mawar, and several wealthy gold miners' sons from New South Wales.

I hear more Urdu, Swahili and Vishnu spoken that night than the Queen's English. A Texas boy ("Dad gave me one of the wells for graduation") had more trouble communicating with the red-cheeked Shropshire barmaid than with a lithesome Berber woman in veil and sandals.

Before my extradition went through, I learned that foreign students actually outnumber native Englanders in many of the law and medical schools. Blimey, sahib!

There are in England today more than 50,000 foreign undergraduate students, 16,000 from Africa. On a clear night you can hear the tom-toms booming from Picadilly to Leicester Square.

From various corners of the Commonwealth come annually 50,000 girls to train as nurses, to learn to give up the tribal mask for the oxygen mask, the kris for the scalpel, the burnt chicken feathers for the anesthetic.

Touring England today is the equivalent of a trip around the world. With a little bit o' luck you might even run into a few Englishmen.

Buddhists cut off fingers in protest

LONG KIEN, Vietnam (UPI) — Twenty Hoa Hao Buddhists cut off the little finger of their left hand Thursday in protest against the government's refusal to meet their demands.

More than 10,000 of the Buddhist sect rallied in this small delta town 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

Six months earlier they had requested the government grant "seven aspirations," including the right to form a self-defense force and have Hoa Hao military chaplains.

The government recently refused to grant all seven "aspirations."

About 2,000 Hoa Hao offered to cut off their fingers in protest, but the Hoa Hao leader stopped the mutilation after the first 20 fingers had been severed.

The Buddhists who chopped off their fingers approached a table in two groups of 10, picked up a hatchet with their right hands and and cut off their fingers together on a signal from their leader.

The severed fingers will be sent to President Ngueyen Van Thieu with a request that he meet Hoa Hao leaders to iron out difficulties.

78 weddings at Air Force Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Weddings were on an assembly line regularity following graduation ceremonies Wednesday at the Air Force Academy.

An academy spokesman said 78 weddings were held wth 34 of the brides coming from the Colorado Springs area.

Acupuncture bills approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Three bills legalizing acupuncture by placing it under the regulation of the state Board of Medical Examiners cleared the Senate Health and Welfare Committee Wednesday.

One of the measures (SB2118) by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, would require establishment of standards for the issuance of an acupuncture certificate. It was sent to the Finance Committee.

Two others (SB2117-AB1691) by Moscone and Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, would enact the Duffy-Song Acupuncture Act and permit acupuncture by an unlicensed person on the basis of written referral from a licensed physician. Both measures went to the floor.

It's waltz time for presidential hopefuls

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
UPI Senior Editor

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — There is a kind of ritual dance for American politicians who aspire to the Presidency. It begins as as an elegantly paced statesman's waltz and gradually builds up to the rock 'n' roll beat of the candidate's twist.

It appeared at this week's National Governors Conference that the campaign cadence still is being set by muffled drums and sweet violins. But the music obviously has started.

Both Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California avoided giving any overt sign that they are presidential candidates at the governors' annual outing and talkfest. But both also made sure that they were noticed —in prime time — by the politicians and media whose attention they need if they run.

Kennedy's problem is somewhat more delicate than Reagan's. He was drawing crowds any politician would envy during the period when he would say nothing about his plans for 1976, and now that he has admitted an interest in the office held by his late brother, he must take care to prevent his political holding action from escalating into a full scale campaign as he goes about the country on "keep-in-touch" visits.

Kennedy came to town for one day, combining an appearance for the re-election campaign of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. (and carefully avoiding mention of a potential nomination rival, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash.) with his governors conference assignment.

At the conference he explained and defended his health insurance legislation as part of a panel with spokesmen from the administration and organized medicine. But Kennedy carefully avoided letting the occasion become a debate that might be billed as a test of his wit or lung power. And he especially avoided crossing swords with Reagan, declining with a flip of the hand to reply to the conservative governor's suggestion that no one really wanted national health insurance.

Reagan's program obviously included a willingness to confront Kennedy, but he also came to Seattle with some clear goals in addition to seeking political targets of opportunity.

He held two formal news conferences within 12 hours — complete with prepared statements warning of the pitfalls of government medicine and federal land use planning proposals. Reagan took active part in the sessions dealing with those subjects, but cleared out when the governors went on to other fish he did not wish to fry on this trip.

Reagan's apparent purpose, especially on the land use issue, was to begin staking out some strong positions that will identify him in the public mind during the period between his voluntary departure from public office next winter and the Republican National Convention in the summer of 1976.

The land use proposition is admirably suited to this purpose. It gives him the opportunity to speak up for the states rights ideal that attracts many Republicans and conservative Democrats and to attack the federal establishment without seeming to aim his barbs at any individuals, least of all a vice president whose entire public career has been in federal service.

Kennedy will remain in the limelight if only because he will be in the Senate for the next two years. Reagan's strategy to keep his image alive will be to go about the country during that period espousing Republican candidates and his own vision of GOP ideology. Land use planning may seem to be an odd issue on which to begin a presidential campaign, but Reagan apparently regards it as the right music for this stage of the waltz.

2 House panelists return milk trade contributions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two members of the House Judiciary Committee said that they have returned 1972 campaign contributions from the dairy industry in order to avoid possible conflict of interest with the panel's impeachment inquiry.

The two, Rep. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill., and Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., were among 16 of the 38 committee members who reportedly received contributions from dairy interests.

Railback said he returned $500 and Rangel said he gave back $100.

"In as much as I am a member of the committee and its been decided we are going to investigate the bribery investigations involving dairy interests I have decided to return the 1972 contribution," Railsback said.

"I didn't see any conflict," Rangel said. "I didn't know this organization was connected with the dairy industry."

Shaping Pomona's future

Community planning session set

POMONA — Residents will discuss the city's future image Tuesday in a community workshop designd to aid in updating Pomona's general plan.

The workshop, starting at 7 p.m., will be conducted in the old post office building at 400 S. Thomas St.

A series of these workshops is being conducted by Lawrence Halprin & Associates, an environmental design firm. All city residents are invited to participate.

The workshop format stresses positive solutions to common problems. At previous sessions, some 150 persons have met. These included minority members, senior citizens, students, merchants and housewives.

Officials said they seek to bring all segments of the community together to formulate a representative plan.

In previous workshops, participants have taken bus and walking tours in various parts of the city. They have viewed reading programs, student murals at Fremont Junior High School, community garden, Greek amphitheater and abandoned houses.

Participants also served as hosts in tours of their neighborhoods. They pointed out both the assets and the problems.

Residents will later participate in a series of plan development workshops on June 18, 19 and 20, with each session lasting from 7 to 10 p.m.

Those wanting more information or a free copy of any of the awareness tours may call the workshop "hotline" telephone, 620-2195.

Incomplete credit records cause consumer problems

In applying for a loan to buy a house, I have learned that a person's credit can be stated as either good or bad or none through a fantastic computer system.

I am fighting to get my credit record straightened out but I feel that all people, young and old, should be forewarned — unlike myself.

My husband and I have been married four years. We have a 2-year-old child.

I have worked at my job for 2½ years and have advanced to double my starting salary. My husband worked for one company for five years which, since he is young, is quite a good record.

In December he started working for a larger company with a substantial increase in salary and room for advancement.

We decided it was time to buy a house of our own and had saved up enough money for a good sized down payment. However, we needed an additional $1,000 for closing costs and a few minor repairs on the house we found.

We applied for a loan and were refused. The reason given us was that the lenders were told by the TRW Credit Bureau in Anaheim that we had established no credit whatsoever.

I called TRW to ask why. The customer representative I spoke with told me nothing really. She asked what companies we had credit with. I told her we had bought and paid off a car through a bank in Covina. She said that account should be on our record but it was not. We are presently paying on a car through a bank in Ontario. She said this bank was probably not a member of the TRW service so that information would not be on our record unless it was a delinquent account.

We have had and still have an account with a department store in Pomona for 3½ years. This, I was told, should also be on our record but is not.

We have a gasoline credit card which is used once a month just to keep the credit going. The woman at TRW said the only credit ratings that come from oil companies are the derogatory ones.

The thing that really bothers me is that you can pay on something for three years, making payments on time and having a perfect record, and then if you get behind for a couple of months, the only thing that will show on your credit rating is the two bad months.

Is this fair? — O. T., Pomona.

TRW told us that you contacted the credit data company and asked general credit questions.

The people at TRW could not disclose personal credit information without written approval. An approval form was mailed to you but you did not return it. Instead, a few days later, you wrote to us.

Linda Matheny, consumer relations supervisor, explained that TRW operates like a record library to which information can be added. She said the individual companies you deal with, rather than TRW, establish credit.

It appears that your problem was solvable by contacts with the companies you had accounts with. You obtained your loan.

Your letter isn't the first indication we have had that credit communications leave something to be desired. One of our readers obtained a charge card but didn't use it for some time. When she did use it to obtain a new transmission for her car, the dealer was told she didn't have a credit rating because she hadn't used the card before. She straightened the problem out with a phone call to her bank.

SILVER SENSE

In response to inquiries regarding investments in silver, we offer information provided by the state Department of Consumer Affairs.

There is no prohibition against the possession of silver in its various forms, including silver bars and coinage.

The department makes no recommendation for or against silver as an investment.

Prospective investors, however, are warned that there is an element of risk in any investment and there is no guarantee a profit will result.

Consumers are urged to follow these tips:

—Contact city and county licensing agencies to be sure the firm has met local business requirements.

—Check the firm's reputation and record for delivering merchandise as promised.

—Carefully review the terms of any agreement involved.

—Determine whether the silver is valued on a basis of becoming a collector's item or its actual silver value.

—Determine if the offer is for "pure silver" and by what measurement.

—Check to see if the investment can be promptly sold.

—Consider the expense of storing silver and insurance to cover loss.

If you are still confused, seek advice from a reputable bank or brokerage firm.

WORK AT HOME

Because jobs aren't easy to get, some of our readers have been tempted by "work at home" schemes.

The state Department of Consumer Affairs warns consumers to be extra careful in dealing with companies offering work-at-home employment.

Although some opportunities available to consumers who wish to earn money at home are legitimate, others victimize applicants through fraudulent practices.

Be especially wary when you see:

—Advertisements promising large profits for little work.

—Advertisements requiring you to pay money to obtain further information.

—That no salary is paid by the company.

—A failure to give the names of others who have been employed so you can learn of their experiences.

—Requirements to pay money to buy products which you, yourself, must resell for a profit.

Valley cities accepting job applications from teen-agers

Applications for jobs are being accepted from teen-agers from the cities of Pomona, La Verne, San Dimas and Claremont for the Coalition of Youth Employment (CYEP) Program during the summer.

The program is open to youths 14 to 18, who are required to have a Social Security number, undergo a tuberculosis skin test and meet certain financial guidelines.

The program is being sponsored by the East San Gabriel Valley Area Association of Coordinating Councils and is administered by the CYEP, a committee that includes representatives of the participating cities.

Funds for the program are secured through the Los Angeles County Department of Manpower under the Comprehensive Employment Act.

The summer job program tentatively has been scheduled to start July 1.

Applications may be obtained at the following locations:

— Pomona Unified School District offices, 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona, and at all junior and senior high schools.

— Bonita Unified School District offices, 115 W. Allen Ave., San Dimas, and at San Dimas and Bonita High Schools and Ramona Junior High.

— Claremont Human Resources Office, 207 Harvard Ave., Claremont.

— Neighborhood Adult Participation Project (NAPP), 389 E. Center St., Pomona.

— South Hills Neighborhood Service Center, 1170 W. Fremont St., Pomona.

— Offices of the League of United Latin-American Citizens (LULAC), and the Beta Center, 1095 W. Grand Ave., Pomona.

Tuberculosis skin tests are given Mondays at the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center.

Further information on the summer youth program may be obtained from Josephine L. Carroll at 623-6131, Extension 25, or Bernie Cohen at 623-5251.

Claremonter wins alumni scholarship

CLAREMONT — Maria V. Rocha, 333 Springfield St., has won a $350 1974 UC Berkeley Alumni Association scholarship.

She is a senior at Claremont High School. In addition, she was presented a plaque honoring her selection at an awards assembly at school.

She was selected on the basis of academic achievement, extracurricular activities and interest in attending UC Berkeley.

American Cancer Society

Bike rally scheduled

The American Cancer Society will hold a fund-raising Bike-a-thon Saturday in the Pomona-West End area, cosponsored by McDonald's Restaurants.

The rally will cover a 23.5-mile course, with four of the restaurants in Pomona, Upland, Chino and Ontario serving as starting and checkpoints. The rally begins at 9 a.m.

To be eligible to participate, riders must have at least five sponsors at no less than five cents per mile.

More than 40 prizes, including a new 10-speed bike, will be given to riders who raise the most money.

Participants may pick up pledge folders at any of the participating restaurants at 12625 Central Ave., Chino; 832 N. Mountain Ave., Ontario; 100 E. Foothill Blvd., Upland; or 2200 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Entry blanks may also be obtained from the American Cancer Society office in Ontario.

CHARITY BIKE RALLY

All ready for Saturday's bike rally to benefit the American Cancer Society in the West End-Pomona area are, from left, Noreen Wolfinbarger, 10, Marvin Corbin, rally chairman, and Nancy Wolfinbarger, 17, all of Chino. The fund raising event is being co-sponsored by McDonald's Restaurants.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Claremont Mayor Bertye Smith lines up a city street striper before the two-lane highway which links Foothill Boulevard with Padua Avenue was opened to the public Thursday. The project was completed 1½ months ahead of schedule by Riverside Construction Co. at a cost of $88,000.

VALLEY BRIEFS

Classes scheduled

POMONA — A motor development class for children with perceptual and conceptual difficulties will be held at the Pomona Valley YMCA starting today.

The class will run for 10 weeks and meet each Friday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. The instructor will be Heather Moore.

Cost of the class will be $15 per child.

For further information, persons may call 623-6433.

Car wash scheduled

CHINO — Jericho Outreach Inc. will hold a car wash Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Arco service station at Central and Walnut avenues.

Cost will be $1 per car wash proceeds to be used in the organization's drug prevention program.

Chaffey offers Southland tour of art museums

ALTA LOMA — A study tour of Southland art centers and museums will be offered by Chaffey College Saturdays through July 27.

The community education class in art appreciation is programmed for 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays, with bus transportation provided by the college. Departure and return point will be the Chaffey College Museum-Gallery.

James Pahl, coordinator of the gallery here, will be the instructor for the non-graded class.

The first trip Saturday will be to the UC Riverside Gallery to see an exhibit entitled "The Impressionist and the Salon, 1874-1886."

Among later stops will be the Los Angeles County Museum, the Municipal Museum at Muckenthaler Cultural Center in Fullerton, the Frederick D. Wight Art Gallery at UCLA and the J. Paul Getty Museum.

Prior to each stop, Pahl plans to brief the class on the cultural treasures contained in a given facility. The schedule will also allow for a brown-bag picnic break at a convenient park between visits.

No tuition is entailed. The transportation is free. Lunch is the responsibility of the participant.

L.V.C. class televised

LA VERNE — William Glasser attacks society's problems at their source by giving La Verne College students tips on raising responsible children Saturday at 2 p.m. on the television show "Brainworks" on Channel 4.

Glasser, psychiatrist, author and educator, is recognized for his books on positive approaches to education, including "Schools Without Failure" and "Identity Society."

Barry Martin hosts the weekly "Brainworks" television series produced for the Independent Colleges of Southern California by Dave Bell Associates, Inc., in association with KNBC.

Children's films set

SAN DIMAS — Children's films will be shown at the San Dimas Library beginning Saturday at 2 p.m. and continuing on Saturdays throughout the summer months.

Saturday's film will be "The Savage Gang."

Archeologist will protect artifacts

RIVERSIDE — (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors will hire an archeologist in an effort to prevent the destruction of artifacts by construction crews in the Perris Valley, it was announced.

The board said it had evidence that ancient pottery, hand tools and other artifacts were being destroyed during the construction work.

The archeologist will determine whether any artifacts are of historical value and will ensure their preservation.

Opinion

Readin', writin' 'n constitutional law?

Time was when a kid who was given a spanking in school could count on receiving a second one when he got home.

Not anymore. Today his parents are likely to sue the school.

While some may point to the erosion of school authority and the abrogation of parental responsibility as two reasons for what they see as a growing disrespect for the law in this country, the fact is that the courts are taking an increasingly dim view these days of "summary punishment," corporal or otherwise.

In what has been called a landmark decision in this field, a federal judge in Hanover County, Va., has ruled that a student must be given his constitutional right of due process before he can be spanked in school.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige awarded $200 in damages to a fourth-grade student, holding that his constitutional rights had been violated because he was not told that he could appeal a "summary spanking sentence" or that he had the right to be represented by an attorney.

The decision was only a partial victory for the American Civil Liberties Union, which had represented the student and had argued that spanking was "cruel and unusual punishment" and hence prohibited by the eighth Amendment.

However, Judge Merhige's decision would seem to have implications that go beyond the question of whether or not spanking should be outlawed in the schools, as it probably should be.

How are teachers or principals to be expected to discipline students if even for minor infractions they must first go through the process of advising them of their constitutional rights, holding formal hearings and getting involved with attorneys?

The answer is that they probably won't bother.

Moreover, it is not just the absence or uncertainty of punishment but the lengthy time lapse that prevails today between the commission of an offense and the administering of punishment for the offense that may be another source of contempt for law or authority.

To punish a child, especially a small child, by spanking or some other means, days or weeks after he does something naughty in school may be worse than not punishing him at all.

Your crankcase contains gold

Every little bit helps in the fight against inflation, which is why more and more Americans are changing their own automobile engine oil. Some 35 to 40 per cent of all auto oil is now sold over the counter.

But every little bit hurts, too, in the fight against pollution and waste of natural resources. An estimated 400 to 450 million gallons of crankcase oil is simply being dumped every year.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, would require that all oil sold over the counter be packaged in resealable, returnable containers carrying a 10-cent deposit. Dealers would also have to maintain used-oil collection points.

The idea is not only to protect the environment but to invigorate the oil re-refining industry, which in the 1960s had about 150 companies reclaiming nearly 300 million gallons a year. Today, less than 40 companies are processing about 100 million gallons of used oil a year.

Not only does oil never wear out, thus constituting a recyclable resource, but according to engineers at Calspan Corp., the sludge left over after re-refining contains as much lead as low-grade ores now being mined commercially. (By a process not completely understood, lubricating oil extracts some of the lead from additives in gasoline.)

By using a method it has developed, the company says that six to nine million pounds of lead should be recovered annually from re-refined crankcase oil, with a market value of up to $1.7 million.

If all the oil that is currently being discarded were re-refined, an additional 27 million pounds of lead worth more than $4 million could be recovered.

Rich U.S. penny-less

A penny shortage has developed in some parts of the country. It began when the Treasury Department announced that because of rising prices and scarce supplies of copper it might have to start minting with a substitute metal.

Many people began hoarding pennies, evidently in the belief that they could eventually melt them down for their copper, though Treasury regulations forbid this.

Some stores have asked the Treasury for permission to issue script—paper money—in lieu of pennies, and one bank in Akron is offering $1.10 for every 100 pennies turned in.

A penny may not buy very much anymore in these inflationary times, but it's comforting to know that the little coin still has a vital function in the nation's monetary system.

JACK ANDERSON

Ted Kennedy was Watergate target

WASHINGTON — The real target of the Watergate break-in, it now appears from confidential White House documents, was Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass.

Sources close to President Nixon confirm that he regarded Kennedy as his most dangerous political foe. The President also expected former Democratic national chairman Larry O'Brien to maniupulate the party machinery in 1972 to bestow the presidential nomination upon Kennedy.

Up to the eve of the Democratic convention, say our sources, the President believed Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., would step aside at the last minute to make way for Kennedy, with O'Brien pulling the strings behind the scenes.

Nixon had scarcely settled into the White House in 1969 before he began seeking political ammunition to use against Kennedy and O'Brien. The orders were transmitted through staff chief H. R. Haldeman.

A host of colorful super-snoopers were recruited to investigate Kennedy and O'Brien. Among them were a Runyonesque ex-New York flatfoot, Anthony Ulasewicz; a fleshy-flush-faced ex-New York detective, Jack Caulfield; the bewigged former CIA agent and incurable romantic, E. Howard Hunt; and a young, pedantic security specialist who kept a red scrambler telephone in his White House desk drawer, Tom Charles Huston.

Less than six hours after Kennedy ran off the bridge at Chappaquiddick on July 18, 1969, Caulfield had a man at the scene searching for evidence that could be used to embarrass Kennedy.

Two years later, Hunt again tried to put together a Chappaquiddick scandal that would destroy Kennedy. But the two gumshoes came up with little that the press hadn't already uncovered.

The White House crowd apparently was obsessed with the idea that Kennedy had a weakness for wild parties and promiscuous women. But repeated investigations by Caulfield and Ulasewicz failed to produce any evidence.

As a typical example, Caulfield kept Kennedy under surveillance during a three-day visit to Honolulu on August 17-19, 1971. A secret surveillace report which referred to the senator as EMK, was rushed to the White House.

"EMK" made no public appearances during his stay in Honolulu," reported Caulfield. "Inquiry ascertained that he occupied the private estate of one J. Ontani, located at Diamond Head Road, Honolulu . . .

"Discreet inquiry determined that Kennedy used the estate solely for sleeping purposes, took only his breakfast meal at that location and quietly visited friends at other locations on the island.

"It is known that he played tennis on August 18 at the estate of one Lloyd Martin identified as a wealthy Honolulu contractor . . .

"An extensive survey of hotels, discreet cocktail lounges and other hideaways was conducted with a view toward determining a covert EMK visit. The results were negative . . .

"In conclusion, it is believed that EMK activity during his stay in Honolulu was adequately covered. No evidence was developed to indicate that his conduct was improper."

Yet the White House still wasn't satisfied until an investigation had been completed of Kennedy's host two months laer. In an October 20, 1971, memo, Caulfield wound up the investigation of Kennedy's three-day Honolulu visit with a report that his friend Ontani was "a multi-millionaire Democrat with extensive real estate and business holdings in Hawaii . . . Sources advise that Ontani significantly controls local politics in Honolulu to the extent that he is referred to as the 'Mayor Maker.' "

The most embarrassing evidence that the gumshoes obtained against Kennedy was a picture of him in the company, quite innocently, of a female friend in Rome. White House aid Charles Colson promptly peddled the photo to a scandal tabloid, with a huge newstand circulation.

The White House documents show that O'Brien received similar atention from the snooper squad. On August 5, 1970, for example, Haldeman ordered John Dean to investigate O'Brien's connection with an international consulting firm called Public Affairs Analysis.

The gumshoe work was assigned to young Huston who found the firm's activities "not only legal but prudent. O'Brien's relationship with PAA is so minor," added Huston, "that I would think it unworthy of further investigation.

The following January, Haldeman ordered an exhaustive investigation into O'Brien relationship with billionaire Howard Hughes. Caulfield reported back in a Jan. 25, 1971, memo that the investigation could bubblegum in Nixon's face.

The Hughes organization's "tentacles touch many extremely sensitive areas of government," cautioned Caulfield, "each of which is fraught with potential for Jack Anderson type exposures."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Making marriage national pastime

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In one section of the paper the other day there was an article about the new World Football League luring players from the old NFL by paying them huge bonuses.

In another section was an item about rising divorce rates.

Although unrelated, these items happened to coalesce in my mind. And suddenly for the first time I understood why marriage as an institution has been declining.

It's because modern society has done away with the bonus, or dowry, system.

Paying bridegrooms big bonuses for signing marriage contracts was burdensome for many parents, true.

And certainly there is no gain saying that the dowry demands were in many cases excessive to the point of being ridiculous. Nevertheless, dowries brought to the altar a much better class of bridgegrooms than is found in marriages today.

Without that incentive, most of the more eligible males are passing up marriage for careers as bachelors. No wonder so many marriages collapse.

Girls are forced to settle for inferior bridegrooms who don't really belong in their league. Thus, in a few years, the husbands are placed on waivers.

Furthermore, restoration of the dowry system would revive public interest in marriage, which has been lagging badly.

A recent survey showed that wedding attendance is off almost 35 per cent this year. Ceremonies are being performed before audiences so small they frequently are outnumbered by the bridesmaids.

Only a celebrity wedding will pack a church nowadays.

Well, interest in professional football was flagging too before the owners began paying those astronomical bonuses.

Nothing did more to whet the interest of the fans than Joe Namath signing a multi-million dollar contract. And there is no reason to believe sensational dowries wouldn't do the same for marriage.

"Palm Beach, Fla. —Wesley von Piggins III, one of the most sought-after bachelors on the winter social circuit, today signed a multi-million dollar contract to marry Lacybug Slapforth.

Col. Ebanezer Slapforth, who announced the signing, said it was the largest dowry ever paid. Exact terms were not disclosed but the record dowry was said to exceed $2,500,000, including stock options."

A few items like the above and soon matrimony would again become the national pastime.

Praise for India

I am responding to the Progress-Bulletin editorial of June 4 about India's entry into the nuclear bomb field.

I am speaking as a voice of reason. It is the right of every individual and country to live and prosper. To be free of coercion and slavery.

Until the last decade India has had very little ability to protect itself against its enemies. Its strength was spiritual, not military. Only a fool would believe that any outsider will protect them as well as they themselves would.

This is another example of the status quo. The "haves" want to have an exclusive club and they want to keep the "have nots" out of it.

Your editorial asked what business does a poor country like India have in building nuclear weapons. It is like asking what right does any country have to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

It is understandable the uneasiness about every country having nuclear weapons. I can identify with India. I have tried in my own way to live a very religious and a very passive life.

People do not respect me, they consider me stupid and weak, someone to use and trample into the ground. I, for one, am in favor of all countries having nuclear weapons as a protection against the aggression of other countries.

India being one of the largest countries in the world deserves and needs nuclear weapons. Yes, it is absolutely in its own self interests to be able to protect itself against its enemies. Being one of the largest countries in the world it has a large stake in what happens in the world. It should have a major role in determining what happens in the world. Condemnation is not what is needed, but rather loud praise. — Arthur N. James, Pomona.

Gossip for today

As people go, we American are perhaps the softest touches of any nationality on the face of the earth. Just what easy marks we are is strikingly illustrated by a recent study which indicates that Americans contribute an average of $60 million a day to charities; expecting nothing in return other than perhaps a bit of recognition and publicity.

Now compare that kind of generosity to what it takes to get charitable donations from folks in some other countries. In one area, for instance, which can best be described in the words of Kipling as being "somewhere east of Suez where the best is like the worst and there's ain't no Ten Commandments and a man can raise a thirst," it was found necessary to offer special inducements to prospective contributors in order to assure the success of a charity fund raising event. Among the prizes offered for large donations were topless waitresses, porno films and prostitutes. — And where, you ask, did all this happen! Well, if you must know, Darwin, Australia.

RAY CROMLEY

Pedalling through life's bright spots

WASHINGTON — I've joined the ranks of those who daily pedal bicycles back and forth to work. My life will never be the same.

Behind the wheel of a car, the world is an impersonal noisy blur save for the muttered curses of fellow motorists as they cut in and out and your own responding epithets. Other drivers get in your way, upset your equanimity and threaten your fenders and your 30-minute timetable.

On a bicycle, it's a new world. The boy fishing on the river waves. The bicyclists you meet nod with recognition of a shared experience. The homeowner carrying out the trash and the janitor dumping rubbish remark on the weather. Pretty girls along the route smile or grin — depending on their age. You see trees, creeks and gardens unnoticed in years of hurried driving. And you study the faces of men and women who have been no more than flickering blobs as your car sped by.

You see youngsters playing ball (and have time to notice whether it's a strike or a hit) young couples sitting on bridges, determined but paunchy middle-aged men running for their lives. You meet columns of teen-aged boys and girls on 10-speeds racing to some objective. Almost all take time to acknowledge your presence in one friendly way or another. Bicyclists unlike motorists, move to the side to let fellow riders pass).

I am told by specialists that 100 miles a week is very good for the heart, the liver and what else might ail you. This may or may not be; but it certainly makes you feel better all day long. And you sleep like a top.

There's a value in persistence. The first day out, 11 miles up the river took two and a half hours and was sheer agony. The wind blew so hard it was necessary to pedal vigorously to make headway even when going down hill, or so it seemed. In the evening, the return trip was endless. Finally, as the night wore on and my bike light (and legs) failed, I finished ignominiously on foot and after bedtime to the worry of my children.

My second venture was even more discouraging. Flashily I started out with my Scout troop over a 28-mile course. It was cold and I pedaled vigorously, only to strain a ligament on some hill and fizzle out at the end of eight miles. The troop went on and I limped gloomily the long route home.

That taught some sort of a lesson and I began with short stints arund the block, followed by 10-mile runs with my children on level stretches.

Now an old pro with 700 miles in seven weeks, and doing in less than 55 minutes what once took two and a half hours, I look forward to the morning and evening rides, feel let down when rain forces me to abandon my one-speed and use my car.

The biking idea was born for me during the big gasoline crunch, when few of us knew from one day to the next whether we would have enough gas to get to the office, the grocery store or the barber shop. But now that the immediate crisis is over, this concert is not about to go back to driving.

My children are proud of dad. They forego invitations from friends to go on family bicycle picnics. I've discovered, too, that children talk more freely and give out with more of their thinking on many things when we're riding side by side on bikes. It's much different from home, where we're all more preoccupied.

Even my nine-year-old is ready for a 16.2-mile hike at the drop of a hat, especially if there's a milk shake at the eight-mile marker.

The doctor comments

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My cholesterol reading is 245, which I understand is quite high for a 45 year-old female. My general health is good in every other respect. My pressure is 120-80,and I still have a regular monthly menstruation. I have been on a low cholesterol diet for a year — corn oil margarine, only one egg a week, skim milk, only cottage cheese — and my cholesterol level is higher by nine points.

I have read many reports and articles on the subject, but they mostly refer to men. My specific questions I'd like answered are the following bits of information given to me by friends: Once cholesterol is in the arteries it can't be dissolved. A women's cholesterol level goes even higher when her menstruation period stops. Alcoholic beverages and beer are pure cholesterol. An exercise plan will reduce cholesterol.

DEAR READER — Your cholesterol reading is fairly high, but not excessive. A variation of nine points from one test to another is not significant. You can consider your reading essentially unchanged.

Regarding those bits of information, and may I add, misinformation, cholesterol and some of the fat with it that deposits in the arteries can be removed in time with successful corrective measures. The arteries of monkeys on a rich diet were loaded with fatty cholesterol. In those animals put back on a low-calorie diet, the arteries were cleared of fatty cholesterol deposits. Information on prisoners of war, people in occupied lands of Europe in World War II and similar studies all provide evidence that some reversal is possible.

It is true that a woman's cholesterol level tends to rise after the menopause. The changes in the arteries begin then and 15 or 20 years later the changes in women are about the same as those noted in men of the same age.

Chemically speaking, cholesterol is an alcohol. BUT the alcohol you drink is a very small molecule. It contains only two carbon atoms. Cholesterol is a huge molecule by comparison, containing 27 atoms of carbon. Its size causes it to be a waxy solid rather than a liquid. The alcoholic beverages contain no cholesterol at all unless you add an animal product, such as in making an egg nog.

Yes, I think an exercise program can help. The idea is to use exercise and diet to eliminate excess stores of fat. In general, those people who are quite lean tend to have low cholesterol levels, although there are many exceptions to this.

If, after effective elimination of all extra fat stores, the cholesterol remains too high, then certain medicines can be used with the diet and exercise program effectively to lower the cholesterol. I don't think, however, that any of these medicines are a substitute for proper diet, exercise and other living habits. A habit of drinking alcohol beverages can usually defeat a good dietary program. Most people who drink will not stay on a diet to lose fat, if they want to lose weight.

For more information about cholesterol, write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on cholesterol. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

'It gets hairy'

Federal government bankrupt?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government may have quietly gone bankrupt this week.

"It's only a technicality," said a Treasury official. "Actually, we can hold on for about two weeks, but it gets hairy."

The U.S. Treasury probably reached the legal debt ceiling of $475.7 billion last Saturday and depleted its cash balance Wednesday.

No one knows officially yet because the government reports what it has spent about six days after the money is gone. But the Treasury Department said Wednesday the debt had risen to $475.6 billion and cash on hand had shrunk to $7.5 billion last Friday.

When the debt ceiling, imposed by Congress, is reached the government can't borrow any more money.

But no one expects it to go out of business. The Strategic Air Command will stay on guard, the Secret Service will protect the President, members of Congress will drone on in floor debate and the Agriculture Department will issue pecan reports.

If the federal government has gone temporarily bankrupt, a series of steps will be taken by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. These will include orders to halt sales of Series E and H savings bonds, Treasury bills and other securities. In order to raise money, the Treasury would then call on the Export-Import Bank to repay its loans from the United States.

The whole problem stems from prolonged congressional consideration of the administration's proposal to raise the debt ceiling to $495 billion.

The bill passed the House, but stalled in the Senate where liberals are trying to win approval of tax reform amendments.

In any case, if the government can juggle its books until July 1 it will be in the clear. A new fiscal year and a new spending budget begin then, opening up a new flow of cash.

For Saturday, June 8, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You need time away from the home and its responsiblilities today. Call some of your pals. See if you can't stir up some fun.

TAURUS (April 20 May 20) Early in the day pressures will be more acute. Your temper will be more volatile than later on, when you'll let go and relax.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Tension over finances could put the damper on your day if you permit it. Direct your attention to less-worldly interests.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're going to be a bit irritated with your mate today. You'll learn later that what you were angry about wasn't really his fault.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't get too bent out of shape when you find you won't have as much time as you thought to get something completed to day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pressure from another will tend to sway your judgement and coerce you into making a decision you shouldn't. Hold you ground.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An activity of yours will not start out being much fun. In fact, it could begin on a hectic note. But wait, the laughs come later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll learn of something confidential that will give you the drop on another. It won't add to your credit if you use it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A male friend of yours always comes to you when he's a trifle short. Don't be surprised if he gets in touch today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan 19) A problem between two pals of yours is developing and you're apt to be caught in the middle. Favor the one who always keeps his word.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something that has been a source of frustration for the past few days will be removed from your path, permitting you a freer weekend.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually it's fun to be where the action and the noise is. That's where it's all happening. This evening, however, you'll enjoy a quiet spot more.

Your Birthday June 8

Bigger things are in store for you later in the year than in the early months. More travel and moving around will come about.

Violin brings $115,000 at London auction

LONDON (UPI) — A Stradivarius violin made by the famed family's patriarch sold at auction recently for $155,000, a spokesman for Sotheby's art auction house said.

The violin, sold anonymously, was made in Cremona, Italy, in 1706 by Antonio Stradivari and is known as the Corbett Stradivari. Graham Wells, head of Sotheby's musical instruments department, said it was in "extremely good" condition with a "superb tone."

Another Stradivari holds the world record auction price for such an instrument the "Lady Blunt Stradivari" sold for $202,400 in 1971.

Three other Stradivari instruments, made by Antonio's sons at later dates, brought lower prices in today's sale, the spokesman said.

Curtailment of housing funds rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Drastic changes must be made in federal monetary policies if Americans earning less than $20,000 a year are to be housed in the future, a leading home builder says.

No-growth policies, spiraling costs and shortages of materials have all been obstacles to the homebuilding industry, Barry Scherman, president of the California Builders Council, said.

But "the drying up of the money supply is the most pressing problem facing the building industry today," he said. "It is more critical today than it has ever been."

Every time the price of a home is raised by $1,000 due to rising interest rates, about 150,000 families are priced out of the market, Scherman said.

"All of this restrictive monetary policy has been perpetrated by the federal government purportedly for curbing inflation," he said.

"We believe this method of curbing inflation is not only counterproductive in that it fans the fires of inflation, but it has a disproportionately damaging effect on housing, an industry which depends almost exclusively on thrift institutions for funding."

Rare freshwater shrimps sought in cancer research

By V. MACK SISK

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Cancer researchers are searching the lakes and streams of the Texas hill country for rare foot-long, freshwater shrimps that could advance development of a cancer preventative.

Dr. Frederick Rommel, assistant professor of pediatrics and microbiology at the University of Texas Health Science Center, says the shrimp may contain a possible anti-cancer mechanism similar to the one he believes occurs naturally in salt-water lobsters.

Rommel began his experimentation with lobsters, but very few could be obtained uninjured from commercial suppliers. He looked for an alternative and now he thinks he's found it.

Last summer, an area fisherman brought Rommel a species of shellfish that neither could identify.

The creature, now preserved as a laboratory curiosity, is about 18 inches long claw to tail, and weighs about 20 ounces. It resembles a lobster, but the researcher learned it was a species of fresh-water prawn, or shrimp.

The shrimp was found in the Guadalupe River above Lake McQueeney, and James Ludecke of Seguin since has set out traps in hope of catching several specimens for Rommel's research.

Two other fishermen, James Langlinas of Lake McQueeney and Melvin Dreiss of Boerne, are attempting to catch some of the big fresh-water shrimp using New England lobster traps.

Rommel said although the oversize shrimp are rare, they are not totally uncommon.

"Nearly every marina and bait house from the hill country to the coast knows about them, or has a preserved specimen on display," he said.

Rommel theorized that hill country shrimp originally made their way to the Gulf of Mexico to spawn in brackish water. Younger, smaller specimens are caught along the coast.

Rommel said he does not know if the shrimp's relatively enormous size is the result of a long and unhampered life, or whether the size is common to all adults of the species.

The fresh-water shrimp has symmetrical claws like crayfish, while New England saltwater lobsters have asymmetrical claws. For that reason, Rommel believes the Texas specimen may be higher on the evolutionary scale.

He said he hopes the live river shrimp will be trapped or caught by fishermen and brought to his laboratory.

The scientist will put the living specimens in aquariums or in privately owned lakes to see if they can be grown, bred and produce healthy offspring for research.

Portrait of a murderer

When a 34-year-old man kills somebody with a gun on Saturday night, it's not extraordinary. On the contrary, he is the average murderer with the average murder weapon acting at the average time of murder. Or so report the crime lab statisticians.

Oddly, one of the oldest utensils devised by man is thought to be an apple corer, carved out of the leg bone of some sort of hoofed animal, for use by older people who's lost their teeth.

Q — "Who invented the banjo?"

A — A musical Irishman named Joseph Sweeney. A one-man band was he. Nicknamed Band Joe.

Sales

Am advised one department store executive instructs his sales ladies to deal with men and women customers quite differently. Show the men the most expensive item in the line first, he says. Show the women the least expensive first. It's his contention that because girls like to quality shop, they almost invariably will ask the clerk to see something a little better. But the men rarely haggle, so buy whatever they're shown immediately, he says.

Is it conceivable that the average man loses his temper approximately six times a week? Such is the claim of researchers at Columbia University. Hard to believe. They contend the average woman loses her temper about three times a week. That's also doubtful, I think.

Pearls

Young lady, if you're the possessor of a string of pearls, cultured or otherwise, better wear them as often as possible. That's the counsel of a pearl expert. Says the warmth and moisture of the skin tends to preserve those ornaments. Deepens their luster, also.

Have found no mental expert yet who knows why young women are more addicted to astrology than are men. Can you explain that?

Did I tell you you're at your tallest when you first wake up in the morning? The cartillage in your back expands when you're horizontal during the night. This can add as much as half an inch to your height when you first leap forth at dawn.

Observe Martin Ragaway: "A 50-year-old man was a child when everything was the child's fault and a parent when everything is the parent's fault. It's unfair."

Country folk have more Bibles than city folk. In towns of less then 5,000 population, surveys show, 90 per cent of the citizens own Bibles. But in the bigger cities, less than 75 per cent are the possessors of same.

Woman tells police devil told her to drown 2 girls

ATLANTA (UPI) — A woman told police here that the devil made her try to drown her two young daughters.

Mrs. Glenda Mann was admitted to the psychiatric ward of Grady Hospital after she jumped into a park swimming pool with Latonya Booker Mann, 4, and Andria Elaine Mann, 3, and let go of them.

A son who witnessed the near tragedy called police and park employes, who saved the daughters. The girls were in critical condition at the hospital.

She told me that she'd been having dreams in which the devil told her, in effect, that she was going to hell if she didn't streak or drown somebody or drown herself," said officer G. B. Hayes.

"She said she grabbed the girls and jumped in the pool, releasing them shortly thereafter."

When rescuers arrived, one of the girls was floating on the water and the other was at the bottom of the pool.

Beagle puppy, 2, takes up fishing

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Floppy, our small, two-year-old Beagle, has taken up fishing. For crayfish. She's getting pretty good at it. She's caught, and eaten, several. She doesn't seem to eat much of the shell. She really loves them. They seem to agree with her. No reason why it shouldn't is there? A nutty neighbor at the lake says crayfish can give dogs worms?! —S.K.

Dear S. K.: Fresh crayfish would be a good nutritious dish for Floppy, though it would be better, perhaps if she would stop to cook them first. In some areas, crayfish do pack a parasite (dictophyma renale). This nematode (roundworm) may affect the dog. Known as the giant kidney worm, the adult females range up to one hundred centimeters (approximately 39 inches) in length. Developing in the kidney, this worm destroys it. It is invariably found in only one kidney (usually the first one) and surgical removal of that kidney can save the dog when the parasite is discovered early enough.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Movie Cat's never going to have her nails removed. That is settled. What else can we do to keep her from tearing up the furniture like our other Siamese did. —K.I.

Dear K.I.: Movie Cat should be susceptible to training techniques, especially if she is still young. Introduce her to a scratching post or log and carefully extend her claws, actully helping her to use the post for its intended purpose. Do this gently several times daily, especially when she has one of those bursts of enthusiasm that so frequently seem a fourerunner of a scratching episode. Natural post, complete with bark, or a cork tree are both ideal. Even a corrugated cardboard post is preferalble to the carpet-covered variety. It is far better to teach the feline to favor something than to encourage claw sharpening on a post which resembles a chair or table leg, or on a carpet-like texture similar to that of your carpets.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I heard something about a two-minute vasectomy technique that's been used on rats and dogs. Any chance that would work on a old goat I know? —R.R.

Dear R.R.: The chemical vasectomy techique is painless and usually one hundred per cent effective not only in rats and dogs but also goats (of the Capra genus). This quickie sterilization technique may prove equally useful for other goats, of other species young or old. But you (or he) will have to wait awhile.

'I don't care' finesse works

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand from the Reese-Dormer book. South is in what looks like a most commfortable two-heart contract, but things start out badly. The opening lead of the queen of clubs kills off dummy's king.

South ruffs the third club. If he simply bangs down his ace and king of hearts, he is going to have to lead spades himself. If this happens he will lose three spades and one heart in addition to the two clubs the defense has already taken to the bank.

A little thought should show him a way to be sure of his contract except against most unlikely breaks.

He simply cashes one high heart. Then he leads a diamond to dummy's king and one back to his ace. Now he ruffs his last diamond, leads dummy's jack of hearts and lets it ride.

This is what might be called an "I don't care" finesse. If it loses, West will either have to lead a spade or give South a ruff and discard. Either way South will lose two spade tricks.

Actually it wins. Now South doesn't lose a trump trick and makes his contract in spite of the three spade losers.

Brown given Senate okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Air Force Gen. George S. Brown was approved by the Senate Wednesday to become new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Brown will serve a two-year term starting July 1 as successor to Adm. Thomas S. Moorer who is retiring. Brown's nomination was approved routinely by voice vote.

Also confirmed was the appointment of Gen. David C. Jones to a four-year-term as Air Force chief of staff.

Disease spreading in India

25,000 die in smallpox epidemic

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Almost 25,000 persons have died in India during the past six months in the world's deadliest smallpox epidemic of the 20th century and the disease has spread to at least one neighboring country, health officials said Wednesday.

The officials said the figure of 10,000 dead provided by the Indian government to the World Health Organization was a "conservative estimate" and the actual death toll was probably closer to 25,000.

"What we have here is the biggest smallpox epidemic the world has seen since before World War I," said one WHO officer. "So far we have 103,830 cases reported across India and we're turning up an awful lot of new cases every day."

WHO officials said travelers from the worst hit states of Bihar and Uttar Pradesh in northern India were carrying the disease into Nepal.

"Villagers and traders who are still in the long smallpox incubation period and don't even know they have it are crossing the border daily without passing health check points," one official said.

The government has so far played down the scope of the epidemic for fear of spreading panic —particularly among foreign tourists.

There is no treatment for smallpox, a disease so ancient it was described in the sacred Sanskrit writings of India.

"If you've been exposed and you haven't been vaccinated, you're going to die, be blinded or at least horribly disfigured," a WHO spokesman said.

"When we find an infected area we vaccinate everyone there," a WHO officer said. "It would take us 1,000 years to vaccinate everyone in India at the current rate so right now we are just vaccinating to maintain the disease."

Dodgers stage RBI battle

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers are having their own private battle for the club's runs batted in lead.

The big results are Dodger victories.

Andy Messersmith pitched his second consecutive shutout Thursday night in blanking the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-0, on five hits to build the Dodgers' lead in the National League West to eight games over Cincinnati.

He had all the support he needed from the Dodgers' big three of Steve Garvey, Jimmy Wynn and Ron Cey. The L.A. trio are battling St. Louis' Reggie Smith for the RBI lead in the National League.

Garvey took the N.L. lead Thursday by driving in two runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly to pass Smith with 49 RBIs. Wynn increased his season total to 46 by drawing a bases-loaded walk while Cey belted a two-run homer off of Pittsburgh lefthander Ken Brett in the fourth inning to open the scoring for his 44th and 45th RBIs.

Smith, who visits Dodger Stadium next week, has 48.

"I thought I should have hit more home runs last year," Cey said after hitting his eighth of the campaign and fourth within a week after hitting 15 in 1973. "But it was a year of learning and seeing a lot of pitchers for the first time. Hopefully, year in and year out, I'll get better."

Messersmith completed an impessive theee-game sweep over the Pirates to build the Dodger season record to 40-15, 23-5 at home. Dodger pitchers held the Bucs to two runs and 14 hits in the series sweep.

The Chicago Cubs come into Dodger Stadium tonight for a three-game weekend series with Don Sutton (6-4), who has a 3-15 lifetime record against the Cubs, facing Rick Reuschel (4-4) in the 7:30 p.m. opener.

"We have a helluva bunch of pitchers," smiled Dodger pitching coach Red Adams, "and good pitching will always stop good hitting. Pittsburgh caught us with a hot staff."

Messersmith (6-1), who had blanked the Cubs in his last start, turned in his sixth complete game and gave the Dodgers their 11th shutout victory this season. He allowed only one walk while striking out nine with 86 strikes in his 126 pitches.

"This was probably one of the two or three strongest games I've pitched in the big leagues," Messersmith said. "I had everything tonight. I had control, command and all four pitches working for me."

Messersmith also had plenty of priase for catcher Steve Yeager. The Dodgers are an incredible 23-0 in games in which Yeager has been behind the plate.

"I think Steve is the best defensive catcher in the game right now," the pitcher praised. "He is so quick and requires such little movement in catching pitches out of the strike zone that he makes our control better than it might really be."

DODGER DATA — Joe Ferguson, who has been playing in right field with Yeager catching, extended his hitting streak to 13 games with a single in the seventh inning. Bill Russell extended his string to 12 earlier in the game . . .

It's Ball Night tonight at the stadium with all youngsters 14 and under receving free baseballs . . .

The Dodgers will switch to 7 p.m. games this Saturday with Al Downing (2-2) facing Bill Bonham (4-8). Sunday's probables at 1:15 p.m. are Tommy John (9-1) against Burt Hooton (2-5) . . .

With 49 RBIs, Garvey needs only one more to match his 1973 total . . ..

The Dodgers are 11-4 against lefthanded pitchers after compiling a 30-26 record last year . . .

It was Upland Night Thursday with Mayor Abner Haldeman throwing out the first ball.

Just a face in the crowd

In a crowd of football players, just a face in the crowd Dana Coleman wouldn't stand out much. He's about average in size for a pro offensive lineman—6-2, 255.

His background in the sport is less than outstanding. He's never been "all" anything. A couple of seasons of small college football after high school are all the credentials he has.

Dick Enright, former head football coach at the University of Oregon and currently the offensive line coach for the World Football League's Southern California Sun, saw a diamond in the rough, however, when he spotted Coleman among about 400 candidates at the Sun's first tryout camp two months ago.

"He was the only one out of the whole bunch I signed," Enright said of Coleman, a former La Verne college player. "He's got a real chance to make the club. There have been more experienced players who have come and gone, but he's still here. I hope he makes it. He's got a great attitude."

As of Wednesday, Coleman's competition was about a dozen other offensive linemen, including former Ram Joe Carollo. Carollo was one of 50 candidates who reported to the Sun camp at Cal State Fullerton Wednesday. Workouts began Monday morning.

A defensive tackle at La Verne, Coleman is learning offensive guard for the Sun.

Not altogether sound fundamentally, Coleman has attributes of size, strength and attitude according to Enright.

"There are some fundamentals he has to work on but he's coming around real well. "He has tremendous strength from working with weights which has put some necessary pounds on him."

Coleman spent the 1971 and 72 seasons at La Verne following undistinguished service at Antelope Valley High, Antelope Valley Junior College and Eastern New Mexico University.

Contrasting philosophies

He found the contrast between the philosphies in coaching at Eastern New Mexico and La Verne interesting. The New Mexico school was a kind of minor football factory. At La Verne, under head coach Roland Ortmayer, athletes compete for personal satisfaction—for fun.

"La Verne," Coleman, tried to explain, "is. . .well. . .quite unique."

A physical education major, Coleman is a few units shy of graduation at La Verne. But working towards his goal of becoming a football and track coach, he helped Les Perry with the Webb School football team last fall and worked with the weightmen at Pomona-Pitzer under head track coach Pat Mulcahy this spring. Regardless of what happens with the Sun, Coleman will return to Pomona-Pitzer next spring.

"I've wanted to play pro ball since after high school," he said. "I'd certainly like to play and I'm out here to do my best. But if I don't make it, it's not going to be the end of the world."

Having been subjected to several coaching philosophies, Coleman believes he'll take a moderate approach to game when he becomes a coach.

"I would stress many of the things I've learned, especially mental toughness—but I'd also try to look at my players as people rather than cogs in a machine."

Lots of players

Head coach Tom Fears has had to look at more than 140 players since the Sun camp opened Monday. He'd rather not go through it again.

The former star receiver for the Rams has scheduled the team's first scrimmage for late Saturday afternoon. After viewing films of the scrimmage, coaches will cut about 20 more players Sunday morning. Thirty players were cut Wednesday, including Cal Poly running back Pat Ward and La Verne College linebacker Henry Moore.

Angels deny F. Robinson is trade bait

ANAHEIM (UPI) — California General Manager Harry Dalton has denied the Angels are trying to deal off 38-year-old slugger Frank Robinson for some needed relief pitching.

"He has not been offered to any team and no other club has expressed to us an interest in him," Dalton said Thursday.

Robinson started his career with Cincinnati and was traded to Baltimore and Los Angeles before coming to the Angels in 1972.

Before hitting a three-run homer and a single in the Angels' loss to Milwaukee Thursday, the veteran slugging star had batted only .237 with two RBIs in his last 11 games. He is a designated hitter.

California, beaten 9-7 by the Brewers, is in danger of falling into last place in the American League West.

"At one time I would not have liked it," Robinson said from Milwaukee. "That was when I needed to play baseball and my career was more important to me. But now, if it happened, I'd have to look at where I'd go first before I'd decide if I would go.

"If it's somewhere I wouldn't want to play then I'd get out. If I liked the arrangement, then I'd play."

Manager Bobby Winkles admitted the team could use a strong reliever.

"We could use one, of course," he said. "The trouble is, there just aren't any available."

Tom Murphy said he just wasn't himself.

But whoever he was, he was good enough to make the tough pitches when he needed them as he helped the Brewers take two of hte three-game series with the Angels.

Murphy came on in relief of Clyde Wright in the sixth inning to find the bases loaded and nobody out. He got out of the inning with the Brewers holding a 6-4 lead.

The next inning, Murphy gave up a three-run homer to Robinson and the Brewers trailed 7-6. But he shut out California the rest of the way and his mates supplied all the power needed for the win.

"I just wasn't myself out there today," Murphy said. "I just couldn't get it together."

George Scott opened the Milwaukee seventh with a double and Darrell Porter walked. Charlie Moore doubled to score Scott and leave runners on second and third.

Pros draft 13 more from area

NEW YORK — A total of 13 more valley athletes were drafted Thursday in the major league baseball's free agent draft.

Five of those were Citrus College products, with three coming out of the high schools.

Scott Richartz of Chino High was the first to go from the valley in Thursday's rounds. Richartz, a shortstop for the Cowboys this past season, was drafted in the 17th round by the Chicago White Sox.

Robb Mayhew, the United States International University transfer who pitched for La Verne College's NAIA semifinalists this year, was picked up in the 17th round by the Minnesota Twins.

Rick Lysander, who pitched for Citrus College last year and Cal State Los Angeles this past season, was drafted in the 19th round by the Oakland A's.

Bob Salas, one of the top pitchers for Nogales High this year, also went to the Oakland A's but in the 23rd round. Salas helped hurl Nogales into the finals of the CIF 3-A baseball finals this year.

Jeff Yorak, a catcher for Citrus College, was drafted in the 30th round by the San Francisco Giants.

Dennis Hawkins, the speedy outfielder from Chaffey College, was picked up in the 36th round by the California Angels. Hawkins, Chaffey's base-stealing artist, was an All-Mission Conference choice with his .373 batting average.

Mike "Bubba" Alonso, the big designated hitter for this year's La Verne College NAIA semifinalists, was also drafted in the 36th round by the Minnesota Twins.

Cal Poly's Mike Heinen was the next to go. The Bronco pitcher went to Minnesota in the 37th round.

Ganesha High's Cleve Porter, the Pomona Valley High School Basketball Player of the Year, didn't even play baseball this year but still was drafted by the Montreal Expos in the 39th round.

Gary Wienceck, the hustling catcher from Citrus College, was picked up by the Angels in the 43rd round. Wiencek, a graduate of Claremont High, was also an All-Mission Conference selection as a utility man with a .341 batting average.

In the secondary phase of the draft, former Chaffey College star Mike Gatlin was the very first player chosen. Playing for the University of Arizona this past season, Gatlin was drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in the 24th round.

Also going in the secondary phase was Citrus College's Athlete of the Year, Phil Doktor. The Owls' infielder, who batted .371 this past season and was an All-Mission choice, was claimed by the Oakland A's in the 24th round.

Doktor's teammate, Randy Nall, was the third and final player from the valley to go in the secondary round. Nall, an All-Mission outfielder with a .340 batting average, was drafted in the 25th round by the Kansas City Royals.

The total number of valley draftees reached 18, with Walnut High's Lance Parrish, La Verne College's John Verhoeven, Nogales High's Dean Olson, Chaffey College's Ron Gill, and Damien High's Larry Pekarcik being picked up in the draft Wednesday.

Scolinos in Hall of Fame

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's John Scolinos has a new distinction today.

He is a Hall of Famer.

The veteran skipper received word Thursday of his election into the Hall of Fame of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Scolinos will be officially inducted into the Hall of Fame at the annual Coach of the Year banquet in Washington, D.C. early in January.

In recognition of the honor, a plaque with Scolinos' picture and a brief biography of the Bronco coach will be installed in the Hall of Fame at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, Mich. Scolinos will be given one for himself and Poly will receive another for public display.

Scolinos will begin his 28th year of collegiate coaching next spring and his 14th at Cal Poly. He ranks third among active baseball coaches with a lifetime 657-479 record compiled at Pepperdine and Poly.

"This is quite a surprise to me," Scolinos said when informed of the honor. "I thought you had to be retired to earn this award. I hope that's not true."

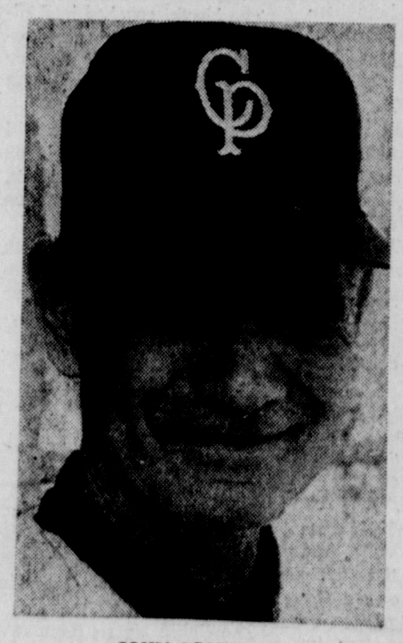
The 57-year-old coach isn't about to call it a career.

"I want to keep on coaching," Scolinos said when asked about his future. "I plan to stay in it until I lose my interest in coaching young men."

As expected, Scolinos had plenty of praise for players, administrators, assistants and anyone else who has helped his program.

"I am very appreciative of this honor," he said. "It reflects on the players and my many fine assistants who have worked with me. They have made my job much easier.

"I have also been blessed with many outstanding players. They may not have the greatest talent but they were hard workers and good people."



JOHN SCOLINOS

After compiling a 325-223 record in 14 seasons at Pepperdine, Scolinos switched to Poly in 1960 to serve as an assistant under Barney Anooshian.

At Poly, Scolinos' teams have compiled a 332-256 record. His Bronco clubs entered the NCAA Regionals in 1964 and 1966 as a major college independent.

But Poly hasn't fared quite as well since joining the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) in 1967.

Scolinis is still looking for his first CCAA title.

"We have come real close but it's been real tough," Scolinos said. "I sure would love to give Poly a championship and go back to the national (NCAA College Division) playoffs. I realize it's difficult and you must have everything going for you to do it."

"I have enjoyed my stay at Poly," Solinos added. "I have always received great cooperation and where could you find better facilities? I would like to have a better budget but I understand those problems."

Poly is off a 24-26 season but Scolinos feels his team did well considering the schedule against teams of the caliber of Arizona, USC, UCLA, Hawaii and Oregon.

"Our won-loss record wasn't great but I felt our team did a good job," Scolinos said. "We could be 40-15 if I wanted to pad the schedule but I believe in having a schedule to challenge our players."

Next year, Poly will add Stanford, Utah and UC Irvine to the schedule.

La Verne turning thoughts to the future

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — A thunderstorm struck St. Joseph, Mo. Wednesday night after the Leopards had lost to Sam Houston State.

Leo fans said it was a sign that even the man upstairs was displeased with the way things had gone. The rain abated Thursday when the team left to return home.

But apparently the bad weather returned as soon as La Verne left. Heavy rain just before game time Thursday night forced postponement of the championship game between Lewis U. and SHS until this evening.

Maybe the fans were right after all.

Coaches and players however almost immediately turned their thoughts to the future.

Rich Fielder and Nick Leyva drove out of St. Joseph early Thursday morning for Liberal, Kan. where they will spend the summer playing baseball in the Victory League, a Kansas collegiate league.

Dan Quisenberry, Tim Kelly and Bill Start lingered until the team and coaches were ready to depart in the afternoon.

Quisenberry and Kelly started out in one car with Stark following in another bound for Illinois. Quisenberry will pitch for Quincy, Kelly for Galesburg and Stark will catch for Bloomington, all in the Illinois Centeral League.

All-American John Verhoeven and lefthander Robb Mayhew were looking forward to professional baseball. Verhoeven in the Angels system and Mayhew with the Minnesota Twins.

Mike Alonso was trying to decide whether to try pro ball or not. Alonso was a late-round pick by the Twins.

Third baseman Hank Merenda was hoping to hear from a major league team. If not drafted, Merenda will tryout with either the Angels or Twins.

Jim Sherman, Paul Fleming, and Eric Frazier will play for the Ontario Collegians, a California college league.

All three will return to La Verne next year along with Quisenberry, Kelly, Fielder, Leyva, Wayne Redfearn and Art Sanchez.

Coach Ben Hines will have a complete outfield back and three quarters of his infield. Biggest problem will be to replace Verhoeven, Merenda and Don Snyder.

"At this point, I have a bunch of kids that have indicated they are coming to La Verne," Hines said. "But I really won't know until September. We don't have letters of intent so I really can't say."

Among the local and area players Hines is interested in, providing they don't sign to play pro ball, are Larry Pekarcik of Damien, Steve Iles of Upland, Todd Ervin of Claremont, Scott Richartz of Chino and Richard Ortega of Bonita.

Hines himself will manage a "rookie league" team for the Angels at Ogden, Utah, in the Pioneer League. But he already has set up a great baseball schedule for next year's La Verne team.

The Leopards will play Arizona State two games under the lights at Ontario's John Galvin Park in early March. The Leos will make their trek to Arizona the week before Easter next year.

Hines' team will spend Easter vacation playing in the Las Vegas Classic, a new tournament with teams like University of California, University of Texas, Michigan and perhaps another Big 10 team, plus Texas El Paso and host school, Nevada-Las Vegas.

Still smarting from Wednesday's loss to Sam Houston, Hines found it difficult to assess the season as a whole.

"When you get this close to a national title and miss," he explained, "you have a tendency to wipe out the rest of the year."

Five of the Leopards' nine losses in a 37-9 season were by one run. That includes both losses in the national finals.

"That shows you're in the ball game all the way," said Hines. "I think this team played up to its ability. I was disappointed in some elements in our last game, but that's past history now."

When pressed, the Leo coach did offer some observation on the umpiring which cost the Leopards three players in the semi-final game.

"It's the first time I've had a player thrown out of a playoff game of any kind in the 14 years I've been at La Verne," he said. "And the only time I can ever remember a player on any team being tossed out in playoff competition was in District play when a pitcher for Cal Western was ejected for arguing the ball and strike calls. I've never known of one to be thrown out in the national tournament."

Hines' view of the game from that point was that it changed the focus from the ball to the umpires. "It distracted team concentration," he said. It hadn't happened before, but we lost three key players. I'd like to see what Sam Houston would have done without its best hitter, designated hitter, and best pitcher."

There was also one other lingering hurt. Beginning in that seventh inning, he said, "there were five close crucial decisions and not one of them went our way."

Alonso, the big DH, had only one regret. "I had a great line saved all season in case an umpire threw me out of a game," he related. "I was going to say, 'that's the best call you've made,' but I was so excited I forgot."

COME ON, GET A HIT — Pomona Post 30 coach Woody Hansen urges a player to get a hit. Post 30 hosts La Puente at Ralph Welch Park this evening at 7 p.m.

Pomona Post 30 extends win string

Pomona Post 30 captured its eighth straight victory Thursday night while La Verne Post 330 dropped an 8-5 American Legion decision to Tri City.

Dave Lahar singled twice in three at-bats and drove in three runs and Ruben Ruiz pitched his finest outing of the season as the Gems downed a fine Norwalk Connie Mack team 5-3.

Norwalk jumped out to a 2-0 first inning lead on Jon Turner's two-run home run off Pomona starter Mark Lambert. Norwalk added a second inning tally and was holding a 3-0 lead when the Gems got on the scoreboard in the fourth.

Gerard Piccioni started things off with a single and moved to third on Ruiz' double. Billy Karr singled home Piccioni for the first Post 30 run.

Norwalk started playing giveaway in the fifth as Wil Lewallen and Tracey Cowger both reached base on errors. Lahar doubled home both runners to tie the game 3-3.

Post 30 won its ninth in 13 outings in the sixth as Karr collected his second single of the game and stole second. Jon Freeman bunted his way aboard and Lewallen lifted a fly ball to center to score Karr with the go-ahead run. Lahar followed with a single to score Freeman with an insurance run.

Lahar, who has missed action because of graduation and CIF baseball playoffs recently, has five hits in six at-bats this week and is six-for-nine on the season.

Ruiz (2-3) relieved Lambert in the fourth and hurled two-hit ball while striking out one and walking two. The junk ball specialist proved very effective as his infield saw plenty of action.

La Verne was sailing along enjoying a 5-4 lead in the seventh when five errors allowed four Tri-City runs to score and caused Post 330's fifth loss in 15 tries (9-5-1).

With two outs and a runner on second, center fielder Rick Ortega fielded a sharp single to center and came up firing a strike to catcher Carl Davis who couldn't hang on to the ball in the collision at the plate, allowing the tying run to score.

The next three batters all reached on La Verne errors and before the dust had settled four runs had crossed the plate and Tri-City had its 10th win in 13 outings (10-2-1).

Mike Brontzman gave TC its third and fourth runs with a two-run homer in the second.

La Verne fought back with three in the third scoring on a wild pitch and Ortega's two-run single.

Jim Richards singled home Davis to tie the game 4-4 in the fourth and Jay Lacheur gave La Verne the lead 5-4 in the sixth with a single to score Davis. The Post 330 had walked on both occasions.

In legion weekend action, La Verne (0-1) will play a pair of District 18 games with Claremont Post 78 (0-2) while Pomona Post 30 (1-0) faces La Puente (2-0).

La Verne will send Ralph Beltran (2-1) to the mound in Saturday's 2 p.m. game at La Verne College while the Cards will probably counter with Harry Brown.

On Sunday Mark Bumstead will oppose Claremont's John Huddleston in a 10 a.m. game at Pomona College.

Larry Pekarcik (2-0) will be on the mound against La Puente in Friday's 7 p.m. game at Ralph Welch Park and oppose John Vander-Wende, who recorded a win and a save last weekend.

The Gams travel to Los Altos High for a 10 a.m. game Sunday with La Puente and will start either Paul Madrigal or Vince Garcia.

Players named for All-Star baseball game at Chino High

CHINO — Some of the best high school baseball players to come out of the valley will be on display Friday, June 21, when Chino High plays host to the 4th Annual Pomona Valley All-Star Baseball Game at 8 p.m.

The top graduating seniors will display their wares on this celebrated occasion when schools from the North and South (of the San Bernardino Freeway) clash.

The event started four years ago and was called the San Bernardino County All-Star game, featuring an East vs. West matchup. But two years ago the festive event was localized.

Chino High head baseball coach Jim Rawls and Montclair's Tom McFadden will pilot the defending South team.

Nogales and Chaffey highs have three players each on the 16-man roster with Walnut and Montclair landing two berths each.

Pitchers Bob Salas and Dean Olson (11-2), 12-3 respectively) and catcher Mario Rojas (.414) are the Nogales contingent. Chaffey is represented by first baseman Rod Weigand (.330), catcher George Bjorkman (.250) and outfielder Wally Reed (.330).

Lance Parrish (.440) and Mark Canavan (.343) will pace Walnut's entries while Montclair is represented by Pat Proulx (.351) and Mike Pittman (.278).

Rowland's Al Emeterio (.375) will offer his services as will Ontario Christian's Bob Miersma (.276). Scott Richartz of Chino (.305), Tracey Cowger of Ganesha (.331), Ontario's Ed Rubidoux (3-8), and Garey's Ron Rodriguez (.344) will also see action.

The North, coached by Upland's Herb Christian and Bonita's Dick Salomon, will try to avenge last year's 11-3 rout.

Upland and Bonita will have three players each on the roster while Royal Oak, Claremont and Damien have two entries apiece.

The Highlanders, the San Antonio League champs, represented are pitcher Steve Iles (9-2), outfielder Tony Votaw (.338) and catcher Russ Feaster (.271). The Hacienda League champion Bearcats will have Bruce McNaught (.330), Rick Ortega (.330) and Carl Davis (.313) on the north squad.

Clyde Christensen (.466) and pitcher John Breaux (8-3) are the Royal Oak contingents, with Claremont's Todd Ervin (.438) and Harry Brown (.388), and Damien's Larry Pekarcik (9-2) and Dean Sickles (.367) more than ready to play.

Also scheduled to start or see plenty of action are San Dimas' Jim Richards (.315), Alta Loma's Larry Bell (4-1), Webb's Gary Zakem (11-4), and Pomona's Jim Price (.500).

Each team will practice on the Cowboy diamond Wednesday, June 19, and Thursday, June 20.

The South will workout at 4 p.m. and the North at 8 p.m. on Wednesday with the North donning the field at 3 p.m. on Thursday with the South to practice at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold at $1.50 for adults and .75 cents for children under 12.

The home plate umpire will be Bob Simmons with John Monger at first. Steve West will direct traffic at second base with Gary Weiberg patrolling third.

Penske's car catches fire

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Roger Penske's 1974 Matador caught on fire in a garage while it was being injected with gasoline Thursday but was not badly damaged as practice runs were held for the $80,000 Tuborg 400.

Two days of qualifying for Sunday's NASCAR race begin Friday, with 35 positions to be decided. The race will be run over Riverside International Raceway's 2.62 mile, eight-turn road course.

Penske's Matador, being sponsored by American Motors as the only factory-backed entry, will be driven by George Follmer.

A fire broke out in the car's engine while Follmer's crew was firing it up by squirting gasoline into the carburetor and the fuel ignited.

Bobby Allison's 1974 Chevelle, housed next door, had to be shoved out of the way.

Follmer's car, owned by Penske, is expected to be able to be driven after its engine is rewired and cleaned out.

The first 15 starting spots will be decided today with the other 20 qualifying positions to be filled Saturday. Pole favorites include Follmer, Richard Petty, Cale Yarbrough, Benny Parsons and Allison.

'74 will be Lanier's last

NEW YORK (UPI) — All-pro middle linebacker Willie Lanier of the Kansas City Chiefs will retire at the end of the 1974 season to work for a tobacco company which wants to build cigarette plants in urban centers.

The Philip Morris Company announced Lanier's appointment Thursday to head a pilot program for planning and starting up the urban cigarette facilities.

Dino Jr. signs pact

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Portland Storm of the World Football League opened practice sessions Thursday and announced the signing of Dean Martin Jr., son of the entertainer.

Storm head coach Dick Coury said he was generally pleased with the physical condition of the 60 players who turned out Thursday.

Another 60 join the camp today, undergo medical examinations and will begin practice Saturday morning. Thursday's workout was in t-shirts and shorts and consisted of agility drills and calesthentics. The first player cut is scheduled today, Coury said.

UC Irvine gets three on All-America club

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — California-Irvine placed three players on the All-America College Division baseball team picked Wednesday by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Named on the first team from California-Irvine were catcher Terry Stupy, first baseman Jeff Malinoff, and righthanded pitcher Gary Wheelock.

Others picked for first team honors were Robert Tuttle, second baseman from Central Missouri State; Robert Taylor, shortstop from Nichols State; Bain Pollard, third baseman from Colby State, and outfielders Pat Curran of Chapman College, Sam Bowen of Valdosta State and Robert Blakley of Southwest Missouri State.

Joining Wheelock as a first team pitcher was lefthander Terry Kieffer of New Orleans.

Picked on the second team were:

Larry Jones eligible?

He's in the middle

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Larry Jones, technically a professional football player, ran in the 53rd NCAA track and field meet Thursday night—which was all nice and legal.

But when professionalism is introduced into the world of amateur athletics, it has to produce controversy and this was certainly no exception. In this case, however, the target of the athletes' bitterness was the AAU.

In the race for the team title, meanwhile, Tennessee, UCLA, Brigham Young and North Carolina Central all stayed in the running, but Texas-El Paso, another of the favorites, fell from contention when Miner pole vaulter Larry Jesse failed to survive the qualifying round.

Jones, a quartermiler from Northeast Missouri State, signed a pro contract with the New York Giants of the National Football League and, under new NCAA rules, is permitted to participate in the track championships as long as he is not a professional in track.

But because of his pro football status, Jones, who turned in the third best qualifying time in the 440-yard dash, is not eligible to compete in next week's AAU meet nor is he eligible to try for the United States 1976 Olympic team.

"I've been getting raw deal as far as publicity goes," Jones said Thursday night. "Everyone is saying 'who is this Larry Jones and where is Northeast Missouri and what is all this trouble he's causing.' They make me feel as if I had committed some kind of sacrilegious sin.

"If I had known the consequences of the international rule I would never have signed. If the New York Giants had known the consequences they would not have signed me. I didn't sign (with the Giants) until the NCAA changed its rule."

Tennessee's Darwin Bond, another quartermiler who is expected to challenge for the championship in his event Saturday, also had some vitriolic comments for the AAU.

"The NCAA has slacked off in its strict rules," he said, "but the AAU still treats athletes like pawns."

The AAU's rules state that any athlete which competes against a professional is also ineligible for international events, but most of the participants in the NCAA 440 feel that rule will not or cannot be imposed.

"I never considered not running," said Terry Erickson of Southern Illinois. "The rule where they make everyone ineligible is a (expletive) rule."

None of the contending teams, other than Texas-El Paso, suffered any major casualties during the almost 14 hours of qualifying Thursday.

Tennessee, seeking to dethrone three-time defending champion UCLA, qualified 13 of 19 athletes in the 14 events held including three in the steeplechase. The biggest Tennessee disappointment was the loss of freshman Jon Young in the 100yard dash.

UCLA had nine men out of 13 make it through, with three pole vaulters surviving the qualifying along with top quartermilers Benny Brown and Maxie Pares. Field oriented Brigham Young, which owns the lead going into today's six final events as a result of a victory in the decathlon, had three of five make it through and North Carolina Central—a team made up almost entirely of sprinters—lost only one man out of seven.

Today's finals include the hammer throw, long jump, shot put, 120-yard hurdles, 100-yard dash and six mile run.

Alex Johnson stays happy with Rangers

By United Press International

Alex Johnson, once a troubled man with a terrible batting average in Cleveland, left the city in fine spirits with a healthy .301 average Thursday night.

Johnson played in only 108 games for the Indians in 1972 after being traded from California following arguments with teammates and management the year before and hit just .239, 90 points less than his league-leading average in 1970.

But the Texas Rangers, trying to build a winner after years of losing in Washington, took a gamble on Johnson just before the 1973 season began and the strong 6-foot outfielder has never given the Rangers any reason to regret the deal.

Thursday night Johnson helped Texas move into second place in the American League West, one game over .500 but four games behind Oakland, by driving in four runs with three singles and a double to beat Cleveland 6-2. The four hits raised his average to .301.

"Johnson has just played great for us," said Texas Manager Billy Martin. "I have just one set of rules for everybody and he's no exception. He understands and just plays great.

"Everybody said he had a problem, but he doesn't have one with us. I didn't play him in Wednesday's game because I wanted to give him a day of rest and it really helps a guy to get that day of rest, doesn't it?"

Jackie Brown, who blanked the Indians last week on three hits, scattered seven hits for the Rangers but had his 15-inning scoreless streak snapped in the seventh inning when Oscar Gamble homered.

"My curve ball was just great," Brown said. "I just hope it keeps going. It has to for me to stay around in the big leagues."

Yankees 5, White Sox 1

Gene Michael singled in two runs in the fourth inning and George Medich scattered 10 hits in gaining his seventh victory as New York beat Chicago in a game twice delayed by rain for periods of 90 and 29 minutes.

Medich, who walked three and struck out two, shut out the White Sox until the ninth when Ken Henderson hit his seventh homer.

New York's Roy White opened the game by beating out a bunt and he took third on a single by Elliott Maddox. After Bobby Murcer walked to load the bases, Ron Blomberg's sacrifice fly scored White. A single by Graig Nettles scored Maddox with the second run.

Dierker continues in comeback role

By United Press International

At an age when most pitchers are in their prime, Larry Dierker is making a comeback.

The 27-year old right-hander limited Montreal to three hits Thursday night as the Houston Astros blanked the Expos 4-0. Lee May hit two home runs, his eighth and ninth, to lead the Houston attack.

The shutout was the first for Dierker since July 4, 1972 when he handcuffed Pittsburgh on eight hits.

Dierker has been plagued by a sore arm the past several years and last season appeared in only 14 games. It was only about 10 years ago however, at the age of 18, that Dierker made his major league debut with the Astros, matching serves with such stars as Sandy Koufax and Juan Marichal.

But Dierker never quite fulfilled his potential despite winning 20 games for Houston in 1969. His problems weren't only limited to physical ailments. A variety of personal problems have also been blamed for his lackluster performance in recent years. Dierker has managed, however, to exhibit some signs of his former brilliance this season and Manager Preston Gomez, for one, is impressed.

"Dierker by far has been our most consistent pitcher this year," Gomez said. "He had to come out of several games with no decision but in 11 starts he's only had one bad outing."

The victory was Dierker's third and first since April 15.

"If I could throw like I was throwing tonight," said Dierker, "I think I have a chance against anybody."

In other games, Chicago downed San Diego 5-1, Los Angeles ripped Pittsburgh 6-0, San Francisco beat St. Louis 9-5 and New York edged Cincinnati 4-3 in the only games scheduled.

Cubs 5, Padres 1

Don Kessinger singled in George Mitterwald from second in the seventh inning to snap a 1-1 tie and then singled home another run in the ninth to touch off a three-run inning as Chicago turned back San Diego.

Giatnts 9, Cardinals 5

Gary Matthews' three-run bases-loaded double capped a seven-run, two-out rally in the fourth inning that sparked the Giants over St. Louis. Matthews' double was a windblown fly that eluded centerfielder Luis Melendez and rolled to the fence. Pinch-hitter Chris Arnold tripled to drive in two other runs in the inning.

Mets 4, Reds 3

John Milner's leadoff homer off reliever Pedro Borbon in the eighth inning provided New York with a come-from-behind victory over the Reds. Milner's homer, his ninth, came after a bases-loaded single by Cleon Jones with two out in the seventh inning had tied the score at 3-3.

Ray Sadecki won in relief of Tom Seaver.

Almon wants new image for players

WARWICK, R.I. (UPI) — Billy Almon, on the verge of signing with the last place San Diego Padres of the National League, says he wants to change the "money-grubbing" image of professional athletes.

At the same time, the Brown University junior said Thursday he will not sell himself short. "I have an idea what I might be worth and I'm not going to ask for anything exorbitant or extravagent. The Padres might even be surprised," he said.

Almon, the No. 1 pick in this week's major league baseball free agent draft, will keep salary negotiations a family affair.

Unlike most professional athletes today Almon will not be represented by a free agent. His father Edward will be sitting with him at the negotiating table.

"There will be no third parties. With an agent talking for you, it automatically sets up the atmosphere that nobody trusts each other. Instead of being friendly, negotiations turn out to be battles," he said.

But Almon, 21, also knows where his bread is buttered. "My father and I talked it over and we decided that with an agent they automatically skim 10 to 20 per cent off the top for themselves. We would be letting somebody right into our pocketbook."

"Some players seem to be playing the game for the love of money instead of the love for the game. I really want to play ball," he said.

"I just don't want to be considered another player on the team but as part of the franchise."

He figures if he turns out to be a valuable player, the team will recognize that fact and pay him accordingly.

His heavy bat will be a welcome addition to the Western Division Padres who are 21 games behind the first place Los Angeles Dodgers.

In 66 varsity games with Brown, the 180-pound shortston had a batting average of .357 with 13 homers and 89 hits. As a freshman he hit .536, getting 22 hits in 41 games.

He fully expects to be playing with the parent club this season. "They would like me to sign early. I'll be going out to the coast soon for a few days of work with the parent club and they will decide whether to keep me up or send me down to the minors.

"Even if they do send me down, I expect they would bring me up when the roster is expanded after Labor Day."

Jackson has harsh words with North

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — There is no peace in the Oakland A's' clubhouse these days but you'd never know it watching the World Champions play on the field.

In Detroit Wednesday, before the final game of a series with the Tigers, Reggie Jackson and Billy North, who have not spoken to each other for more than a month, squared off with their fists, not once but twice. Later, though, they took their places on the field and helped the A's to a 9-1 victory over Detroit.

Tonight after a day off, the A's start a three-game weekend series here with the Brewers. Jim Hunter, 8-5, pitches for Oakland against Ed Sprague, 21.

The Jackson-North breakup came at the beginning of May when Reggie chastized North for not running out an infield tap. The fact he did it in front of the whole team smacked of show-boating to North.

They had harsh words at the time and since have stayed clear of each other although Jackson claims he has tried to make peace at least a half dozen times.

Suddenly, and without much warning, the two squared off Wednesday. John Odom and Vida Blue pulled them apart but less than five minutes later they tusseled again with North pinning Jackson to the floor. This time Sal Bando and Ray Fosse broke things up.

"It's very bad," said Jackson of the situation with North, "but still I'm not mad at him, even when we were fighting I wasn't mad. I'm just embarrassed about it no matter who is right and who is wrong."

"I'm a man and I do the job I have to do," said North. "I don't have to like anybody or love anybody. As long as I do my job, everything will be all right."

A's Manager Alvin Dark, who knows a thing or two about player feuds, is steering clear of the whole mess.

"I never talk about things like that," said Dark, who was fired as A's' skipper his first time around when he became involved in players differences.

Spain will host WSC

FRANKFORT, Germany (UPI) — The 1982 World Soccer Cup will be played in Spain, sources in the International Football Federation (FIFA) disclosed Thursday.

The sources said the FIFA Congress would choose Spain at its meeting here June 11 as a result of the withdrawal of Yugoslavia's application to stage the tournament. No other country has applied.

The 1978 World Cup is scheduled to be held in Argentina.

Calif. players lead West

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — California ball players dominated the NCAA District 8 all-star team announced Thursday.

Gene Delyon, a Santa Clara University outfielder, was the only repeater to the team selected by collegiate coaches in Washington, Oregon and California.

Joining Deylon in the outfield were Marv Chamberlain of Washington State and Tim Corcoran of Los Angeles State.

Jim Willis of Oregon was selected as first baseman. Mike Edwards of UCLA, shortstop Randy Cooper, California, and third baseman Rich Dauer of USC rounded out the infield.

Sports parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Fregosi, the Texas Rangers' veteran, was right there in the middle of the whole thing Tuesday night in Cleveland.

He says he's sure it'll never happen again.

How sure, I asked him?

Positive, he said.

Jim Fregosi has been around awhile. He's been around the majors alone 14 years. He's an especially sharp observer and a good thinker, but in this case I have to disagree with him.

He's talking about the future after what happened Tuesday night at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium where a substantial portion of the 25,134 fans on hand for a 10-cent beer night promotion got a little sloppy, spilled out on the field and converted it into a madhouse.

I think what took place in Cleveland the other night not only can happen again, but will happen again.

Maybe not necessarily in the same place and in the same way, but somewhere along the circuit, and in some related way.

Why?

For any number of reasons, but basically for the best one I know — plain, old fashioned human nature.

Billy Martin, the Rangers' manager, says he never has seen anything like what happened the other night before in all his years in baseball, but that's because he hasn't been around long enough.

In the very ballpark he made his reputation, Yankee Stadium, I saw a terrible full-scale riot develop simply because some people were being rained on in the open bleachers there. One person was trampled to death. That was in Babe Ruth's time.

People don't change much down through the years.

Going on long time

Riots at sports events have been going on a long time.

South America is considered the mother country for them. Maybe you still remember how hundreds of fans were killed during a riot at a soccer game in Lima, Peru, more than 10 years ago. The one was so bad, many of the dead were carried out of the stadium by their friends.

Psychologists claim many of the riots frequently result from the fact that fans have a way of identifying with the athletes. The fans begin thinking of themselves as actually being these athletes they're watching and then look around for some other fan to compete against. Generally, these feelings come out in the form of competitive hostility wherein Fan A throws a punch at Fan B. Before you know it there's a fight, and with thousands of others around, if the fight gets out of hand, it can easily grow into something very close to a riot. Add some beer, and you've got more trouble yet.

But let's listen to Jim Fregosi and what makes him so positive there'll never be a repetition of Tuesday night's trouble.

"A number of things created what happened and I don't think these same things will ever again come to a point in exactly the way they did this time," he says. "Number one was the fight we had with the Cleveland players in Texas. It was built up by the media to draw people to the ballpark."

(Objection: When you can't blame anyone else, blame the media. It's convenient and seldom fights back. Often when the media does nothing more than report, it is accused of exaggerating. But this is Jim Fregosi talking, so let's allow him to continue.)

Closeness of game

"The second reason it won't happen again was because this was beer night, and I don't think there'll be another one, and the third reason has to do with the closeness of the game. We were ahead 5-3 in the bottom of the ninth and they tied the score."

Fregosi can't say enough about the Cleveland players, whom the Texas players had fought with on the field in Arlington, Tex., last week over a brushback incident.

"They saved us," says the Rangers' 32-year-old infielder. "If not for them, it could've been a total disaster.

"We knew something was going to happen because it was beer night. Like I say, the Indians helped us. Their dugout is on the first base side so they got to Jeff Burroughs (Texas rightfielder who was having trouble with a fan) before we did. We ran out to try to help Jeff. Then the people started coming at us. To see them converging on you from all directions, God, it's weird! Bone-chilling. You looked into their eyes, you could see they were young kids and they were drunk. Most of them weren't trying to hurt anybody. They were just out there to be out there.

"One kid, about 19 or 20, ran up to me and I didn't know what he was going to do. I turned around quick and he said to me, "hey, man, if anybody tries to get you, I'll help you!""

There were a couple of other light moments after the umpires forfeited the game to the Rangers.

In the Texas dressing room, Fregosi went over to outfielder Tom Grieve, who had two homers and a single, and said to him:

"You know, with the game forfeited the way it was, none of those hits of yours count."

All three did, of course, but Grieve didn't know it. He was glum for a moment, then suddenly brightened.

"Well," he said, "I swung the bat good anyway."

Angels sign Miley, top choice in draft

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The California Angels Thursday announced the signing of Louisiana State University baseball and football star Mike Miley, their No. 1 choice in Wednesday's free agent draft.

Terms of the pact were not disclosed.

The 21-year-old Miley, of Metairie, La., a switch-hitting shortstop, will join the Angels in Detroit Friday and will work out with the club prior to reporting to Salinas of the California League June 13.

Drafted No. 1 by the Cincinnati Reds three years ago, the 6-1, 185-pound Miley decided instead to attend college and played quarterback for the LSU football squad in addition to baseball.

Miley hit .275 in 35 games this season for LSU. He had three home runs and 16 runs batted in and is regarded as an outstanding fielder.

A junior, Miley passed up another year of college athletic eligibility to sign with the Angels.

Phillies sign top draft pick

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies announced Thursday the signing of their No. 1 free agent draft pick, 18-year-old outfielder Lonnie Smith of Compton, Calif.

Smith, chosen Wednesday in the annual draft in New York, will report to the Phillies' Auburn, N.Y., farm club in the New York-Penn League, which begins its season June 22.

Terms of the signing were not disclosed.

Smith, who bats and throws right-handed, hit .418 with four home runs at Centennial High School in Compton this season.

Phillies minor league director Dallas Green said Smith was one of the "top-hitting high school prospects" available in this year's draft.

First woman

'Hens induct five

CLAREMONT — Five former Pomona College athletic stars, including the first woman in the 31-year history of the event, were enshrined as members of the Pomona College Athletic Hall of Fame during the annual spring sports banquet held Thursday night at the Los Angeles Police Academy in Elysian Park.

Heading the list of honored Sagehen athletes was Darlene R. Hard, Woodland Hills, class of 1961, former National Women's Singles Tennis Champion and who for four years, from 1958 to 1962, was ranked as the nation's No. 1 women's tennis player. A native of Los Angeles, Miss Hard now is a tennis instructor at the Vermont Canyon Tennis Club in Griffith Park.

Joining Miss Hard in the Pomona College Athletic Hall of Fame were H. Seymour Beek, Balboa; Ralph B. Pursche, Scottsdale, Ariz., and Milton Neil Schroth, Orinda, all 1955 graduates, and Peter Somfeld, Glendora, a 1933 graduate. The gathering was sponsored by the Pomona College Men's Club with Col. Allen T. Barnum, Santa Ana, presiding. The Pomona College Hall of Fame now has 58 members.

Each of the new Hall of Famers received a plaque from the United Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation, presented by Dr. Edward W. Malan, Pomona College director of athletics. After the dinner meeting the group attended the baseball game between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Miss Hard, a native of Los Angeles, was a pre-med major during her undergraduate years at Pomona College but her success as a tennis player and a heavy tournament schedule in many parts of the world, forced her to cancel her hopes of becoming a pediatrician.

Instead, Malan recalled, Miss Hard "practically ran the tennis program while at college, instructing classes, putting on clinics and, of course, she was the mainstay of the women's team."

Malan, in reciting a few of Miss Hard's local, national and international achievements, said she won the Southern California junior tennis championships at 13, was national women's singles champion for two years, was ranked America's No. 1 women player for four years, she won seven doubles titles, including two mixed doubles championships, and on two occasions was runner-up for the women's singles championship at Wimbledon, the world's No. 1 tournament in England.

During her career Miss Hard also won the French and Italian singles and doubles titles, played on America's Wightman Cup teams for nine successive years and was captain of the Federation Cup matches.

Beek, a native of Loma Linda, who won four letters in varsity swimming and three letters in varsity water polo, was a school record holder in the 100-yard free style event and was captain of both the waterpolo and swim teams in his senior year. He also was anchorman on a conference record-setting relay team in 1953 and 1955. Beek now is program manager for the Aeronautics Division of Philco-Ford in Newport Beach.

Pursche, who was born in Torrance and now is a supervisor of operations in the Western marketing region of the Shell Oil Co., gained his place in the college's Hall of Fame for his participation in both football and baseball, lettering in each of his four undergraduate years in football as a wingback on offense and safety man on defense. Pursche also was co-captain of the Sagehen football team and the leading scorer in his junior year, and was elected to the All-Conference team in both his junior and senior years. One of his 33-yard field goals helped defeat Whittier in 1953.

Schroth, a native of Fullerton, lettered in football in each of his four undergraduate years, playing alternately as a center and a linebacker. He was co-captain of the Sagehen team with his co-Hall of Famer, Ralph Purche, in his junior year and was elected to the All-Conference team in his junior and senior years. Schroth also was selected on the small college All-Coast second team in 1953, and was a member of the first team in 1954. His biggest thrill as a Sagehen was running back a blocked field goal for 90 yards and a touchdown against Occidental. Schroth currently is professor of plant pathology and assistant dean for research at the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of California, Berkeley.

Somfeld, who was born in Stockton but graduated from the Bonita Union High School in 1929 after participating in football, baseball and track, was involved in both football and track in each of his four years at Pomona. He was captain of the frosh football team in 1929 and captain of the varsity track team in 1933.

He was selected for the All-Conference track team in 1932 and 1933, and still holds the Pomona College hammer throw record with a distance of 152-5¼ and the conference meet record at 148-3. Somfeld competed for the Los Angeles Athletic Club from 1934 to 1936 and during World War II coached track and field events for the U.S. Third Army track team in Europe in 1945. He is a retired plant manager and bank director.

Mage takes PBA lead in Downey

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

DOWNEY — You won't be surprised to find out that a lefthander from Washington leads the $75,000 Brunswick PBA National Championship after the first round of finals at Wonderbowl Downey.

But you will be surprised to find out that it's not Earl Anthony.

Anthony, who has led the tournament since it started on Monday, relinquished his lead for the first time in the eighth game of the head-to-head match play finals Thursday night as Seattle's Gary Mage edged past by two pins.

Qualifying play was completed earlier in the afternoon and Anthony, firing a 1721 eight game block, held a 202 pin lead over Mage. Gary had closed the gap somewhat, and forewarned all of what was ahead, by firing the high set of 1733, including a 299 game when a 6-pin refused to fall. Claremont's Tye Critchlow finished 49th for $370.

In the finals, Anthony had his worst round of the tourney in rolling 1605 and winning five games in addition to one tie. In the meantime, Mage was rolling along at a 220 clip with his 1764, and picked up seven wins in the eighth games. A bonus of 30 pins goes with each win.

The tourney continues today with two eight game blocks of match play being rolled. Then the top five will return Sunday for the TV style finals which will be aired nationally by CBS-TV as its Sports Spectacular.

Right now it's a two man show—Mage and Anthony — looming as favorites for the $9,000 first place prize.

40-GAME LEADERS

Woody Hayes stays in guarded condition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Doctors said today that preliminary tests revealed Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes suffered a mild heart attack early Thursday morning.

A medical bulletin issued today by the OSU Athletic Department, said: "Based on the findings of electrocardiogram tracings, doctors have determined that OSU football coach Woody Hayes has suffered an acute miocardial infarction in the anterior wall of the heart. This appears to be stabilized at the present time and the patient has had a very good past 18 hours."

The bulletin also said that Hayes was also suffering from mild hypertension (elevated blood pressure) and elevated blood sugar (diabetes). Both conditions, the bulletin said, are frequently associated with a cardiac condition such as Hayes'.

The controversial but always colorful coach was rushed to University Hospital Thursday morning after suffering the chest pains.

Susie Berning carries lead in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Susie Berning, a diminutive part-time pro who was the tour's most improved player in 1967, carries a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $100,000 Desert Inn-LPGA Golf Classic.

But the 5-foot-2, 115-pounder, who spends half the tour traveling in a motor home with her family, is convinced she's only now made the biggest improvement of her career.

Inspired by George Archer of the men's tour, Mrs. Berning adopted a side-saddle putting style and tore through the front nine of the 6,255-yard Desert Inn layout to finish Thursday's opening 18 holes with a five under par 68.

Even though starting her round with the back nine and only able to match par, the brown-haired native of Pasadena, Calif. was two strokes ahead of three other golfers.

Sandra Palmer, the winner of the first Desert Inn tournament in 1971,(Marlene Hagge and Donna Caponi Young were all tied for second with three under par 70s.

In with 71s, three strokes off the pace, were Laura Baugh, Sandra Post and Karolyn Kertzman. Eight others were tied at 72.

For Mrs. Berning, it was a reward of sorts for an almost bizarre training program in which she tried to develop a better way of lining up her sight with the hole and the ball.

"I had a brace on my neck and a patch over one eye," she said of her early efforts. The 32-year-old Mrs. Berning, now a resident of Lake Tahoe, Nev., then turned to her new neighbor—Archer.

"After he told me the 11 things I was doing wrong, I was almost in tears," she said. "I went home and really worked hard on all my faults. Themain thing was my eyes. I wasn't keeping them on the ball as I putted. I'm too short to stand the normal way."

Actually, she said, Archer advised her not to resort to the unorothodox side-saddle approach after she suggested it.

WATCH THE BIRDIE—John Schlee reacts to his sinking a birdie putt on the 17th tee as he shot a 66 to take the first day lead in the Philadelphia Classic Thursday.

Schlee leads par-busters into second round of IVB

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Forty-nine par-busters, led by John Schlee with a six-under 66, swung into the second round of the $150,000 IVB Golf Classic today in pursuit of a $30,000 first prize purse.

Playing under sunny skies with increasing temperatures and humidity, the touring pros continued their devastating play, although it was thought that scores would be higher here than last week at the Kemper Open in Charlotte, N.C., where only those who broke par made the 36-hole cut.

Performance here Thursday seemed to give credence to the criticism defending IVB champion Tom Weiskopf leveled at "those who set the course up for tournaments." He said that courses played "too easy" for the pros.

Behind Schlee as the race to make the cut continued, were Charles Sifford and Tom Jenkins with 67s, five pros with 68s, a dozen at 69 and 13 others with two-under 70s on the suburban 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley course.

There were 15 pros at 71, including defending titlist Weiskopf, who has won here twice in the last three years, Masters winner Gary Player and Australian Bob Charles.

Johnny Miller, who will defend his U.S. open title at Mamaroneck, N.Y., next week, shot par.

Weiskopf's criticism of the courses on the tour did not satisfy Bob Menne, winner of last week's Kemper Open, which he took in a sudden death playoff with Jerry Heard by sinking a 30-foot birdie putt.

Menne, after firing a 69 on the tighter fairways and smalled greens of Whitemarsh, said, "Well, that course last week was the only one that ever played easy for me."

Menne said he believes that the lower scores on the tour result from an improvement in the caliber of play.

"These young fellows come out of college today ready to win," he said. "They're solid players. That's why scores are down. Also, they're not afraid of the big names."

Schlee, who describes himself as "defending runnerup" at the Open next week, has been on the tour for nine years. His only tournament victory was the 1973 Hawaiian Open.

Ogawa wins

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Yosh Ogawa, 138, Tokyo, scored a unanimous 10-round decision win over Nacho Casteneda, 138, Durango, Mexico, at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

In Hacienda League

Spring football finished

The four local Hacienda League schools completed their spring football sessions after 12 days of workouts.

San Dimas coach Bob Baiz welcomed 43 varsity and 50 junior varsity gridders to the Saints' spring traiing.

"Our goal was to see what kids we'll have in the fall since we have six returning from last year's team," said Baiz, who will be starting his fourth year as head coach. "We brought up seven from last year's undefeated freshman team and the remainder from a fine junior varsity club.

"Our objective was to take a look at these youngsters and see if we can come up with some winning combinations. I think we'll be a fairly good team. We'll have some fine running backs in Shelley White, the hurdler, and Paul Willman and Richard Burk have looked good.

"Kevin Pokrajac looks like he'll do a good job at quarterback last year."

Just as San Dimas completed its drills last Friday, so did Bonita High.

Coach Pete Lopez greeted 43 varsity and 36 junior varsity performers for the annual limbering up session.

"Our goals primarily were to look at the personnel," said the third year head coach. "We wanted to see how they've developed.

"We tested them on agility, speed, quickness, threw the ball around a lot and worked on kicking by conducting contests."

The Bearcats will have everybody back in their key positions which will add up to what looks to be a very balanced up and coming league season.

"I think the league will be as tough as it's ever been," said Lopez.

"Royal Oak will be tough even though they lost a lot from last year's team and Alta Loma and Ontario look to be strong. San Dimas is building but they have the biggest backs in the league. Sierra Vista will be tough if they come up with a quarterback and Walnut is always a threat."

Doug Brooks welcomed 35 varsity and 20 junior varsity athletes to his spring sessions which concluded Thursday with what Brooks described as a 'very good looking scrimmage.'

Rockets sign No. 5 choice

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association Thursday announced the signing of their No. 5 draft choice, Owen Wells of the University of Detroit.

The 6-7 Wells played both forward and guard at Detroit, averaging 20.6 points and 8.8 rebounds per game last season. Coach Johnny Egan said Wells would be used at both positions.

"He has blinding quickness and is a fine offensive player, but the main reason he was drafted by us was for his defensive ability," Egan said.

"We were quite pleased with our game yesterday. Everybody that's back looked real good. Joe Jefferson looked good, Marcus Jenings, up from the JV's looks to be a good runner, my son Doug Brooks is a real fine blocker and runs well (fullback)."

Like the other skippers, Brooks tries to use the spring meetings as a chance to get the offense down pretty good as far as techniques are concerned." "We also stress a lot of defensive secondary work since contact drills are not allowed in the spring."

And like his coaching peers, Brooks sees the Hacienda League as a well balanced effort but gives the nod to Royal Oak because it was league champs in varsity as well as junior varsity last year.

Walnut coach Ken Gunn listed five goals he hoped to achieve, in the spring session that ends today, when he greeted a combined 94 varsity and junior varsity footballers 12 days ago.

"We hope to select the top 35 to 40 for varsity and to establish a feeling of team unity," said the six year Mustang coach. "We also tried to find an offense and defense that best suits the talents of our personnel. We tried to identify all our kicking specialists and teach as many fundamentals as possible.

"The practices have gone much easier so far this year than in recent years because they're so young. And young kids tend to get enthused easily."

Woman Achiever awards

Nomination now open

The Progress-Bulletin will repeat its Woman Achiever Awards program this summer as part of the Women's Department special club edition to be published July 23.

The awards program was originated in 1966 when Pomona Valley residents had an opportunity to nominate outstanding women for service to their community. This year four women will be named in the special edition and tribute will be paid them for their contributions of time and service to their community at a luncheon later in July.

The nomination blanks must be returned to the Women's Department of the newspaper not later than June 12.

Fact sheets for club inclusion in the annual Pomona Valley Women edition have also been sent to the president or publicity chairman of every club listed with the Women's Department. The deadline for return of the club forms is June 21.

Additional Woman Achiever forms for nominating persons may be obtained at the cashier's desk in the lobby of the Progress-Bulletin.

Cynthia Coleman wed in Chapel of Bells

Chapel of the Bells in Ontario was the setting for the marriage of Miss Cynthia Coleman and Gary G. Holiman.

The Rev. Lee Kirk performed the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Coleman of Chino and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Holiman, also of Chino.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess-styled gown of imported satin with a lace bodice and long sleeves trimmed in seed pearls. Her veil was of silk illusion.

A crescent of gardenias, stephanotis and baby's breath was carried by the bride.

Serving as maid of honor was Bonnie Dekkenga. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Haley, Mrs. Pam Proulx and Miss Brenda Holiman, sister of the groom.

The bride's sister and brother, Janissa Coleman and John Coleman, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Tony Rocha was best man. Ushers were Don Hermans, Gary Brindamour and Brad Coleman, brother of the bride.

A reception at the Arbor restaurant in Upland honored the couple. The groom's sisters, Judy and Carla Holiman handled the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Holiman will make their home in Montclair after a wedding trip along the California coast.

Clean-up campaign scheduled

If a couple of Camp Fire Girls have their way, the western shore of Puddingstone Dam Lake will be spick and span by Saturday evening.

Sue Gustin and Val Brown, members of the Horizon Club led by Mrs. Kitty Ellington, are recruiting volunteers to help clear the shoreline of bottles, cans and other litter. The clean-up campaign is scheduled between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Volunteers can reach the area by taking the old road to the lake which is part of Frank Bonelli regional park.

Members of Susan Maudal's Camp Fire Girls group will assist in the project.

Subsitutes

Teacups, custard cups and muffin tins make good substitutes for individual salad molds.

Reports given by delegates

A report on the Lutheran Women's Missionary League Southern California district convention was given by Mrs. Alberta Timken and Mrs. Donna Jean Singleton at the Thursday meeting of the LWML meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran Church parish hall.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Grace Fleischmann.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ruth Blecker and Mrs. Hyacinth Kalousek.

RESOLUTION NO. 74-122

A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF POMONA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ACKNOWLEDGING THE FILING OF THE WRITTEN REPORT OF THE CITY ENGINEER WITH THE CITY CLERK SETTING FORTH THE CHARGES PRESCRIBED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1673, KNOWN AS "THE CODE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, CALIFORNIA", ADOPTED MAY 23, 1960, FOR SERVICES AND FACILITIES FURNISHED BY THE CITY OF POMONA OUTSIDE ITS TERRITORIAL LIMITS IN CONNECTION WITH ITS SEWAGE SYSTEM AND SETTING A HEARING THEREON AND DIRECTING THE CLERK TO GIVE NOTICE OF THE HEARING AS PRESCRIBED BY ORDINANCE NO. 1537 AND ORDINANCE NO. 1673.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Pomona as follows:

SECTION 1. That on the 31st day of May, 1974, the City Engineer filed a written report with the City Clerk, attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference and marked Exhibit "A", setting forth the charges prescribed by Ordinance No. 1673, known as the Code of the City of Pomona, California", adopted May 23, 1960, for services and facilities furnished by the City of Pomona outside its territorial limits in connection with the sewage system of the City of Pomona.

SECTION 2. The Council of the City of Pomona hereby orders that a public hearing to be held upon said report, and fixes Monday, the 24th day of June, 1974, as the day of the public hearing at the hour of 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers, located at 505 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California. Any interested person may appear and be heard in relation to the report and any matter contained therein.

SECTION 3. The Clerk is ordered to publish this resolution once a week for two successive weeks in the Progress-Bulletin with at least five days intervening between the respective publication dates not counting such publication dates. The period of notice shall commence upon the first day of publication and terminate at the end of the fourteenth day, including therein the first day in accordance with Section 6066 of the Government Code. The above newspaper is printed and published in the City of Pomona and the area outside the City of Pomona affected by the report.

SECTION 4. The Clerk is ordered to mail to each person to whom any parcel or parcels of real property described in the report is assessed in the last equalized assessment roll available on the date the report was filed at the address shown on the assessment roll or as known to the Clerk, a copy of this resolution.

SECTION 5. The Council will at the hearing consider all objections or protests, if any, to the report attached hereto as Exhibit "A". If the Council finds that protest is made by the owners of a majority of separate parcels of property described in the report, then the report shall not be adopted and the charges shall be collected separately from the tax roll and shall not constitute a lien against any parcel or parcels of land.

Exhibit "A"
REPORT OF THE CITY ENGINEER
OF THE
CITY OF POMONA

The charges prescribed by Ordinance No. 1537 entitled "AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF POMONA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, PRESCRIBING FEES FOR SERVICES AND FACILITIES FURNISHED BY THE CITY OF POMONA OUTSIDE ITS TERRITORIAL LIMITS IN CONNECTION WITH ITS SEWAGE SYSTEM AND PROVIDING THAT THE FEES BE A LIEN ON THE REAL PROPERTY SERVED, AND PROVIDING FOR THE PROPERTY OWNER SERVED TO EXECUTE A CONTRACT AS PROVIDED IN ORDINANCE BEFORE RECEIVING SERVICE", and adopted June 30, 1958, amended by Ordinance No. 2322, adopted December 15, 1969, provides that the charges prescribed for the fiscal year 1974-75 shall be collected on the tax roll in the same manner and by the same persons and at the same time and together with and not separately from its general taxes. The City Engineer herewith submits to the Council of the City of Pomona by filing with the City Clerk, the report of the charges as prescribed by the Ordinance. The list hereto attached consisting of seven pages contains a description of each parcel of real property receiving such services and facilities and the amount of the charge for each parcel for the year, computed in conformity with the charges prescribed in the Ordinances.

DATED THIS 31st day of May, 1974.

EDWARD R. JAMES, City Engineer

'Airport 1975'

Movie spectacular boasts spectacular expenses

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The make believe of movies can be spectacularly expensive as director Jack Smight discovered with "Airport 1975," which he is currently shooting on Stage 23 at Universal Pictures.

Smight sat in a canvas backed chair waiting for one of his assistants to assemble 120 actors for a scene inside a jumbo jet 747.

"This mockup cost $1.5 million," the director said. His budget for the entire film is only $5 million.

"Fortunately, we didn't have to build it from scratch," he went on. "It was put together here at Universal by the studio and Pan-American Airlines. It is used for television commercials and other film rentals."

The mockup from the inside is genuine in every detail. A visitor is easily convinced he is aboard the big jet plane itself.

"We're shooting about half the picture in the plane," said Smight.

Asked why they bothered with the mockup instead of filming on board the real thing, Smight replied:

"We're going to Salt Lake City for a week of shooting exteriors, and we'll shoot inside a real plane up there. But it will cost us $40,000 a day. Here at the studio we rent the mockup for lots less on a weekly basis. It's still plenty expensive."

It is also more safe. The insurance costs alone for the use of a 747 —which costs $20 million —is almost prohibitive.

All Pan-Am insignia were removed from the mockup and the interior of the plane was color coordinated with the stewardess uniforms by none other than Edith Head.

Three airlines stewardesses are in the cast and an airlines pilot is acting as technical advisor on the film which stars Charlton Heston, Karen Black, George Kennedy and Gloria Swanson.

In addition to the mockup of the enormous passenger compartment, a mockup has been made of the flight deck of a 747. Cost: $400,000.

The flight deck will not be amortized in other pictures or commercials because it is wrecked in the course of the pictures.

The real excitement of the picture is a mid-air collision between the super jet liner and another aircraft — which doesn't thrill the airlines or their executives.

In the course of the film a jet helicopter delivers another pilot to the stricken plane by flying above and ahead of the 747.

Air Force acrobatic teams are working out the wrinkles on the stunt which promises to be one of the most spectacular in recent movie memory.

"For interior scenes in the passenger cabin we're trying to give as realistic an impression as possible," Smight said. "We're not removing sections of the plane to facilitate camera angles because audiences will be distracted by that."

What Smight has in mind is convincing audiences they are sitting inside a jet liner that has suffered a mid-air crash. If he succeeds it should be a big boost to Amtrak and slow boats to China.

Bit Parts: Jose Ferrer, scheduled to star in the new "Everything Money Can't Buy" series, will be replaced before the show makes its fall debut ... Henry Fonda's one-man show, "Clarence Darrow," will be seen as a TV special Sept. 4 via NBC ... Vanessa Redgrave will star in "Winter Rates" for Lorimar Productions.

Couple to tour U.S. in London double-decker

LONDON (UPI) — Mrs. David Roy and her husband left today for a six-month tour of the United States in a London double-decker bus.

"We spent five months touring Europe with it," she said in an interview. "Some of the craziest things happened."

The Roys, both 25, married last year and spent $2,400 converting the worn bus into a two-story home and moved into it at Braintree, Essex.

CALYPSO COMIC — Cleavon Little stars in Derek Walcott's new calypso comedy, "The Charlatan," playing through July 7 at the Forum of the Los Angeles Music Center. Little won a Tony Award as star of the Broadway musical hit, "Purlie." The Walcott comedy, having its world premiere, also stars Paula Kelly, Lou Gossett and James Woods.

Pomona chorus set for Downey festival

DOWNEY — The Pomona Community Chorus, directed by Ray Woods, is one of eight chorales that will take part in the second annual Downey Choral Festival at the Downey Theater at 7:30 p.m. next Friday.

Myron Floren, accordionist with the Lawrence Welk Orchestra, will conduct the massed choruses, a group of 250 voices.

The festival is sponsored by the Downey Civic Chorus directed by Marjorie Fuller. Community choruses will come from Santa Monica, Burbank, Cerritos and other cities. Each group will perform individually, then sing as one chorus under Floren.

The accordionist was host to the Downey Civic Chorus recently in the Myron Floren Musical Extravaganza with the Welk orchestra and stars of the television show. The event, held at the Forum in Inglewood, was a benefit for the Centenela Valley Hospital.

Floren, a native of South Dakota, took up the accordion at 7, and a year later was entertaining crowds at the Day County Fair. At 9 he won both first and second prizes in a local amateur contest. He worked his way through Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D., giving accordion lessons, and began to perform professionally at the age of 19.

Floren is now in his 24th year with the Welk orchestra. In addition to appearing on the weekly television show, he travels throughout the nation performing at special events, usually benefits.

Tickets for the Downey Choral Festival can be obtained at the theater box office or from chorus members.

IRVING WALLACE has sold his latest novel, "The Fan Club," to Columbia Pictures. It tells of four kooks who kidnap filmdom's leading sex sumbol for their own pleasure.

Nostalgia time

3 'oldies but goodies' albums now on the market

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — During the Big Band era, orchestra leaders worked hard at developing vocalists because they had to move up front and take over the proceedings on almost every tune.

Some of the great stars of their time made their bid as soloists with orchestras. Among them were Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes and Harriet Hilliard.

Helen Forrest was an outstanding singer during those days. She began her upward spiral with Artie Shaw and then sidled over to Benny Goodman and Harry James.

Some of her finest songs were done with Goodman and those who do not have the old 78 rpms can enjoy the tunes again on a two Lp album, "Benny Goodman and Helen Forrest'' (Columbia KG 32822).

Not Upstaged

Goodman is best remembered as a jazz and swing clarinetist in small groups but he also excelled as leader of a big band. And this was a big band with such musicians as Ziggy Elman, Charlie Christian, Cootie Williams Billy Butterfield and Teddy Wilson.

But Helen Forrest was not to be upstaged as she sang "Amapola," or "Yours" or "Lazy River."

These songs are included in this selection, along with "Taking a Chance on Love" and "I'm Nobody's Baby."

Tommy Dorsey had Sinatra as his vocalist for quite a while and some of their sides have been electronically processed for modern stereo equipment on "What'll I Do" (RCA APL10497).

Nostalgia evoked

The young Sinatra's mastery of phrasing was forecast in these sessions, particularly on "Blue Skies" and "The One I Love."

"Imagination" and "What'll I Do?" also seemed tailored to Sinatra's stylings, as well as "In the Blue of the Evening" and "We Three."

Both albums will stir up nostalgic visions among those who grew up with this music.

And for those who remember even farther back, "The 20's Score Again" by Bob Thiele and His New Happy Times Orchestra (Signature BSL 1055) is a delightful surprise.

Inspired by the renewal of interest in F. Scott Fitzgerald and "The Great Gatsby," Thiele's music is justifiably jazzy.

And it wouldn't be complete without "Muskrat Ramble" and "The Sheik of Araby," two of the warhorses of jazz.

Thiele has a good change of pace, sprinkling the session with tunes such as "Wolverine Blues" and "Farewell Blues" with the more lively "Indiana" and "Someday Sweetheart."

Glendale orchestra to play with ballet

LOS ANGELES — Members of the Glendale Symphony Orchestra will again play for all performances of the New York City Ballet in the Greek Theater Aug. 12 through 24.

Robert Irving, principal director; Hugo Fiorata, associate conductor; and assistant conductor and piano soloist Gordon Boelzner will be with the company in its 10th appearance in the Greek.

The opening program, August 12, 13 and 14, will include the new Jerome Robbins ballet, "Dybbuk," to a specially commissioned score by Leonard Bernstein and two ballets choreographed by George Balanchine: "La Source" to a score by Leo Delibes, and George Bizet's "Symphony in C."

Sixth annual

Claremont music fete to open at Pomona College

CLAREMONT — Season tickets are now on sale at Pomona College for the sixth annual Claremont Music Festival opening July 5. The program includes 12 concerts through Aug. 3.

Instrumental and vocal music from the Middle Ages to the avant garde will be presented, including world premieres of works by Paul Chihara, Karl Kohn and Bernard Rands and the first U.S. performance of Gyorgy Ligeti's "Fragments for Chamber Orchestra."

A new feature this season is the three chamber orchestra concerts on Sunday afternoons. As in past seasons, there will be four Wednesday evening chamber concerts featuring resident artists, and five Festival Orchestra concerts, conducted by Giora Bernstein, founder and music director of the festival. In addition there will be four free concerts by students and faculty.

Highlights of the programming include rarely performed chamber music by Danzi, Takemitsu, and Spohr, an all-Stravinsky program, and chamber concerts celebrating the centennials of Ives and Schoenberg. Among other unusual works are Schoenberg's orchestration of Brahms' "Piano Quartet in G Minor," "Deserts" by Varese, vocal music by Stravinsky, and a symphony of Frederick the Great.

More familiar fare includes Mahler's First Symphony, Mozart's "Linz" Symphony, Haydn's Sinfonia Concertante, Stravinsky's "Firebird" Suite, concertos by Handel, Vivaldi, Haydon Berg, and Strauss, and chamber music classics by Brahms, Beethoven, Dvorak, and Bloch.

Another programming innovation will be music from the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance directed by Kohn in newly transcribed editions which seek an accurate recreation of this music, so often distorted when transcribed into modern notation.

Some 20 distinguished resident and visiting artists will be featured at the Claremont Music Festival this summer. Returning participants are violinists Charles Libove and Kenneth Goldsmith; violist Philip Goldberg; contrabass Bertram Turetzky, horn virtuoso Barry Tuckwell, percussionist Hal Rees, and pianists Kohn, Peter Hewitt and Nina Lugovoy.

New resident artists include cellist George Neikrug; flutist Jill Shires; oboist Richard Woodhams; Ben Kamins, bassoon, Malcolm McNab, trumpet; and Frances Woodhams, harp.

Guest artists will be alto Claudine Carlson; Mitchell Lurie, clarinet; organist David McVey; and two guest conductors: John Gosling, conductor of the North Carolina Symphony, and Edgar Braun, conductor of the San Francisco Chamber Orchestra.

GIORA BERNSTEIN

The complete programs:

July 5, 8:15 p.m.: Libove, violin; Neikrug, cello; Woodhams oboe; Kamins, bassoon. Sinfonia Concertante in B Flat for violin, cello, oboe and bassoon (Haydn); Symphony No. 1 in D Major (Mahler).

July 10, 8:15 p.m.: first performance of Encounters for Bassoon and Piano (Kohn); Trio in F for Violin, Horn and Bassoon (Danzi); "Eucalypts II" (Takemitsu); Trio in B Major for Violin, Cello, and Piano (Brahms).

July 12, 8:15 p.m.: Tuckwell, horn. Horn Concerto No. 2; (Strauss); Five Pieces for Orchestra, Op. 16 (Schoenberg-Greissle); "Deserts" (Varese).

July 14, 4 p.m.: Neikrug, cello. "Chacony in G Minor" (Purcell-Britten); Cello Concerto in D Major (Haydn); first performance of suite from "Shinju" (Chihara); Symphony in D Major (Frederick the Great).

July 17, 8:15 p.m.: "From the Steeples and the Mountains"; Adagio Sostenuto; Allegretto Sombreoso; "Tone Roads No. 3"; Scherzo: "Over the Pavements" (Ives); Octet in E for Clarinet, Two Horns and Strings (Spohr).

July 19, 8:15 p.m.: Miss Carlson, alto; Michael Sells, tenor; Libove, violin. Cantata No. 60 (Bach); Violin Concerto (Berg); Symphony No. 36 (Linz) in C (Mozart).

July 21, 4 p.m.: Gosling, guest conductor; Goldsmith, violin; Mrs. Woodhams, harp. "La Primavera" (Spring) from "The Four Seasons" (Vivaldi); "Danses Sacree et Profane," for harp and orchestra (Debussy); Eight Instrumental Miniatures (Stravinsky); Serenade in A, Op. 16 (Brahms).

July 24, 8:15 p.m.: Sacred and secular music from the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance. Instrumental and vocal ensemble under the direction of Kohn. First U.S. performance of "Fragments for Chamber Orchestra" (Ligeti); Quintet for Piano and Winds in E Flat (Beethoven).

July 26, 8:15 p.m.: Miss Carlson, alto. All-Stravinsky program. "Monumentum pro Gesualdo di Venosa"; Two Sacred Songs from Wolf's "Spanisches Liederbuch"; "La Faune et la Bergere," "Firebird" Suite.

July 28, 4 p.m.: Braun, guest conductor; McVey, organ. Organ Concerto in B Flat, No. 2 (Handel); Serenade in D Minor for Winds, (Dvorak); Concerto Grosso No. 1 for Strings and Piano (Bloch).

July 31, 8:15 p.m.: All-Schoenberg program. "Herzgewachse"; Wind Quintet; "Verklarte Nacht."

Aug. 3, 8:15 p.m.: Turetzky, contrabass. First performance of "Etendre" (Rands); Concerto for Four Violins in B Minor (Vivaldi); Piano Quartet in G Minor (Brahms-Schoenberg).

The concerts will all be held in Bridges Hall, Fourth Street off College Avenue, on the Pomona College campus.

Season subscriptions are $40, $32.50, $25 and $17.50 for students. All seats are reserved. Single tickets will go on sale June 17.

An illustrated brochure and ticket information may be obtained by writing the Claremont Music Festival, Pomona College, Claremont 91711 or by phoning 621-1112 or 626-8511, ext. 2242.

FLYING MOUSE — Dumbo the Flying Elephant takes Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and small friends on a trip through Disneyland as the amusement center prepares for its 85-day summer season opening next Friday. Nashville finally strikes it Rich

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Rich has been honored by his Nashville peers as the top male country singer of the year.

He should receive another award for patience.

Charlie has been around for years, singing both country and pop music. Not so many years ago, Rich often would break into a song that had the Presley sound but he never lost his own identity. Now he is on top as himself.

To really appreciate Rich's artistry, you have to associate him with a composer who wrote country music for posterity. And that would be Hank Williams.

In 1967 Charlie recorded an album of Williams' hit tunes. It has now been made available in a new pressing, "Charlie Rich Sings Country and Western" (Hi SHL 3203).

At that time Rich's voice had a popular music flavor which mixed nicely with Hank Williams' ballads such as "Your Cheating Heart."

When Williams introduced "Your Cheating Heart" early in the 1950's, Hank sang it in a fast tempo with a fine nasal twang. But the musical strategists saw commercial possibilities in the country tune and in a short time a young, unknown singer named Joni James put it at the top of the pop charts with a slow-moving, sexy-sounding version.

Rich, in this session, chose to follow a slow arrangement — more as a blues tune than a country composition. In doing so, he gave the song an ever broader dimension.

An up-tempo is required for another Williams' country hit, "Hey, Good Lookin'." It is quite possible that Rich foresaw the likelihood of country music moving toward the rock beat because his version of "Hey, Good Lookin'" is closer to 1973 than 1967.

Among the songs in this selection are "Half as Much," "Cold, Cold Heart," "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry" and "Wedding Bells." Rich gives each one his personal touch but preserves the original Williams idea.

★ ★ ★

Elvis Presley's latest album, "Raised on Rock, For Ol' Times Sake" (RCA APL 1-0388) is far removed from his Pristine efforts that made him the King of the 1950s. Yet it is still Elvis and it should appeal to the hausfraus who were the bobby soxers of his heyday.

When Presley returned to live performing in 1969 after a nine-year hitch before the movie cameras, he had lost none of the masculine drive that made him a sex symbol. But he was ready to accept new ideas and he kept his music moving forward.

That is the essence of this latest Presley performance. It has vitality from the beginning and Presley, with the help of amplified instruments, never really lets the pace slacken.

★ ★ ★

Most country singers are Southerners who have a strong religious background. Therefore, they are able to lend realism and sincerity to music with a religious theme. "God Is Abundant" by Connie Smith (Columbia KC 32492) is a good example. Connie is a beautiful country singer who has produced a library of excellent albums but this one is special, because perhaps it is personal.

Lipizzans returning to the West

"The Wonderful World of Horses," featuring the Royal Lipizzan Stallion Show, will be presented at four Southern California arenas during July.

The show will play the Forum in Indlewood July 6 and 7; the Long Beach Arena July 8 and 9; the Anaheim Convention Center July 13-14; and Swing Auditorium, San Bernardino, July 16 and 17.

The principal attraction will be the contingent of handsome Lipizzaners, whose equine bloodlines reach across Europe and back several centuries in time. Highly prized by the military aristocracies of the 16th through 18 centuries, the great white stallions were trained to leap and capriole in battle as a means of unbalancing and terrifying opposing foot soldiers. Originating in Spain, they were brought to Vienna, where, at the famous Spanish Riding School, the breed was perpetuated. The Lipizzaners performing in "The Wonderful World of Horses" are direct descendants of those bred and trained in Vienna.

Tickets are now on sale at box offices of all arenas and at all Southland agencies.

Television Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gary Collins and Diana Muldaur have been assigned the leading roles in Screen Gems' new "Born Free" series that NBC will present during the 1974-75 season. They have the roles of George and Joy Adamson, the African lion experts, and the series is based on her book about lioness Elsa and her offspring.

The musical soundtrack for ABC's two-part drama, "QB VII," broadcast over two evenings for a total of six and a quarter hours, has been released for sale by ABC Records.

Richard Burton will play Winston Churchill in a "Hallmark Hall of Fame" drama to be aired by NBC next season. "Churchill: Walk with Destiny" is a 90-minute teleplay that covers the pre-World War II years when the statesman was out of favor in England and predicting that catastrophe was just ahead. The climax is in 1940 when he was called to be Prime Minister at a time of extreme crisis.

Rush claims balanced '76 budget goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kenneth Rush, newly appointed White House ounselor for economic policy, said that the administration has set a goal for a balanced budget for the 1976 fiscal year.

Rush also forecast a downturn in the rate of inflation to 7 per cent by the end of the year and told reporters at a "get acquainted" news conference that "I don't think Watergate has any impact on inflation."

Rush said the administration is taking stock of the 1975 and 1976 budgets to see where they can be cut. But he said it would be difficult to cut the budget by $5 billion as has been reported.

"We are not in a depression or a recession now," Rush said.

Baroque music to accompany art reception

ALTA LOMA — Baroque music will mark the opening of the annual student art show at 8 tonight in the Chaffey College Museum-Gallery.

A highlight of the two-hour reception will be some 45 minutes of entertainment by Paul Godby, Guy Hartman and Eugene Arday. Godby will play the harpsichord; Hartman, the recorder, and Arday, the violin.

Displayed through June 17 in the gallery will be about 70 art works by Chaffey College students. The works were selected for the exhibit from 300 submitted. The entries were juried by Jim Fuller, Scripps College art professor.

Refreshments, provided by students, will be served at the reception by women of the Museum-Gallery Community Auxiliary. The president of the auxiliary is Mrs. Shirley Bonneville.

Jim Bailey

Female impersonator doesn't like title

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — One of the hottest club acts these days is when Barbra Streisand, Judy Garland and Phyllis Diller come out and entertain you—and then they all turn out to be Jim Bailey, doing his devastating impersonations.

If you get a chance to see Bailey in action, grab it quick, because he won't be doing it too much longer.

Bailey says he hopes that, sooner or later, he'll be able to give up the impersonation business for good. He wants to be just himself, appearing as Jim Bailey and entertaining the public as Jim Bailey.

Bailey objects, understandably, to the old term "female impersonator" for what he does. It has come to be sort of a sleazy term. He'd rather you call what he does "character enactment." Whatever it's called, it's a smash.

But it was only designed as a kind of stopgap, a gimmick with which he could establish himself. Gradually, he plans to faze it out of his act. Already he's dropped his Mae West "character enactment" completely.

Bailey is a Philadelphian and his early goal was to be a concert pianist. But, after seven years of study, his teacher said, "You don't have it—have you ever considered singing?" So he considered singing.

He was doing fair to OK as a sinler, but no more. That is when he decided he had to have a gimmick. He had come to know Phyllis Diller well and he had a natural gift for mimicry and decided to impersonate her.

"I was afraid at first," he says. "It was so different for a singer. I worked at it five or six months before I began doing it in public."

He added Streisand and Garland and suddenly the gimmick began wagging the dog. People wanted to see Bailey as the ladies, and his singing—which is very good—was only secondary in the public's mind.

He's so accurate and funny with his take-offs that some of the audience refuse to believe he's doing them. One woman watched his Streisand bit. Later he met her and mentioned the fact that he had done it. She called him a liar.

Vincente Minelli, the director who was once married to Judy Garland, saw Bailey's Garland impersonation. He told Jim that it was so real he had to force himself to stay in his seat—he wanted to go up on stage and talk to her.

Bailey now considers himself an actor. He's gotten so good at acting parts that that's what he'd like to do. He says he might "revive" Barbra and Judy once a year. The rest of the time he'd like to be just good old Jim Bailey, the actor, or good old Jim Bailey the singer.

It may not happen, of course. He's in such demand that clubs are begging him to appear with his current act. It's going to be awfully hard to turn his back on that.

JIM BAILEY

New ballet to open at Inner City

LOS ANGELES — "Spaces Between," a new ballet by Bella Lewitzky, will highlight the performances of Bella Lewitzky Dance Company at 3:30 tonight and Saturday at Inner City Cultural Center.

"Spaces Between" is a nonliteral ballet which seeks to design most of the space captured within the procenium frame. It presents movers and watchers caught in a cross-stage flow of action and occupying the spaces between.

Also on the program for both evenings are "Game Plan," "Bella and Brindle," "Fred and Rorem," "Company and Rodes" and "Ceremony for Three."

Quartet plans concert at Cal State

SAN BERNARDINO — The Leslie I. Harris String Quartet will perform music by 18th and 19th century composers in a concert in the physical sciences building at Cal State San Bernardino at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Guest artist Edward Casem will be featured in Clarinet Quintet No. 9 in A Major by Mozart.

Casem, a resident of Riverside, teaches at Norte Vista High School, Riverside as well as at Cal State.

Other selections on the program are Suite for String Quartet by Johann Fischer, and Brahms' Quartet No. 1 in C Minor.

The Harris String Quartet, in residence at Cal State, was formed a year ago. Members are Armen Turadian and Clyda Yedinak, violins; Victoria Shaprio, viola, and Catherine Graff, cello.

Capitol freedom

The statue of "Freedom" atop the Capitol Dome was sculptured in Italy by the American, Thomas Crawford, for $3,000. It is 19 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs 14,985 pounds. President Lincoln saw it being placed in position on Dec. 2, 1863.

Myriads of color

Fuchsias make hanging baskets

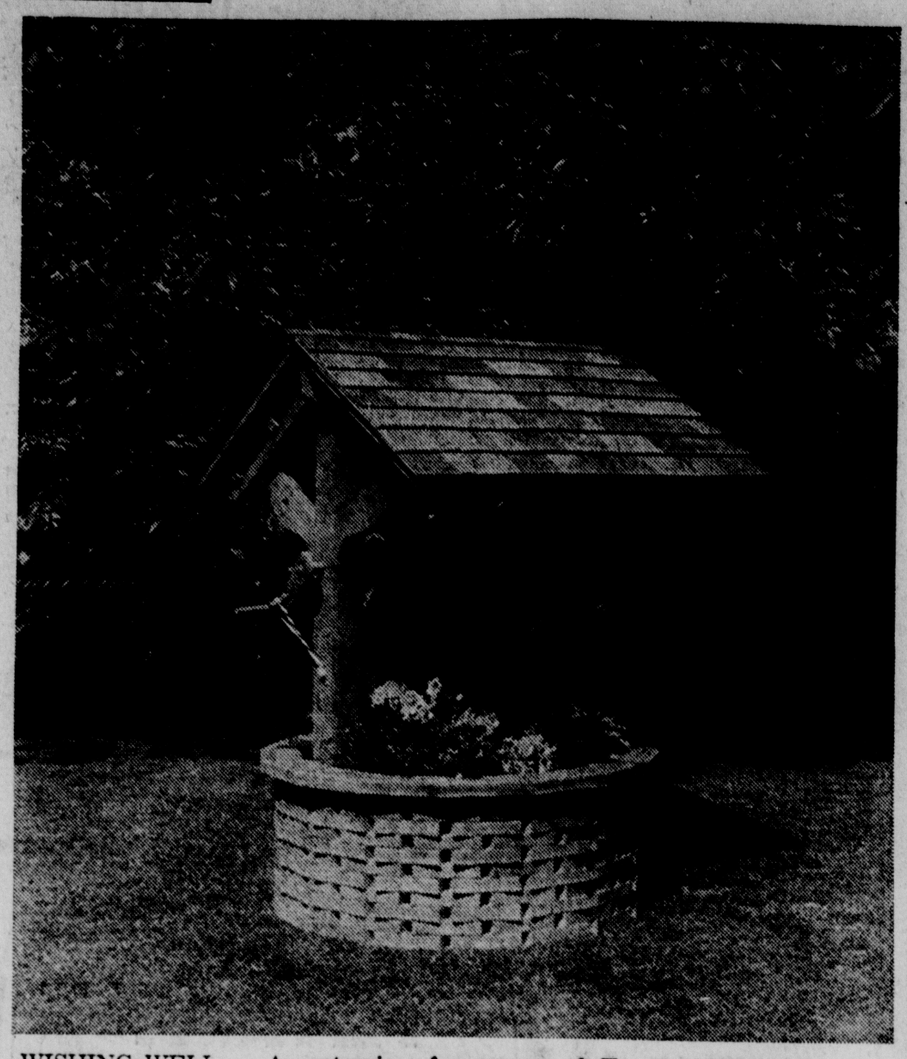
This is the year everyone is hanging them high! New color combinations in Fuchsia hanging baskets, graceful arching branches displaying myriads of color best enjoyed from below.

Fuchsia hybridizers have come up with upright and trailing varieties. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests you check labels of Fuchsias on display. The symbols TR or HB indicate trailing or hanging basket types. Other symbols on labels give further information about variety: C-red means the flower petals are red and S-white means the sepals (wrapped around the petals) are contrasting white. You can pretty well picture the flower before the plants are in bloom.

Select a plant, then pick out a basket. It can be pottery, plastic or wood. Fuchsia fanciers lean toward redwood because of the greater retention of water. This is helpful when it is inconvenient to water the plants for a period of several days. Always choose baskets with swivel hangers. Turning in gentle breezes exposes all sides equally to light.

Use the planting mix recommended by your nurseryman. Chances are, he has one already made up in convenient bags.

After planting, soak basket and all in a tub of water until bubbles stop rising. Use no fertilizer when planting, but feed with a liquid plant food recommended for acid-tolerant plants beginning a month later. Hang the basket in a place providing shade, but not excluding light, and protected from strong winds. Be sure to check frequently for water requirements. Fuchsias are magnificent friends to have around: a delight to the eye, refreshing to the soul.



WISHING WELL — A centerpiece f or your yard. Easy to make.

Wishing well adds a touch

Everyone knows that "clothes make the man," but let's twist that time-honored saying a bit to add . . . "accessories make the yard." You don't have to be a buff of Early American antiques to appreciate the handsome wishing well shown here. In addition to its decorative and rustic charm, it can also be a very practical garden center. The bucket may be planted with flowers or the artificial variety may be used.

Whenever you have an informal outdoor party, the well makes a novel and ideal centerpiece from which refreshments may be served. The old oaken bucket (pictured here with flowers) makes a dandy container for ice. The ledge around the edge may be used for hors d'oeuvres, beverages, glasses and things of that kind.

The full-size pattern lists the necessary materials along with step-by-step directions and photographs showing all steps in building. It's an easy and inexpensive project, something that will last a lifetime. The well shown was made of standard lumber sizes available from all lumber dealers. Redwood or red cedar are recommended, as either of these require practically no maintenance over the years.

To obtain the wishing well pattern No. 371, send $1.50 (add 25c for postage and handling or 50c for airmail) by cash, check or money order to:

Gardener's checklist

1. Cut back the old flowering stalks on delphinium. The plants will bloom again in the fall.

2. Bush roses can be lightly summer pruned for shape after they finish their spring bloom.

3. Bedding plants will provide quick garden color. Here is a partial list that are splendid summer performers: Marigolds, Zinnias, Asters, Periwinkle, Ageratum and Petunias. See your nurseryman for other summer blooming annuals.

4. You can plant all types of container grown trees and shrubs at this time of year.

5. Such plants as Azaleas, Camelias and Rhododendrons should be fed this month with an acid-type fertilizer. Roses, Fuchsias, Chrysanthhemums and Hibiscus need regular feeding with complete plant foods to keep lush growth and bloom coming on. Your nurseryman can guide you as to the proper foods to use.

Car accidents drop

The National Safety Council says the number of motor vehicle accidents in the United States dropped to 56,000 in 1973, about 1,000 fewer than in 1972. The sharpest decrease came in November and December at the start of the fuel shortage.

Now is the time to plant for color in fall gardens

Nurseries are filled with flats and containers brimming with ready-made color these days It's time to plan and plant ahead so that into fall, the garden will continue to be a colorful treat and retreat.

Few sights are more refreshing in the summertime landscape than a tree in bloom. Silk Tree is one of the most exotic looking; tough, hardy and a rather rapid grower. Its fern-like branches covered with pink fluffy flowers resembling pincushions. Because of its umbrella-like growth habit, it can serve as a canopy over terrace and patio. Deciduous Silk Tree will take alkali soils, lawn irrigation, and likes sun or filtered shade.

The California Association of Nurserymen reports there's also a large selection of color-bearing summer shrubs. Oleanders in shades of lavender pink, rose, red, yellow or white are invaluable in the hot, dry interiors, as they bloom generously and make practically no demands on the gardener. Oleanders are great in tubs, hedges or as background plantings.

Give cooperative Lantana full sun and it will provide masses of bright color whereever and whenever needed. There are dwarf, tall and trailing forms in the ever-favorite shades of orange reds and pinks; as well as soft lavender mauve and golden yellow.

For brilliant hued color and voliage near year round, Princess Flower is indeed a ruler of garden color. This evergreen shrub bears huge royal purple blossoms all spring and summer. Princess Flower performs best in somewhat acid soil with roots mulched for coolness in summer—in full sun.

Remember, annuals and perennials offer exciting prospects for splashes of color into fall . . . and that color comes in cans and flats at your local CAN nursery.

Floribunda roses mean mass of bright blooms

A Floribunda rose means mass bloom in bright beautiful shades that transform a garden into a quilt-work of color.

Many are perfect minatures of their hybrid tea parent. Because Floribundas have a long blooming period they are often used for sprays and color effects in gardens. Low growing they also make excellent low hedges along fences, drive way or borders.

Floribunda roses can still be obtained in containers, already blooming, and ready for planting. Select the sites for your Floribunda choices and place the plants, root balls and all into planting holes which should be twice as wide as the container and six inches deeper. Make sure that the original ball of soil sits up out of the ground anywhere from ¼ to 1 inch depending on how heavy the soil is in your garden. Allow for setting. Water and fertilize well.

There are a great number of Floribunda rose varieties to select from. Some of the most popular, says the California Association of Nurserymen, are the new 1974 selections, Bon Bon (orange-pink) and Bahia (pink and white). Others include Europeana (true red), Little Darling (pink), Gene Boener (pink), Ivory Fashion (ivory-white), Fire King (orange-red), Saratoga (pure white) and Fashion (coral and gold).

Engine fire, tire hazard on cars told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government warned Wednesday of the danger of potenially dangerous engine fires in about 200,000 eight-and nine-year old Chevrolets and Buicks.

Owners of about 135,000 recent model Ford Pinto station wagons were cautioned about a wheel problem that could cause tire blowouts.

In a preliminary report, the National Highway Traffic Safety Agency said a defect in the carburetors on some 1965 and 1966 Chevrolets and some 1966 Buicks could allow raw gasoline to spray on a heated engine.

It was not known which models of the cars were equipped with the "Rochester Quadrajet units," a spokesman said.

In a separate action, the agency said it had been discovered that 1972 and 1973 Pinto station wagons had a metal "projection" inside their rear wheel wells which could cause blowouts.

According to the agency, the metal tabs, which have no operational use, can slash the tire's sidewall.

The GM investigation showed that a metal plug originally installed in the carburetors of the cars could drop out, leaving "a one-half inch opening from which raw gasoline may be sprayed onto the auto engine," the agency said.

The agency said GM failed to provide any foolproof means of keeping the metal plug in place.

In the consumer bulletin, the agency said the half-inch tabs inside Pinto station wagon wheels can be "easily bent down to eliminate risk." But it urged owners who have had tires damaged from the tabs to make a report to the Transportation Department, including the make, model and year of the car, and the size and serial number of the tire.

Loser now favored to succeed Moretti

VAN NUYS (UPI) — Tom Bane, whose political career was slowed down when he lost a Congressional election to Ed Reinecke in 1964, has emerged as a favorite to take over Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti's vacated assembly seat.

Bane, 60, scored a 2-to-1 victory Tuesday in the Democratic primary in the 40th district, which Moretti has represented since 1965. Moretti, a losing candidate in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, had to give up his chance at re-election to run for governor.

A representative of the district for six years before his unsuccessful bid against Reinecke in 1964, Bane will face Republican Max C. Yost in November. Yost scored a narrow win in the Republican primary.

With heavy Democratic registration in that district, Bane is considered to be a strong threat for the seat.

A former chairman of the assembly's Rules Committee before his unsuccessful bid against Reinecke, he has worked as a savings and loan executive since then.

He was supported in the primary by state Sen. Alan Robbins of North Hollywood, who once worked in Bane's Sacramento office. Moretti did not back a candidate in the primary.

Saving & Loans are improving

By ROGER SPEAR

Q — I hold shares of United Financial Corp. of California (NYSE). I would like your analysis of the prospects for this company. — J. V.

A — With moneyrates at near-recordlevels, the immediate outlook for savings and loans is not appealing. Looking beyond the current situation, however, prospects appear brighter. Interest rates are expected to begin easing shortly, which would reduce the amount of disintermediation (outflow of money from savings accounts to higher yielding investments) being experienced by savings institutions. Loan demand should also pick up in response to any lowering in interest costs. Near-record mortgage rates have put a lid on new building, a situation which should improve in the latter half of the year.

United Financial has felt the impact of the negative conditions; loan originations were off 10 per cent in the first quarter, savings inflows were flat year to year and net income dropped 5.5 per cent. If money conditions ease in line with the expected timetable, United could report higher earnings again this year. Shares at only 5x possible 1974 net have excellent upside potential.
